All Israeli Hostages Killed

17 Dead At Munich

MUNICH (AP) — Authorities counted 17 persons dead today as a result of Arab terrorism and police action growing out of the Arabs' raid on Olympic Village. The dead included 11 men from the Israeli team at the Olympics, 5 terriorists and a West German policeman.

The Olympics were ordered to continue, resuming late today. Avery Brundage, the Olympic chief, said: "We cannot allow a handful of terrorists to destroy this nucleus of international cooperation and good will that we have in the Olympic movement. The games must go on."

Two of the Israeli team members, a coach and an athlete, died in the first outburst of terrorism when Arab terrorists invaded the Israeli quarters Tuesday. The other deaths came when a gun battle erupted at an airfield 20 miles from Munich as the terrorists and their Israeli hostages were ostensibly bound for a flight abroad.

Three Arabs were captured. A German helicopter pilot was seriously wounded.

The Olympics competitions are resuming at the point at which they were suspended Tuesday afternoon. That pushes each day's schedule back 24 hours—the closing ceremony will be held Monday instead of Sunday.

The Israeli team's 18 surviving members will leave for home Thursday. They would have left today, "but we couldn't make arrangements in time," an official said.

Brundage spoke at a memorial service in the Olympic Stadium for the 11 dead Israelis. He was to have met after the service with the full membership of the International Olympic Committee, but an informed source said the committee was canvassed before and during the ceremony and agreed the games should continue.

The stadium was packed with more than 80,000 West Germans for the service, while members of the Olympic teams filled the field.

Shortly before Brundage spoke, the chief of the Israeli team, Shmuel Lalkin, told the throng that "the sportsmen of Israel will continue to take part in Olympic competition in the spirit of brotherhood and fairness."

The guerrilla invasion of the Olympic billage early Tuesday ended late that night in a gun battle at a military airfield 20 miles northwest of Munich in which a West German Policeman and five of the terrorists also were killed, a German helicopter polot was seriously wounded and the other three Arabs were captured.

In the confusion of the night, one terrorist was believed to have escaped, but his body was found at the air base this morning.

Deputy Shoots Robber

NEW MADRID--Gary White, 23, of Blytheville, Ark., is hospitalized in Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston with a gunshot wound in his back, and David Elmore, 29, of Orange Tex., is in New Madrid County jail following a robbery at 11 p.m. Tuesday at the Sports Shop at Highway 61 and Scott streets.

Sheriff W.L. (Cowboy) Ramsey said George Bock and New Madrid County Deputy Sheriff Flip Dees, co-owners of the business, were in the shop when White walked in holding his hand under his shirt as though he had a gun. He demanded their money and a total of $12 was give him, including $9 from the Sports Shop, and Bock's wallet, containing $3. As White was leaving, Dees fired a shot, striking White in the back.

White and Elmore managed to escape in a pickup truck and started traveling south on Highway 61.

Howardville Marshall C.B. Carrathers who was passing the shop, was stopped and he and Dees pursued the pair to Howardville School, where White and Elmore were apprehended.

Dees had fired a shot which hit the truck.

The money was recovered and Bock's wallet, in which a $100 bill was hidden, and later discovered, was returned.

Sheriff Ramsey said no weapon was found.

The men told authorities they are employees of the Fred Hillhouse Towing Company of Houston, Tex., which is driving pilings in the Mississippi River, north of New Madrid.

Robbery charges are expected to be filed today against the men.

White's condition is not considered serious.

In Emergency Appropriations

Hearnes Asks For $23.5 Million

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes asked legislators today for $23.5 million in emergency appropriations, including $1 million for the public defender program and $7 million for increases in nursing home payments.

The requests were outlined in Hearnes' message as a special legislative session convened at 2 p.m.

Hearnes' special budget message also called for salary increases for highway patrolmen and judges, a $3.5 million appropriation for the University of Missouri.

But he did not ask for $3.3 million that the presidents of eight state colleges and universities had asked for.

His requests covered all the programs enacted but not funded in the regular legislative session last spring.

These included $1.2 million for junior colleges to raise state aid from $320 to $400 per student, $1.8 million to provide new college scholarships, $1 million for highway funds for highway patrol salary increases and $921,000 to finance pay raises for judges and court clerks.

The governor also asked for $1 million to restore the west side of the capitol, where here is crumbling concrete.

Hearnes, who was at the Southern Governors' Conference at Hilton Head Island, S.C., noted that the state has $26 million more than was expected when the legislature was in session last spring.

He said $18.6 million of the $23.5 million total would come from general revenue (tax money) and $4.8 million from other funds.

General revenue appropriations for the 1972-73 fiscal year total $833 million.

"If you adopt my recommendations," the governor said, "our general revenue balance at the end of this fiscal year on June 30, 1973, will be an estimated $33,475,911."

Most of the state's 197 legislators were reconvened for at least 10 days and not more than 60.

Regardless of the governor's money requests, lawmakers were to consider bills vetoed by the governor since the last session but there seemed to be little sentiment for an attempt to get a two-thirds majority vote to override any of the vetoes.

Appointments that call for Senate confirmation will be forthcoming, the governor's message said.

Several legislators have asked the governor to let the new governor make any key appointments, but Hearnes said many have to be made before he leaves office in January because legislation creating the positions call for appointments when the law becomes effective.

"Had the legislature intended that those positions be filled only at the beginning of a governor's term, rather than throughout his term, of the administration rather than being set to expire at varied times," the governor said.

"Under the new constitutional amendment on state reorganization, appointments not confirmed at this time would result in vacant positions which would jeopardize the work of several critical board and commissions."

Melton Resigns As Fire Chief

Fire Chief Charles Melton has resigned to take a job with Hart's Bakery. The resignation becomes effective Thursday.

Melton said he is taking a job in the company's sanitation department where he will earn more money.

He said he has been considering resigning for sometime and made his decision Tuesday.

Melton was appointed to the post in January. He replaced Dolph Webb, who was fire chief for two and a half years. Webb resigned under pressure from city officials when he tried to raise money for the volunteer fire department without city approval.

Webb had replaced L.D. Ramsey, who resigned in 1969 over a salary dispute.

By Working Overtime

Police Pay Increased

The City Council met with wives of Sikeston policemen Tuesday night as it mulled over City Manager Jim Huff's proposal for increasing police pay.

Huff's proposal was unanimously accepted by the council. It calls for allowing policement to volunteer for five hours overtime per week at time and a half, paying for training and court appearances and a clothing allowance increase from $120 to $240 per year.

Huff's proposal came after complaints from policement that their salaries were too low. A study by Huff showed that the median starting salary for police in the Bootheel is $5,640 compared to Sikeston Police Department's $4,850. The highest average salary for a patrolman is $6,920, compared to Sikeston's $6,350.

The police wives brought along family budgets to show the council just how badly they needed money. Each of the budgets showed the families going into the red. Pay checks are being used to pay, not next week's bills, but the bills of the previous two weeks.

One wife told the council that she and her husband were turned down on a loan for an $11,000 house because her husband was a policeman. She said they were told that policemen in Sikeston don't make enough money to pay their bills and that some loans made to policemen had been defaulted upon.

Huff called the proposal adopted by the council, only a temporary solution. He said he hoped that by the time the new budget was ready on May 1, 1973, a modified pay scale could be agreed upon.

If all the police work the extra hours, Huff said, the city will have 150 extra hours of protection. It will also give policemen an extra $60 to $80 per month in salary. The total package will cost the city $20,300.

If the money were being paid to police in the form of a pay increase, they would receive only $44 extra per month. This is because the city would have to hire two extra policement to receive the protection it would get from the overtime work. The city police force is currently two men under strength.

City officials said there may be a problem when it comes to finding the money for a pay raise next year.

The raise will probably be less than the overtime pay approved Monday night.

Mayor Frank Ferrell said, "Within the next year we will have to find some new sources of revenue."

In other business, the council rejected an ordinance which would have required the registration of all bicycles in the city. Councilmen said it was unenforceable and that registration should be voluntary.

The council accepted a bidy by W.S. McMullin Construction Co., for the paving of 500 feet of North Street. The bid of $5.30 per foot was the only one submitted.

The council approved the paving of Peach Tree Lane from Baker Lane to the dead end.

The council gave its support to the Missouri Municipal League Planning Association recommendations regarding extraterritorial planning and zoning powers for cities and requiring the dedication of land for public use in new subdivisions.

The extraterritorial planning and zoning proposal authorizes the city to control the use of land within a limited area outside of the city. The land dedication proposal would require that a certain amount of land be set aside by land developers as parks, schools, etc.

The Missouri legislature must pass both proposals for them to become law.

DAEOC Gets Grant

PORTAGEVILLE-- The Delta Area Economic Opportunity Corporation in Portageville has received $27,630 of a total manpower grant to the state for $282,332. The announcement was made today by the U.S. Labor Department district office.

The Portageville grant will finance 10 enrollees in the Neighborhood Youth Corps out- of- school program.

Neal B. Hadsell, regional manpower administrator, said the total allocation will provide jobs, training or work experience for 359 Missourians.

Included are funds to extend the operation of seven ongoing projects of NYC. They will provide part-time, or in some cases, nearly full- time job opportunities for 343 disadvantaged youths.

Oakley Faces Arson Charge

Paul Wayne Oakley, 30, an assistant football coach and language arts teacher at Charleston High School, was arrested by Sikeston police Tuesday for alleged arson. He is charged with setting off the explosion and fire which destroyed his home Aug. 28 at 601 Ruth St.

His 22-year - old fiancee, Cheryl Lynn Young, was arrested for making a false statement to a police officer.

They were arrested by Detectives Leonard Campbell and Dan Hinton at 5 p.m. at the home of Oakley's brother, Bill Oakley, at 615 Delmar, where both had been living.

Oakley had just purchased the house and had reportedly spent the day before the explosion cleaning it and preparing to move in. Shortly after the explosion he was treated at Missouri Delta Community Hospital for burns of the hands, face and forearm. He told police he had tried to light a stove at his brother's house, and it blew up. He said the burns had nothing to do with the fire at his home.

Campbell said Oakley's story was full of holes and didn't check out. He and Hinton have taken several items to the crime lab in Cape Girardeau for analysis, Campbell said. He said they would be used for evidence.

Norman G. Crumpecker Jr., 24, of Morehouse Box 198, was arrested for possession of marijuana, public intoxication and resisting arrest.

Crumpecker has been a physical education teacher at the Foundation School in Marston for the past two years. He resigned this year. He now lists his occupation as a farmer.

Crumpecker was arrested in front of the Quick Shop on North Main. A field test of seeds found in his Volkswagen bus showed

HOLLYWOOD SAVES
THE U.S.S.R. MONEY

The Soviet Union used to spend loads of rubles on anti-American propaganda films. Attempts to show class strife were only moderately successful. For example, they might have a plutocrat in his chauffeur-driven limousine while a proletarian limps along in his three-year old Rambler. Well, that backfired because the average Russian would trade all of his Hero of the People merit badges for a car, regardless of year or model.

Now the Kremlin masters can save on anti-U. S. films. Hollywood is doing a much better job. The current Party favorite is THE GODFATHER, starring "progressive" Marlon Brando. THE GODFATHER is a good example of American decadence.

But that is not all. Brando is often quoted as saying that "the Mafia is so American." The gangster practice of shooting someone for business reasons, nothing personal, is likened to the policies of McNamara and Rusk. Nixon, Laird and Kissinger also easily fit in. This analogy originates with Brando. The Soviets are quick to pick it up.

He has been a favorite of theirs for years. His movie BURN was quite popular. In it, he is an agent of British monopolies, as 19th century vested interests were known. He incites African rebels to oust their Portuguese masters. When they do, the British take over. Years later, he is killed fighting these same rebels for the Empire.

BURN is an excellent example of the Marxist doctrine that while capitalists may fight among themselves, they unite when threatened. The Soviets claim that the firm was ignored in the West because of its politics. BURN is, however, immensley popular in Africa. The Communists were waiting for his new film on the American Indian.

Brando is hailed as an activist by the Soviets and lauded for his lavish donations to American minorities. It is not known whether Brando gives to the Czechs, Poles, Ukrainians or Russian Jews.

BANKROLLING
THE STRIKERS

Workers at Dow Chemical Co. plants in Bay City, Mich., have been on strike for six months. About eight out of 10 of the strikers are collecting weekly jobless pay from the state unemployment compensation fund. They are taking advantage of a 1968 court ruling which makes workers who take part-time jobs during a strike eligible for compensation when they are laid off. The benefits are charged against their primary employer, not against the "friendly" employer who gave them the temporary job. In the Dow case, as little as one day of interim work was necessary. Earnings were from $1 to $18. On the basis of that, strikers have been collecting an average of $79 a week.

The Bay City strikers are only one example of a trend that threatens to unbalance the whole collective bargaining process in the U.S.: By one device or another, more and more strikers are getting substantial public assistance. According to some estimates, food stamps and welfare aid for strikers could reach $304-million in 1973. Only two states, New York and Rhode Island, allow unemployment compensation to strikers, after substantial waiting periods. But elsewhere, more and more loopholes are being opened up by obliging legislatures or courts.

It will take action at both federal and local levels to deal with the problem. Congress should limit the food stamp program, which comes up for renewal next year, to low-income families who need help. State welfare administrators should apply the same standards in approving cases for public assistance. And legislatures should start reading the fine print in bills they pass so casually.

The U. S. needs a strong, fair, collective bargaining system. It does not need one in which employers are taxed to subsidize strikes against them.

It can be asserted with justification that advertising did more to free the American press than the Constitution itself.

Before modern retail advertising made newspaper publishing a profitable business, The American Press consisted of a multitude of unreliable political sheets supported by special interests with no concern for objectivity or the welfare of the whole community.

As retailing became a science, advertisers learned to concentrate their selling in newspapers which were most widely accepted by the public. Political and personal sheets began to disappear. The remaining newspapers became stronger and more independent. They became more responsive to public opinion, and the editor began to regard his position as a public trust.

The elimination of nebulous competing sheets resulted in better newspapers produced by much higher qualified personnel dedicated to publication of unbiased news. In most communities, one good, independent newspaper serves the public and differing viewpoints better than a group of squabbling, irresponsible, subsidized publications.

The change has been as helpful to local retailers as it has been to the general public. It has taken the choas out of the planning of advertising.

Emergence of a truly dominant hometown newspaper, has made it possible for the local retailer to concentrate his advertising in one medium which reaches the whole trade area with no duplication of costs.

Economically, it is impossible for the small city to support more than one good local newspaper. The retailer who spreads his advertising dollar to publications of questionable circulation and origin is not likely to serve himself or the public.

Those of us who drive today are survivors. Every day, thousands of other drivers who take to our highways aren't so lucky. They wind up victims of the motor car which, in its brief life, has already claimed more lives than all the wars in our history.

Half the deaths, injuries and property damage occurring on our highways every year stem from accidents in which alcohol is involved. For a long while, the effects of alcohol on accident rates lay buried in the very statistics of accidents. Alcohol was rarely listed as the "cause" of an accident. When, for instance, a drunk driver smashed into a tree at 80 m.ph., only "excessive speed" was likely to be entered as the cause on the official accident report.

But new research techniques and investigation procdures have finally exposed the drunk driver as the greatest menace on our highways. What can be done about this situation is outlined in the 1972 book of highway accident statistics compiled by The Travelers Insurance Companies. First of all, the books says, we have to overcome complacency. We must build public opinion to the point where drunk drivers will not be tolerated on our highways. And we can begin by examining our own opinions and feelings about this problem. The drunk has long been viewed as a comic character, harmless and amusing. But behind the wheel, he's a potential killer! And it is only in curbing this potential for destruction that we can ever hope to reduce the tragic toll of death and injury that each year mars our highways. The toll has been reduced in other countries. It can and must be reduced here.

We have the means at hand. But what seems lacking is a sense of urgency. Right now, a nationwide campaign is underway aimed at heightening public awareness of the dangers of the drunk driver and channeling public action against what has clearly become the greatest scourge in our nation's history.

One important development in this campaign occurred in 1966 when, under the provisions of an act passed by Congress, the Federal Government entered the field of highway safety. One of its first targets was the drinking driver.

The Travelers book, "Death by Ounces", notes that the drunk driver killed 27,000 men, women and children - almost double the number killed as the result of violent criminal acts.

He injured 2,350,000 others, many permanently. This represents an average of more injuries in one month than were sustained through crimes of violence for the entire year.

He was responsible for a daily economic loss amounting to nearly $20 million.

He caused suffering and grief that no one can begin to measure in terms of economic loss.

Research, surveys, new legislation, and action programs are all signs that we are at last moving to meet the problem of the drinking driver head on ... before it meets us on the road.

If you're looking for the secret of good health and long life, here's a classic bit of advice from the fabulous old Negro baseball pitcher, Satchel Paige:

"Avoid fried meats which angry up the blood.

"If your stomach disputes you, lie down and pacify it with cool thoughts.

"Keep the juices flowing by jangling around gently as you move.

"Go light, very light on the vices, such as carrying around in society. The social rumble ain't restful.

"Avoid running at all times.

"Don't look back. Something might be gaining on you."

54,000 men, women and children died in motor vehicle crashes during 1971. 4.7 million others were injured, many permanently.

And, in at least half of those deaths, alcohol was involved.

Until recently alcohol was rarely listed as the cause of an accident. But new research techniques and investigation procedures have finally exposed the drunk driver as the greatest menace on our highways.

So, we have a new statistic! What next?

Nex, according to commentary in The Travelers Insurance Companies latest compilation of highway accident statistics, we must overcome complacency. We must build public opinion to the point where drunk drivers will not be tolerated on our highways. It is apparent that the nation's alcoholics, who number only two per cent of all licensed drivers, are involved in a greatly disproportionate number of accidents. The examination of court records of drunk - driver cases shows that the majority of drinkers involved infatal crashes have long histories of problem drinking.

Laws alone cannot remove a drunk driver from the road, according to The Travelers booklet. Statistics show that a large percentage of drivers whose licenses have been suspended or revoked continue to drive. Effective enforcement must be balanced by rehabilitation programs which will benefit society and the problem drinker.

OPEN SESSIONS
CLEARLY WANTED

Whether or not the "Sunshine" amendment gets on the November ballot, it should now be plain to all Legislators that the citizens of Missouri want an open meetings law.

If they are to do what the people want and expect them to do, they will enact such a law at their next session, even if the amendment does not make it to the ballot.

Members of the Assembly seemed slighty more receptive toward such a law in the last session.

Perhaps with the outpouring of the desires of Missourians who signed the "Sunshine" initiative petitions, they will be able to pass an open sessions law.

Along with hundreds of thousands of other Missourians, we sincerely hope so. There never was any reason for secret votes by the Legislature or any other government bodies. Officials are merely hired by the people. As employees of the people, they are obligated to let their employers know what they are doing — at all times.

FREEDOM---
PERISHABLE COMMODITY

On the eve of the last Presidential election in 1968, a fear grew that a close contest could lead to a deadlock in the Electoral College and a protracted delay in the selection of the next President.

The fear proved groundless. As it had for 200 years, the mechanism of the Electoral College worked smoothly, and Mr. Nixon assumed office on schedule. However, this did not prevent a movement getting underway in Congress to abandon the Electoral College in favor of direct election of the President.

The so-called Bayh amendment to establish the direct election process passed in the House of Representatives while many people were still disturbed over what they considered to be a "near fiasco." Since the, as Time magazine put it, "...there have been some serious second thoughts ..." about the merits of the Bayh amendment. Theoretically, direct election of a President would be a simple process; but, as Time points out, "... opponents are arguing that it might well be even more chaotic ... than the Electoral College system." If there should be a deadlock among candidates in the direct election of a President, the loser would be compelled to ask for a nationwide recount of votes which could hold up the election outcome for weeks.

Time concludes, after a lengthy discussion of the direct election proposal, "Changing the method of electing a President will not merely change how votes are counted ... there is a possibility ... that the entire political makeup of the country might be affected in ways yet unanticipated..." Debate over methods of electing a President has shown representative government and the freedom we enjoy under it is a highly perishable commodity.

$34 MILLION INVESTED
IN POLLUTION CONTROL

Some $34 million is to be spent on an air quality program by Union Camp Corp., in Savannah, Ga.

This three-year project is aimed at achieving massive reduction of particulates and odor-causing compounds in air emissions at its pulp and paper complex.

Alexander Calder, Jr., president, said, "We believe this represents the largest commitment that has been made to environmental improvement at any existing facility in the industry. This will bring the total committed expenditures for environmental protection at Savannah to $56 million."

The project will involve the revamping of the mill's chemical recovery system and include construction of a new, giant recovery boiler and the refrubishment of two others to effect the major reductions in air emissions that result from pulping operations. The new boiler will permit the closing down of four old, smaller boilers.

A SELF-PORTRAIT

The traveling salesman, away for several weeks on a business trip, was elated over the snapshot his girl friend sent him. It showed her sunbathing at the beach, but looking somewhat forlorn.

The message on the back read, "Darling, this will show you how lonesome I am for you."

The salesman showed the picture to a business associate who, after reading the message, asked innocently, "If she's so lonesome, who do you suppose snapped that picture?"

THE QUOTA SYSTEM

The Democrats have done it and the Republicans are thinking about it. If the trend continues, the quota system will dominate our lives. We saw the quota system used by the Democrats in naming their delegates to the national convention in Miami Beach. Now come the Republicans saying they may follow suit in 1976. The system has been working in our private and governmental affairs for some time. Quality and excellence of performace on the part of the individual do not seem to matter any longer. Sex, race, religion and geographical location are all that count these days.

This may suit the current mood of politicians just fine, but it does not promote efficiency and production. The best man and best woman, regardless of race, color, creed, location or whatever, ought to get the job, for that is the person who will get the job done. Already we are losing our tremendous superiority in technology. Other nations have caught up and we are importing more products that ever before in history. This does not promote a healthy economy. All of this unbalance cannot be attributed to the quota system, but much of it can.

The politicians of both major parties should take a long look at the quota system before carrying it to even greater extremes. We need a revitalization of our political machinery. Representation by quota will not cure the problem any more than it has helped the educational system.

Some columnists have said that a number of delegates to the Democratic national convention went there on "the party dole." It has been predicted that the Republicans may try the same approach. It is the hope here that both major parties will forget the plan. We need fresh approaches to our national problems by the most competent people, regardless of their biological or economic status. NEW YORK (AP) — At 14 the childhood dream of Frank Yablans was to be a champion chicken flicker.

"In the Kosher poultry industry, you flick the feathers off chickens," he explained. "In the other kind you pluck them."

Frank never stayed in the poultry game long enough to win fame as a chicken flicker. But now at 37, as president of Paramount Pictures, he is the youngest head of a major Hollywood studio.

Yablans, a relaxed executive, is a product of the lower East Side here and came up the hard way.

He got up at 5 a.m. at the age of 12 to deliver newspapers from a small wagon.

"I'd always liked working," he said. "I never held a job I didn't come out of with a lot more experience. I got a lot out of everything I ever did. It fed my curiosity."

After a stint at the University of Wisconsin, where he studied business administration, and a two-year hitch in the Army, Yablans walked off the street into the office of Warner Bros. here and talked himself into a job as a management trainee at $32 a week.

Frank proved to be a genius at film distribution and just 15 years later was named head of Paramount at an annual income in six figures. Today he is convinced that a man's attitude toward his job is a key factor in his success.

"The biggest problem I had working as a young man," he said, "was that I always felt there was a way to do things better—and always met with a management reluctance to let me try it.

"Attitude is all-important in business. With the right attitude anything is possible. I'd rather hire a man with the right attitude than one with a spectacular I.Q."

Paramount Pictures reached its No. 1 role in the industry by producing back-to-back two of the most profitable and popular films of all time—"Love Story," and "The Godfather." What is the big problem Yanblans feels he faces now?

"Well, I guess it might be to come up with another picture that successful," he said smiling. "It would be nice to have three in a row."

Yablans doesn't dismiss, but tends to minimize the problems he faces.

"I'm not really worried about anything," he said cheerfully, "because I can always go back to chicken flicking. I understand they're paying three times now what they did when I was a boy."

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON-- President Nixon's herculean effort to stop drug smuggling, at last, has slowed the flow of heroin from Turkey and Southeast Asia. But a new tidal wave is rising in Afghanistan, India and Pakistan.

Even our mideastern ally, Iran, has started to grow its own opium under government control, but the government may not be able to stop illegal shipments from being diverted to America.

This is the warning of the Central Intelligence Agency, which has also reported ominously: "Rumors persist that some members of the royal family and parliament are narcotics users. Swiss authorities recently charged an Iranian Prince, who accompanied the Shah to Switzerland, with having transferred pure opium to Geneva."

Secret documents from the CIA and other intelligence agencies describe dangerous opium buildups in South Asia. This could be a shot in the arm for the Mafia, whose supplies in Turkey and the Thailand-Laos-Vietnam area are slowly beginning to dry up.

The new smuggling menace was raised by the CIA's Directorate of intelligence in memos dated June 26 and June 9.

"Whether or not substantial quantities of South Asian opium are diverted to the U.S. and Western Europe will depend, in the final analysis, on the Western traffickers." reports the CIA.

"Tribal producers in Afghanistan and Pakistan undoubtedly would be willing to sell to Western traffickers . . .The potential for substantial diversions of opium westward exist. . . .

"Laxities in South Asia would offer a distinct advantage to international traffickers if they should decide to tap the South Asian opium market."

OPIUM GUM

In Afghanistan, production is up. Starving peasants, "lacking adequate food supplies because of recent droughts, have resorted to chewing opium gum to ease hunger pains."

In Pakistan, too, production "may have risen sharply since 1969." says the CIA. In both countries, "penalties for narcotics violations are minimal."

The intelligence documents also suggest that the Mafia would have no trouble corrupting officials in both countries.

In Afghanistan, the documents report, "official corruption including high-level protection of narcotics dealers is ...a problem" and "smuggling is a way of life"

In Pakistan, "official corruption is reported to be a serious problem" among the Land Customs, Sea Customs, provincial police and para-military forces.

Worse, "the existing hashish network in Afghanistan and Pakistan could be used to send substantial quantities of opium westward," warn the intelligence documents. Afghans already have "professional and sophisticated" means of getting hashish by air to Tehran, Beirut and Frankfurt and by sea to Karachi. Some has reached the United States.

As for India, the documents say it now produces about three quarters of the world's legal opium for medicinal purposes. The widely held view that India is effectively controlling its opium production is a "myth." the documents allege.

Iran still doesn't produce enough legal opium for the country's registered addicts, who receive the drug under a national program. But the opium harvest is increasing.

Meanwhile, allege the documents." the estimated 100-300 tons currently being smuggled into Iran, that could become available, exceeds the total opium equivalent needed to supply the United States Market."

DIPLOMATIC GRIEVANCES

Diplomats at the State Department have been complaining about undiplomatic treatment from their bosses. This week, the squabble among the striped pants set will boil over into a House Foreign Affairs subcommittee.

Chairman Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, is finally yielding to Senate pressure and holding hearings on a bill to give State Department workers an independent grievance board.

Two present and one former foreign service officers are breaking the gentleman's code of silence and spilling their woes.

One witness is John Hemenway, a conservative diplomat who claims he was fired because he argued with his bosses over U.S. policies in Berlin.

A present foreign service officer, John Harter, who fought and won an appeal against shabby treatment from the department, has told his story in a letter to Hays. Even State's grievance board upheld Harter, urging that he be promoted, given a new job and reimbursed for his lawyers' fees.

The State Department, however, has largely ignored the recommendations which are now eight months old. Harter got his promotion, but that's all.

In his letter to Hays, Harter said that, at State, "to survive and prosper is to be cautious, bland and obsequious."

Hays has also received a poignant letter from Cynthis Thomas, a foreign service officer who got her job at State after her foreign service husband, Charles, killed himself.

Thomas was involuntarily retired with 21 years of service, couldn't find another job and finally took his own life. In her letter to Hays, Mrs. Thomas calls the foreign service "a highly politicizes system with self-serving cliques."

While the Hays hearings have made the State Department anxious over what further horror stories may surface, some of their fears are unwarranted. Hays has confided that he does not expect a bill out of his committee until the next session.

This means that the Senate would have to go through the entire process of passing their version of the measure again before any grievance board is set up outside the department's own jurisdiction.

World Feelings Run High Over Murder Of Olympians

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Arab newspapers leaped to the defense of the Palestinian guerrillas today while much of the world reacted with shock and outrage to the slaying of Israeli athletes at the Munich Olympics.

"The world may call these crimes," said the Egyptian Gazette, but it must expect to continue until Palestinian rights are restored...As long as Israel refuses justice, it cannot expect the Arabs to leave it in peace."

The leftist Beirut paper Al Moharrer, which is close to the Palestinian commandos, commented that "public opinion has always been against the Arabs, never taking their side...into consideration. So public opinion needs a sharp blow to become impartial."

Some usually pro-Arab quarters commented that the Palestine liberation cause was being hurt by such violent acts as the Munich attack and the Tel Aviv airport massacre that took 28 lives lat June.

President Nixon branded the Munich terrorists "international outlaws of the worst sort who will stop at nothing to accomplish their goals."

Nixon said he felt a sense of deep outrage. Sen. George McGovern, Nixon's Democratic party rival in the November election, said he was "sickened by the outrage."

Israeli newspapers demanded revenge.

U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim cabled Premier Golda Meir that "words cannot express the revulsion and shock which all people of good will must feel at this appalling event."

The first outright Arab condemnation came from King Hussein of Jordan, who has battled the Palestinian guerrillas himself and defeated them. He said the Munich tragedy was "an abhorrent crime "perpeutated by sick minds who do not belong to humanity."

But one of the strongest voices in the Arab world took a sympathetic view toward the terrorists. Mohammed Hassanein Heikal, confidant of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and editor of the semiofficial Egyptian newspaper Al Ahram, said the attack was the desperate act of "people in a desperate condition." He added that "certain extremist organizations are out of step with the times."

Moscow Radio reported that Soviet representatives had "expressed commiseration to the Olympic committee ... and expressed condolences on the deaths."

Soviet media gave low-key treatment to the Munich tragedy. Brief actual reports on the guerrillas' attack and demands were buried under small headlines or read near the end of radio newscasts.

Some East European Communist media normally sympathetic to the Arabs said the Palestine liberation movement would be hurt.

Budapest Radio said the attack "degraded the Palestinian movement to the level of political banditry."

Politika in Belgrade said the attackers "are conducting ... a wrong battle, at the wrong place, in the wrong time and against a wrong opponent."

Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau of Canada said the attack was an "affront to the decency and wholesomeness which the Olympic Games are meant to respect and cherish."

Youth Group Places Wreath

MUNICH (AP) — A U.S. youth delegation placed a wreath of flowers at the base of the Olympic flame today "to show our deepest sympathy" for the 11 Israelis killed by Arab terrorists.

In a statement, the delegation said, "We are deeply shocked at the atrocities to our brothers from Israel and to show our deepest sympathy, we have placed a wreath at the base of the Olympic flame."

The group of 84 American Eagle scouts is part of the 2,000-member international youth delegation staying near the Olympic Village.

6 Pleas Heard In New Madrid Circuit Court

NEW MADRID — Six criminal pleas were heard and two divorces granted Tuesday in Circuit Court before Judge William L. Ragland.

Jerry Walker was granted probation without supervision following his guilty plea to burglary charge. He was accused of entering the home of Kathy Walker of Gideon on July 31.

Oscar Tony Wright was given a two-year sentence and placed on probation on forgery charge. Wright was charged with signing the name of Mary Louise Wright to an $80 state check on Nov. 11, 1971.

Ernest Strickland, charged with exhibiting a dangerous and deadly weapon on July 15 against J. W. Moore, Jr. of Lilbourn, was given one-year suspended county jail sentence upon payment of $25 fine and costs.

James Montgomery was given 30 days in the county jail, which was suspended upon payment $25 fine and costs, on a charge of selling intoxicating liquor without a license.

Jimmy Hershall Reed of Tallapoosa was fined $100 and costs and given a one-year suspended jail sentence upon payment of fine and costs on charge of exhibiting a shotgun on May 27 in the presence of State Trooper T. M. Almond while investigating Reed for driving while intoxicated.

Benajmin Madison received 30 days in the county jail, which was suspended upon payment of $5 and costs, on a reduced charge of peace disturbance. He had been charged with attempted burglary on Sept. 26, 1971, at the home of Hanna Gray in Lilbourn.

Divorces granted included Sally Ann Ray from David Donaldson Ray. She received custody of two children and a property settlement was filed and approved.

Lola Jean Cannady was diforced and restored to her maiden name of Patterson in her suit against William Merritt Cannady.

Gream Bound Over On Jailbreak Charge

NEW MADRID — Dale Gream, 30, of Portageville was bound over to Circuit Court Tuesday after waiving preliminary hearing on jailbreak charge before Magistrate Leo Hedgepeth.

Bond was set at $1,000 for his appearance in Circuit Court. Gream who escaped July 2 from New Madrid County jail where he was being held on kidnaping and breaking and entering charges, voluntarily surrendered July 24 to Deputy Sheriff Walter Ivy at Ivy's home.

Joe Louis Ayers was levied $125 fine on charge of driving while intoxicated. He was given six months in jail and then placed on probation.

Cecil Hardin, charged with nonsupport, was levied $26 fine and ordered to pay $10 weekly beginning immediately, for each of three children.

Bruce Bryant was granted limited driving privileges upon payment of $15 court costs. His license was revoked July 20.

James Burgess, charged with peace disturbance by loud and profane language on the city streets, was assessed a $50 fine.

Roosevelt Beasley, charged with common assault on Bobby Jean Austin by striking her with his hands and fists, was fined $30.

Speeding charges and fines included Dan M. Winnie and Jared Lee Griffis, $50 each; and Charles D. Fausett, $30.

Paying fines on charges of operating a vehicle with no operator license were Mary Frances Leonard, $20; Joe Smith, $16; Henry Lee Richard, $20; Samuel Huey Hector, expired operator license, $20; andCharles Thomas Russell, using out-of-state operator license while a Missouri resident, $20.

Other cases and dispositions: Allen Leon Hampton, using borrowed license plate, $35; Mary Lou Jimmerson, operating improperly registered vehicle, $20; R and T Dozier Service, operating overwidth vehicle, $20; and Gary Gene Miskell, operating improperly registered vehicle, $20.

Judgments awarded in civil suits were $83.32 to Jim Helms against Harry Ray Starr and $271.20 plus interest to Missouri Farmers Association against Carl Sapp.

DEIBER DIRECTS AND ACTS

NEW YORK (AP) — Paul-Emile Deiber, whose most recent assignment at the Metropolitan Opera was staging a new production of "Pelleas et Melisande," will mount the Met's new production of "Norma" next February.

The last new production of "Norma" at the Met was in 1970.

Deiber spent July in Paris appearing in the title role of "Cyrano de Bergerac" at the Comedie-Franciase

Isreal Reacts To Tragedy At the Olympics

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel warned today it would hold the countries that assist Arab guerrillas responsible for the Munich Olympic murders, and demanded that world governments expel Arab terrorists from their territories.

A government statement said it vowed to fight the guerrillas "and will not excuse those who aid them from responsibility."

Premier Golda Meir thanked the West German government for its efforts to free the Israeli hostages from their Arab captors. She voiced support for the German decision to use force against the terrorists.

In the statement, issued after an emergency Cabinet meeting, Mrs. Meir expressed regret that the rescue operation had failed.

The statement said Israel will demand foreign governments and political organizations take effective measures against Arab guerrilla cells operating abroad.

Such measures should be taken with the aim of paralyzing their activities and uprooting their bases, it added.

Israeli newspapers criticized West German security at the Olympic Games and demanded revenge from the Arab world.

The nation reeled with shock over the killing of 11 of the 29 members of its Olympic team. Only hours earlier, Mrs. Meir had drunk a cognac toast and the Jewish state had rejoiced over premature reports from Germany that nine Israeli hostages had been rescued.

Later came the terse official statement: "The government of Israel announces in profound sorrow that 11 members of the Israeli Olympic delegation have been murdered by Arab terrorists."

Newscasters' voices cracked as they told the country of the massacre. Radio Israel's usual gay breakfast music was replaced by the funeral march from Beethoven's Eroica Symphony.

Even while Israel thought the hostages were safe, newspapers called for reprisals.

"War to the end against these murderous organizations, their members, supporters and dispatchers, wherever they may be," urged the newspaper Davar.

"As far as Israel is concerned this is an act of war, not only by members of the terrorist organizations, but also by those Arab countries whose open support for the murderous terrorists made possible this deed.

"... If they do not now eliminate the terrorist bases within their borders, Israel will undertake the task," Davar said.

Al Hamishmar blamed West Germany.

"Responsibility falls on the German hosts of the Olympic Games who undertook full responsibility for the safety of Israeli sportsmen. They have failed ignominiously, and must account for their failure," it said.

Hatzofeh said: "The surrender of the German government in the past to terrorist extortion has prepared the ground for terrorist activity on German territory."

Yosef Burg, interior minister, said the name of Munich would now compare with that of Dachau, the nearby World War II concentration camp where countless Jews were massacred by Nazi Germans.

New Madrid Council Acts On Power Plant

NEW MADRID — The City Council Monday night approved power plant construction payments, authorized fire truck repairs, discussed collection of merchant's licenses and light bills and heard a proposal for a new junk and litter ordinance.

Construction payments were approved totaling $457,594.85 and payrolls of $35,557.10 for week ending Sept. 1 and $34,018.16 for week ending Aug. 27 at the city's 600-megawatt, steam generating center in St. Jude Industrial Park.

At the request of Fire Chief L. H. Recker, the board authorized repairs and updating of city fire trucks at an estimated cost of $1,500.

City Administrator Donald Lloyd told the board there were five unpaid merchant's licenses and the board ordered warrants to be issued for the arrest of the delinquent merchants.

Also ordered was the immediate cut-off of electric service to light and power users whose bills were past due.

A proposed junk and litter ordinance would allow the city to remove junk cars and other litter from private property. City Attorney Hal Hunter was authorized to prepare the ordinance for presentation at the next council meeting.

In other matters, the board authorized payment of $150 additional dues assessment to the Chamber of Commerce and transferred $1,000 from general revenue to the street repair fund.

Following adjournment, the board went into secret session.

Fined On Driving Charge

CHARLESTON — Robert J. Morgan, 18, of Chaleston, arrested Tuesday, was fined $23 in City Court this morning on a charge of careless and imprudent driving.

New Madrid Voters Approve New Tax Levy

NEW MADRID — Voters approved Tuesday a tax levy of 10 cents per $100 assessed valuation for funds to be used for maintenance of the city's cemeteries and parks by a vote of 111 for to five against.

Approval of the issue does not increase property taxes, as the tax has been in force since 1949 but must be approved every four years. The issue was defeated by six votes in the annual city election in April.

Balloting by wards were 28 for, two against in ward one; 39 for, two against in ward two; and 44 for, one against in ward three.

Warrants Approved

BENTON — The following warrants were approved for payment in Scott County Court on Aug. 28:

Schedules CLEP Testing

POPLAR BLUFF,-- Another of the monthly tests in the College Level Examination Program (CLEP) will be given at Three Rivers Community College Sept. 13, 14, and 15 under the direction of John Wood, academic counselor.

The tests, which are designed to give people a chance to show that they have the equivalent of some college education even if they have never been to college, are given in both subject and general categories. Those qualified to take the tests may earn up to a maximum of 30 hours of college credit at TRCC by this means.

TRCC will give another in a series of General Education Development (GED) tests the same week, on the afternoon of Sept. 15 and the morning of Sept. 16. The GED tests are intended to allow persons who did not finish high school to earn an equivalency certificate by showing in the tests that they have acquired by other means the knowledge equivalent to that required for a high school diploma.

Three Rivers is one of a growing number of colleges and universities committed to the idea that college-level achievement should be recognized and rewarded no matter how it is attained. There are about 100 test centers in the Midwest where tests are administered to anyone wishing to take them.

CLEP was presented to colleges and universities in 1966 by the College Entrance Examination Board (CEEB). The program is funded largely through grants from the Carnegie Corporation, which has contributed more than $3 million for CLEP since 1966. CEEB is a nonprofit membership organization that provides tests and other educational services to colleges, schools and students.

Since its beginning CLEP has offered returning Vietnam veterans, housewives, company employees, college drop-outs, technicians, secretaries and people from nearly every other walk of life a chance to turn the learning they acquired outside the classroom into credit toward a college degree.

The learning needed to score well in the CLEP tests can be gained through correspondence courses, educational television, extensive reading, company training programs and numerous other avenues of learning outside the traditional college experience.

In many cases, high school graduates from systems with strong academic programs are able to save time and money be earning credits for their first year of college by taking CLEP tests before entering college.

The CLEP scores do not guarantee credit at all universities in the United States, said Mrs. Mabel A. Swindel, dean of student services at TRCC. Only institutions accepting CLEP scores as a basis for awarding credit can turn the scores into actual credit. Most of the colleges in Missouri and neighboring states will accept CLEP scores up to varying limits of credits toward a degree.

Mrs. John Webster Bowman, Jr.

Bowman-Pananides

BETHESDA, Md. — Mr. and Mrs. Joseph G. Banducci of Bakersfield, Calif., announce the marriage of his daughter, Anna Banducci Pananides, to Capt. John Webster Bowman, Jr., U. S. Marine Corps, son of Col. John Webster Bowman, USMC (ret.), and Mrs. Bowman of Bethesda, on Aug. 5.

The Rev. Theodore Bowen, superintendent of the Baltimore-Washington conference of the United Methodist Church, officiated at the evening ceremony which took place in the presence of their families in the garden of Mr. and Mrs. Smith Hepstone, Jr., uncle and aunt of the groom.

Capt. Bowman, a native of Cape Girardeau, Mo., is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Reed Bowman and great-grandson of the late Judge and Mrs. William C. Bowman, and the late Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Floyd Cox, all of Sikeston, Mo.

The bride and groom walked down a white-carpeted aisle, marked by small pots of jade fern, to a white wrought-iron kneeler, flanked on either side by a pedestal stand and tall baskets of gladioli, mums and abbey roses in shades of lemon and peach, with greenery. These same flowers were used throughout in decorating.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a long gown of white lace with inserts of re-embroidered flowers in pale shades of lemon, peach and green accented the empire waist, the high neck and the long sleeves. She carried a bouquet of lemon and peach talisman roses and baby's breath..

Mrs. Judy Geiberger of Santa Barbara, Calif., was matron of honor, and bridesmaids were the groom's sister, Miss Ellen Hempstone Bowman of Bethesda, Mrs. Gail Jones and Mrs. Richard C. Monk, both of Santa Barbara.

Best man was Walter Stockman, Jr. of Westfield, N. J., and ushers were Anthony John Thompson and O. Griffith Sexton, IV, both of Washington and both cousins of the groom; Dewin R. DeLeon of Bethesda; Lt. Charles W. Corddry, III, USN, of Fairfax, Va.; Michael K. Tooke of New York City; and Lt. George Robert Hansen, USN, of Honolulu, Hawaii.

Pianist Marietta Clayton played a brief program of classical music before the ceremony, and just after the parents were seated Howard Clayton, tenor, sang Handel's aria, "Where e'er You Walk." During the ceremony, while the couple knelt to receive the benediction, Clayton sand, "The Lord's Prayer", by Malotte.

Mrs. Banducci wore a long, sleeveless gown of French blue organza, deeply ruffled at the circular neckline and also at the hemline. Mrs. Bowman's floor-length voile gown was of a misty pastel, flowered print and featured a floating back panel from the shoulders and short sleeves. Both mothers wore white orchids, as did Mrs. Smith Hempstone, grandmother of the groom, who wore a dress of candlelight brocade.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception for a much larger group of friends was given in the ballroom of the Chevy Chase Club. A long buffet table was centered by two five-branch candelabras and three indentical floral arrangements of lemon and peach gladioli, mums, and abbey roses. An orchestra played for dancing and small round tables circled the dance floor for those who preferred to watch. The wedding cake was a delectable, four-tiered creation, topped by a white, spun-sugar "crown of roses." The decoration of the four tiers featured flowers colored in soft shades of pale green, lemon and peach.

Out-of-town guests, in addition to members of the wedding party and the bride's family, were Mrs. Michael K. Tooke of New York City; Captain and Mrs. Charles Tooke of Annapolis, Maryland; Mrs. Walter Stockman of Westfield, N.J.; Mr. Charles Parl of New York City; Mr. Howard McMorris of Princeton, N.J.; Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Bonner of Westfield, N.J., Jonathan T. Dawson of New York City; Mrs. J. Maynard Harris and Miss Shelley Harris of Baltimore, Md.; Capt. and Mrs. William Hunnicutt of Willow Hill, Pa.; Capt. and Mrs. John Nolan of Annapolis, Md. ; and Mrs. Donald Thompson of Baltimore, Md.

The previous evening Col. and Mrs. Bowman entertained 80 guests at the rehearsal dinner which was given in the gardens of their Bethesda home. The group included the wedding party, out- of-town guests, the family and special friends.

Since the bride and groom met in Hawaii, a Polynesian atmosphere was created for this party, with music, singing and dancing by Hawaiian musicians, flaming torches circling the perimeter of the garden, table decor of seashells, seanets, fruits and flowers flown in from the Islands, and a menu which featured Polynesian curry.

The new Mrs.Bowman is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Amato Fanucchi of Lucca, Italy, and of the late Mr. and Mrs. Tomaso Banducci of Tassigniano, Italy. She attended Flintridge Sacred Heart Academy in Pasadena, Calif.,, and was graduated from the Marymount School of Santa Barbara, Calif., and from San Jose State College.

Capt. Bowman is also the grandson of Mrs. Smith Hempstone of Washington, D. C., and of the late Capt. Smith Hempstone, USN, and the great-grandson of the late Theodore W. Noyes, editor of the Washington Star for 50 years.

Capt. Bowman attended Punahou Academy in Honolulu, and was graduated from the Choate School, Wallingford, Conn., and from Princeton University. After serving in Vietnam as a Marine helicopter pilot,, Capt. Bowman had a short tour with the Air Force in Denver, Colo., followed by two years in the Pacific.

After a short wedding trip the couple will reside temporarily near Quantico, Va., where Capt. Bowman will attend Marine Corps schools.

Women Break Into Navy Field

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (AP) — Women drivers are not unusual — except when the vehicle happens to be a Navy boat. The Navy recently assigned, on a trial basis, three women to the tour boats going to the USS Arizona Memorial.

"It's just like driving a car," said Seaman Apprentice Terry J. Schorsch, 19. She, Seaman Helen D. Sheppard, 23, and Seaman Apprentice Judy A. East, 19, are line-handlers and coxwains-in-training on the 64-foot passenger barges. They fasten the lines of the boats to the pier and steer the boats around the harbor.

None had prior experience in working with boats, and all three had trouble making a smooth docking at the pier. "I kept running into the pier," Miss Schorsch said. "I didn't bump into it, I crashed into it."

But their supervisor, Boatswain's Mate First Class Edward Smith said the women are "doing a good job and show a great deal of enthusiasm.

"The first day they got here, I told them I expected them to do everything, including running the boat," Smith said.

He admitted he didn't like the idea at first.

Dr. Ratchford To Be Installed As 15th Missouri U. President

COLUMBIA–Dr. C. Brice Ratchford will be formally installed as 15th President of University of Missouri at 2 p.m. Sept. 15 in Jesse Auditorium on the Columbia campus. The presidential investiture ceremony is being arranged by the Board of Curators.

Judge Robert G. Brady of St. Louis, president of the Board of Curators, will preside at the ceremony. The program will include a nationally-known educator who will give the principal address. His name will be announced later.

Representatives from all four university campuses will take part in the program, as well as representatives from state government, the student body, the faculty and the alumni.

Letters of invitation have been sent to educators and to state and national officials. The public is invited to the ceremony at 2 p.m. and the reception at 4 p.m. The reception will be in the Memorial Union.

Dr. Ratchford was named interim president of the university in October, 1970. He was appointed president in June, 1971. A native of Gaston county, N.C., Dr. Ratchford received his undergraduate and graduate degrees in agricultural economics from North Carolina State College at Releigh. He received his doctor of philosophy degree in economics from Duke University at Durham, N.C., in 1951.

Dr. Ratchford has been a member of the university's administrative staff for more than 13 years. He began in 1959 as director of cooperative extension services. In 1960 he was appointed dean of the extension division and in 1965 was named vice president for extension. He is widely recognized for reorganizing and modernizing the university's extension program, which has become a national model, and for his initiation in July, 1971 of institutional reappraisal, the most extensive and intensive self-evaluation in the university's history. The reappraisal project is still in process.

Competition Starts Tonight In Miss America Pageant

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)— Miss America 1973 contestants begin their first round of preliminary competition tonight at Convention Hall. Seventeen of them will appear in evening gown, 17 in swimsuits and 16 will offer their talent selections before an estimated audience of 25,000.

Each contestant will compete in a different category on each of the three nights of preliminary competition, which will be climaxed by Saturday night's finals.

Winners in the swimsuit and talent contests will be announced each night. Names of the winners in the evening gown category will be withheld in a move to heighten suspense in the finals.

Tuesday night, the girls, dressed in parade gowns and making what was their first public appearance as pageant contests, were cheered by thousands as they were driven slowly along the pageant's parade route in convertibles.

Some 120 units, including high school and professional music bands, commercial floats and costumed Arabian horses set the pace for the lively, colorful event.

Miss Vermont, Kathy Herbert, who had earlier described herself as a schizophrenic who had entered the pageant solely for the scholarship money, got the silent treatment from the judges and the older folks who lined the route in front of Convention Hall. However, several youths cheered, rushed to her car and offered their hands in support.

Joe Garagiola, former baseball player turned celebrity, was the parade grand marshall.

Girl Scout Uniforms Needed

With the starting of school Girl Scout troops will be meeting and participating in various activities where Girl Scout uniforms are needed.

Anyone having a uniform that is not needed or has one to trade is asked to call Mrs. Carmen Robertson at 471-5839 or take it to her home at 1029 North Kingshighway.

Ann Landers

Dating Game Approach Changes With The Times

Dear Ann Landers: Occasionally you print something of value sent in by a reader. The enclosed is called, "SO YOU GOT A TICKET ——MISTER, YOU BREAK MY HEART." It was written by W. O. Newman, Commissioner, Kentucky Department of Public Safety.

"Are you one of those people who call me on the telephone or write and complain that my Trooper stopped you and handed you a ticket for no reason at all? You break my heart. You tell me you're a good citizen and a safe driver and a dumb cop gave you a ticket for going a little faster than the law allows. Well, I hope the next time you get caught breaking the speed limit he gives you another ticket and the traffic judge takes your license away. I pray that he nails you before you crash into a concrete abutment and he has to pull your lifeless body out of a demolished speed machine.

"I wish you could spend a few days with me and watch a teenager writhe in agony on the gravel near a highway while he waits for an ambulance that will come too late to take him to a hospital, so instead, he goes straight to the morgue. I wish I could make you help scrape the bits of bone and flesh of a whole family off the asphalt into baskets. You'd vomit -just as we have done. But You'd think a little differently the next time you climbed into that car of yours and opened it up on a stretch of highway to see what it could do. So you got a ticket? Mister, you break my heart."

Dear Ann Landers: Recently you printed a letter from a man who wanted to know how to make the transition from friendship to romance. He said he had known the girl for four years --it had started out as a brother -sister relationship and suddenly he found himself looking at her with different eyes. You said, "Faint heart never won fair mind --or anything else," and advised him to take a deep breath and tell her that the friendship had become deeper and more meaningful and before he fell head over heels he should ask if she could possibly feel the same way about him. Then you added, "Don't be surprised if she says she already does."

Now, Ann Landers, how would you have answered that letter if the writer had been a woman instead of a man? ---There Now

Dear There: The same way.

Dear Ann Landers: I must take exception to the answer you gave to the girl who wanted to know why she spent the better part of every evening fighting for her honor. She said her last date argued with her about the importance of virginity until 2:30 a.m. and she had a terrible time getting out of his apartment. You asked her what she was doing in a guy's apartment until 2:30 a.m. anway?

Ann, It's apparent that It's been a long time since you played the Dating Game. Gone are the gentle seducers of yesteryear. Now the attitude is, "Hey, Babe, hot pants are in, virginity is out. Let's get on with it."

I'd like to pass along my counter -philosophy. It goes like this: "Look, Buster, this is MY body and I'm going to decide who gets his hands on it and when. If you are one of the lucky few, I'll let you know."

This approach saves a lot of time and energy. Sign me ---Surrounded And Happy

Dear S and H: (Green Stamps?) Your counter -philosophy sounds very much like something you read in my column. I can't see that you and I have any differences whatever. Thanks for writing.

Ann Landers discusses teen -age drinking --its myths, its realities. Learn the facts by reading, "Booze and You --For Teenagers Only." Send 35c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to this newspaper with your request.

AFROTC Teaching Staff Completed

CAPE GIRARDEAU--Capt. Robert W. Fish Jr. will complete the teaching staff of the new AFROTC detachment on the campus of Southeast Missouri State University.

Commissioned in 1962 after graduation from the University of California, Santa Barbara, with a major in history, Capt. Fish joins two other officers in the department of aerospace studies at the university.

They are Lt. Col. Robert Mize, commander, and Capt. Hugh Jones. Two non-commissioned officers, Sgt. Joe Huckelberry and Sgt. Johnnie Saunders, are also members of the detachment.

Capt. Fish earned a master of science degree in systems management in 1971 at the University of Southern California. His professional military education includes the Academic Instructors School, which he has just completed at Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala., and the Squadron Officers School, also at Maxwell, which he completed in 1966.

His wife, Jane, is originally from St. Louis. They have two sons, Eric, 8, and Brian, 5.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Abernathy

Abernathy Wimberley

EAST PRAIRIE — First Baptist Church was the setting Aug. 26 for the 8 p.m. wedding ceremony of Miss Rita Gaye Wimberly, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Ted Wimberley, and Robert Steven Abernathy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Abernathy, all of East Prairie.

The candlelight ceremony was performed by the bride's father before an altar grouping of 15- branch arch candelabra. Basket arrangements of white mums and red gladioli and matching seven - branch tree candelabra placed on either side of the altar completed the setting. Stephanotis and red satin bows marked the family pews.

Mrs. Dennis Jeffries of East Prairie rendered a program of organ music, the traditional wedding march and accompanied soloist Miss Carla Howard of Chaffee, who sang, "We've Only Just Begun" and "Theme from Love Story."

The couple lit a single white candle from two lighted tapers, extinguishing the two candles as a symbol of their new unity.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her uncle, Wedlin Wimberley of Rector, Ark., wore a formal gown of white polyester crepe fashioned by her mother. The empire-style gown featured a scooped neckline and long, sheer sleeves of snow white danon accented with lace medallions at the wrist and elbow. The gown was overlaid in snow white danon falling from a jewel neckline and gathered to form a fullness in back. Her chapel - length mantilla of silk illusion was sprayed with repeated patterns of the lace medallions and she carried a crescent arrangement of white miniature carnations and red sweetheart roses.

A red rose was presented by the bride to her mother as she approached the altar and during the recessional the bride presented a red rose to the groom's mother.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Danny Griffin of East Prairie and serving as maid of honor was her sister, Miss Sharon Wimberley of East Prairie. Their identical gowns of red crepe overlaid with flocked polyester were in an empire design accented with wide sashes tied in back and sheer, flared sleeves. The gown were fashioned by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Clinen Cox of Piggott, Ark. Each wore white, wide- brimmed hats and carried white satin baskets of red roses and white miniature carnations.

Miss Melissa Hays, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Hays of East Prairie, served as flower girl. She was dressed identically to the honor attendants. Kyle Hutcheson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Avery Hutcheson, was ringbearer. Candlelighters were Ricky and Tim Abernathy, brothers of the groom.

The groom selected Mike Hogan of East Prairie as best man and Avery Hutcheson of East Prairie was groomsman. Ushers were Rick Cobb and David Scott, both of East Prairie.

Presiding at the guest register was Miss Teresa Abernathy, sister of the groom, and the wedding scrolls were presented to each guest by Miss Lesa Wimberley, sister of the bride.

The reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the dining hall of the church. The table, draped to the floor in whitelinen, overlaid with red net caught up at intervals with red satin bows, was centered with a gold candelabra entwined with red roses and greenery. Miss Sarah Tucker served the cake and Miss Marsha Bain served the punch from crystal services. Guests of the reception received white satin rice bags from Miss Lavonda Abernathy, sister of the groom.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Abernathy are both 1972 graduates of East Prairie High School and are now making their home in Mephis, Tenn.

Sindle-Efrink

LUTESVILLE-Miss Suzanne Marie Elfrink married James Roy Sindle Aug. 26 at St. Anthony's Catholic Church at Glennon.

The Reve. John Wells performed the double ring ceremony before an altar adorned with multicolored colonial bouquets.

Miss Pam Jansen was the organist and Miss Darlene Bueter sang. Both are from Leopold.

The birde is the daughter of Louis Elfrink of Lutesville, and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Sindle of Oran are parents of the bridegroom.

Wearing a formal gown of Schiffli embroidered angle-skin peau de soie, the bride appeared with her father. The gown featured a high, rolled collar and Camelot sleeves. The front of the dress was accented with blue embroidery.

Her three-tiered veil of English illusion was held in place by a lace Camelot cap trimmed with blue ribbon, and she carried a multicolored colonial bouquet.

Miss Norma Jean Elfrink, the bride's sister, was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were another sister of the bride, Mrs. David Trent, Mrs. Gary Ferrel of Cape Girardeau, and Miss Norma Bueter, Leopold. Miss Rena Sindle, the bridegroom's sister, was junior bridesmaid.

They wore floral-designed, light blue gowns with sheer sleeves, long gathered skirts and blue sashes at the waistlines. Each wore a headpiece of small rosebuds and carried a colonial multicolored bouquet.

Gary Ferrell was best man, and groomsmen were Steve Sindle, brother of the bridegroom, and Vincent Cook, both of Oran, and Leo Nenninger of Leopold. Guests were seated by David Trent of Cantua Creek. Calif., and Joseph French of Patton.

The couple received guests following the ceremony at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Leopold where blue and white decorations were used.

Serving were the Misses Anita and Karen Elfrink, both of Cape Girardeau, and Monica Macke of Leopold. Mrs. Joseph French, another sister of the bride, was guest book attendant.

The new Mrs. Sindle received an Associate of Arts degree in nursing from South East Missouri University in Cape Girardeau.

Sindle, a graduate of Walnut Ridge College in Arkansas with an associate of arts degree, is now employed by Western-Southern Life Insurance at Sikeston.

The couple is making its home at Morley following a wedding trip to Arkansas.

LOSE 20 POUNDS IN TWO WEEKS!
Famous U.S. Women Ski Team Diet

During the non-snow off season the U.S. Women's Alpine Ski Team members go on the "Ski Team" diet to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. That's right – 20 pounds in 14 days! The basis of the diet is chemical food action and was devised by a famous Colorado physician especially for the U.S. Ski Team. Normal energy is maintained (very important!) while reducing. You keep "full" – no starvation – because the diet is designed that way. It's a diet that is easy to follow whether you work, travel or stay at home.

This is honestly a fantastically successful diet. If it weren't, the U.S. Women's Ski Team wouldn't be permitted to use it! Right? So, give yourself the same break the U.S. Ski Team gets. Lose weight the scientific, proven way. Even if you've tried all the other diets, you owe it to yourself to try the U.S. Women's Ski Team Diet. That is, if you really do want to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. Order today. Tear this out as a reminder.

Send only $2.00 ($2.25 for Rush Service) - cash is O.K. - to: R.D.S. Products, P.O. Box 834, Dept. 19, Del Mar, California 92014. Don't order unless you want to lose 20 pounds in two weeks! Because that's what the Ski Team Diet is designed to do!!

$100 Billion U.S. Budget Hike Seen

By BRUCE BIOSSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA) — In the next presidential term, the federal budget is going to rise at least $100 billion above present annual levels. It therefore takes a good deal of sheer nerve for any politician to talk these days about "tax relief." The real likelihood is higher taxes.

Even before Congress added $8.4 billion to yearly federal outlays by enacting a 20 per cent Social Security benefit increase, the Brookings Institution's new budget study had projected U.S. budget hikes totaling $91 billion between now and fiscal 1977.

The future figures could go considerably higher if Congress continues its present course of enlarging major appropriations affecting social programs. Nearly $2 billion has been added by Congress to President Nixon's budget request for HEW funds this fiscal year.

The President's veto, of course, could put a damper on some of this expansion.

The Brookings budget review indicates that inflation will add $9 billion a year to the budget, representing higher federal workers' wages and higher prices for the things the government buys.

There are built-in escalators. More and more beneficiaries are coming under education, health, welfare and other programs. An automatic cost-of-living booster is contained in some, and now will be part of the Social Security system. Brookings figured the escalators are adding perhaps $6 billion a year to the budget, not counting the new Social Security features.

It is estimated that as environmental agencies develop, federal pollution-fighting costs may take $4 billion a year.

The Social Security legislation adopted this summer provides some, but not a lot of, offsetting revenue gains. The payroll tax rate goes up a little next year, and the income base from which those taxes are taken will be widened in 1973, in 1974, and probably often thereafter.

Nevertheless, there is no real treasure trove to tap to cover the full range of enlarging expenditures. These will more than use up the so-called fiscal dividend, the tax revenue gain that accompanies general economic growth. That dividend has largely vanished. The reason, says the Brookings report:

"... in the space of 10 short years, federal civilian expenditures as a percentage of GNP (the nation's total output) almost doubled, even if no new programs are added, the annual growth in existing expenditure programs now absorbs a much larger fraction of the growth in revenues than was the case 10 years ago."

Notwithstanding these difficulties, politicians in both major parties keep suggesting that no new tax increases will have to be voted in the next year or two. The Democrats talk often of "tax reform," knowing full well that the expression is read by many voters as a cut in taxes.

The tax experts do indeed agree that the tax system is loaded with inequities—that the payroll tax falls with extra weight on lower income workers, some privileged people enjoy tax preferences (loopholes), the property tax is a jerry-built monstrosity.

But, realistically, there can be no reforms which amount to general tax cuts. Since 1964, Congress has enacted tax reductions depriving the U.S. treasury today of some $45 billion yearly. The trend now surely is going to be the other way—to get it back, and more.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Breath Shortness Is Heart Symptom

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I would appreciate your view on my situation. I had a stroke in 1965 and four serious heart attacks in 1966. Now I am having trouble with my breathing. I must use three pillows or my shortness of breath will keep me awake more than half of the night. My doctor claims the breathing is caused by nervousness and emotional tension but he doesn't prescribe anything for relief. I am 66 years old. What should I do?

Dear Reader—Of course, I can't say without having information exactly what is causing your shortness of breath, but one of the signs that the heart is not functioning as strongly as it should is shortness of breath. This is caused by the accumulation of fluid in the lungs. The fluid literally backs up in the lungs because the left side of the heart is weak. There are other things which cause shortness of breath but this is the first thing one thinks of in a person who has heart disease. Your doctor has probably already considered this and must not think this is the case.

Your letter suggests that you do not have confidence in your doctor's opinion. If your problem is nervousness and emotional tension, one factor in relieving this would be to satisfy your own mind that your heart is all right. So, I think you should ask your doctor to send you to a heart specialist for a consultation. All reputable doctors welcome consultations from another physician and sometimes such consultations really help the doctor who is faced with a complex problem. If your heart is all right, you will be happier and even be a better patient. In general, if a doctor refuses to arrange for a consultation when a patient asks for one something is wrong. The American Medical Assn. encourages consultations with other doctors.

Dear Dr. Lamb — Could you tell me if a great number of X rays have a bad effect on your blood cells or other organs in your body? My brother has had about 20 X rays and we have been worried about the side effects they might have.

Dear Reader — Excess radiation can have side effects. For this reason limits of exposure to radiation over a given period of time have been set for human beings. Unless the person is in an occupation that causes him to be exposed to radiation, the usual number of X rays done for medical examinations doesn't pose a problem. Certainly they pose less of a threat to the patient than not taking the X rays and failing to diagnose an important medical problem. Most radiologists are well-versed on this problem and are not likely to use an excessive amount of X rays in studying their patients.

'Political Prisoners'

To the Editor:

Or, her day of triumph Angela Davis said: "Starting from this day forward, we must work to free every political prisoner and every oppressed person in the country and in the whole world."

This would include untold thousands of political prisoners in the Soviet Union, in the People's Republic of China, in the German Democratic Republic as well as all the political prisoners in Poland, Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia. (Beside the billion people of the countries who are not right now "political prisoners" but just "oppressed.")

Will Angela Davis, who was so wrong when she believed she would never get a fair trial in the U.S. really work for the liberation of the political prisoners in the countries just mentioned and also for the liberation of the millions in these countries who are just "oppressed"?

If Miss Davis' answer is "yes," she should have the support of millions of Americans and others the world over. Her answer to this question will be the acid test of her sincerity.

Dear Cliff:

The idea of asking for suggestions for planks for Republican party platform is a good one and hope other states try out the same idea.

Today's principal problem for the workers, the employers and most citizens is the excessive cost of government and the huge amount of a person's money taken by all branches of government, with a few exceptions on a local basis. There is probably no employer who has even a few employees that doesn't take more out of their wages to give government than he makes in his business and the sales tax at the supermarket is four times what the store makes for furnishing you groceries. What some branch of government gets in three times what the phone company makes because you have a telephone in your house and gas tax now at station I have bought gasoline for about 40 years is more than the refinery gets for the gasoline. It is natural for all of us to like to spend money, especially if it is other peoples. Cost of federal government today is six times what it was in 1950 yet cost of living has gone up only 70 percent -- 600 against 70, so it should not be impossible to cut today's costs and reduce taxes at same time to prevent recession. We don't need revenue sharing and other gimmicks.

Today's withholding tax is actually an excise tax on wages. As a practical matter you can't repeal the 16th Amendment, but government could allow an employer to pay first three weeks in wages in full and deduct the months' amount out of 4th weeks check and the workers would then know what today's government costs them. Or better still simply send total wages to IRS or Federal Reserve and let them use their computers and bill taxpayer. Actually perhaps withholding tax is not legal as it involves the employers into probing the personal life of his employee. That might be something for civil liberties folks. Another thing is crime. Several people murdered everyday in St. Louis area and hijacking and shooting from an auto, kidnapping etc., an everyday pastime. Why not see the courts show as much concern for the victims and everyday citizens as they do for the Mirandas, Escobedas and Mallorys? Either enforce the law or change it.

Some years ago I suggested Supreme Court be subject to reconfirmation 4 and 10 years after first appointed. Senator Byrd has introduced such an amendment and may be a little prodding will get it over. Then something should be done about Executive Orders as they are dangerous as used now and no place are they authorized in the Constitution. Likewise people should have right of initiative and referendum on what is passed in Washington. Hope you will ask all appearing before you whether they voted in last primary and for what party as you could get some far out suggestions from McGovernites. Also hope you give the media a copy of all suggstions made. They may ignor those they don't like but if properly needled this could be changed.

This is a photocopy of original letter but personally signed as I have not the typing time for copies I want to send out and it is cheaper today to photocopy an article than put an extra carbon in a typewriter and then you can't read it and those getting a carbon feel they lose status. Maybe if a good try is made we can someday get the government both out of our pockets as well as our hair. Cut out all the interference, may someday we will even have those little Burmah Shave signs back.

With kindest regards,
John Frier

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — S/Sgt. Jackie L. Cooper has been appointed to the administrative staff of the newly activated U.S. Air Force Senior Non- Commissioned Officer Academy at Maxwell AFB, Ala.

Sgt. Cooper, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Cooper of Bernie, is working with a select staff of officers and NCOs who are defining the curriculum for the academy, Air University's newest training institution.

The academy is scheduled to open its doors to the first class of chief master sergeants, senior master sergeants and senior master sergeant selectees at Gunter AFB, Ala., in early January 1973. Following evaluation of the initial class, full- scale operation will begin at Gunter in July.

It is proposed that five nine- week classes will be conducted each year with an enrollment of 240 per class, producing 1,200 graduates annually. The mission of the new school is to prepare senior and Mrs. Claude Moore of Bloomfield.

NCOs for positions of greater responsibility in the atmosphere of an all- volunteer Air Force.

The Senior NCO Academy will be the final step in a three- tiered NCO professional military education system which now consists of nine command- operated NCO academies for master and technic al sergeant and 25 leadership schools for staff sergeants and sergeants.

Great American Dream Machine.

USA

America is the place that is made out of dreams. And, U.S. Savings Bonds have been helping to make happy dreams come true for years.

Now, Bonds mature in less than six years. That means your dreams can come true faster than ever before.

You can buy shares in your particular dream by joining the Payroll Savings Plan where you work, or the Bond-a-Month plan where you bank.

Before you know it, your American dream will be a reality.

Now E Bonds pay 5½% interest when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4% the first year). Bonds are replaced if lost, stolen, or destroyed. When needed they can be cashed at your bank. Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

What's The Law?

The Case Of The Persistent Suitor

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Irma went on a vacation to a hotel where she alternated between slapping mosquitoes and Herbie for getting fresh. While the mosquitoes were more numerous, Herbie, who wanted to become Irma's boy friend in the worst way, was far more persistent.

Because he also acted in the worst way, however, he made little progress. And by the time Irma's vacation came to an end, he was desperate. Consequently, after Irma had loaded her baggage aboard a train for the trip home, Herbie unloaded them into his car and insisted that he be allowed to drive her to her destination. What's more, he refused to take no for an answer.

With no other apparent choice, Irma permitted Herbie to chauffeur her home. Once there, however, she sued her persistent suitor for false imprisonment.

"I didn't imprison anyone." was Herbie's defense. "There were no bars on my car. Irma could have gotten out any time she wanted."

"Sure I could have," responded Irma. "But he had my bags. Where they went, I had to go."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make persistent Herbie pay for false imprisonment?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that it is false imprisonment to illegally prevent a person from going where they choose in the manner desired. In this case, concluded the judge, Herbie indirectly prevented Irma from going home on the train by taking her luggage.

New TV Microwave Planned In Area

A new microwave system expected to be constructed by a cable television firm in Southeast Missouri by early 1973 will serve 14 area communities and initially provide at least five more television channels for its cable customers.

Among those stations which will extend their broadcasts into Southeast Missouri with the completion of the newly licensed microwave system in KETC-TV, Channel 9, St. Louis' educational television station.

Channel 9 held an orientation meeting at its studio.

The orientation, held to better allow an exploration of instructional television for the 1972 73 school year, included a tour of the station facilities, watching the taping of a segment of a new science series and a review of instructional programming and supportive material.

Michale Pfeifer, promotion coordinator for KETC, gave some details on the planned microwave system to serve Southeast Missouri.

The microwave system is being set up by See-Mor Cable TV of one of four firms which has applied for the franchise to provide cable television service for Cape Girardeau and which already serves several other Southeast Missouri towns.

See-Mor's plan for a microwave system includes the construction of a microwave relay tower at Perryville and pickup and relay towers to serve 14 other Southeast Missouri communities, some of which are already being served by the company.

The system would carry not only Channel 9, but several other stations, as well, into the following communities: Cape Girardeau, Chaffee, Charleston, East Prairie, Illmo, Jackson, Lilbourn, Marston, Miner, Morehouse, New Madrid, Oran, Scott City and Sikeston.

An individual tower would not have to be built in each community to be served. Instead a total of six would be built, with some located between communities that are near each other.

One tower would serve Jackson; another Chaffee and Oran combined; the third, Charleston and East Prairie; fourth, Cape Girardeau, Illmo and Scott City; fifth, Sikeston, Miner and Morehouse, and the sixth Marston, Lilbourn and New Madrid.

These community antennas would be used in some cases only to pick up the microwave relays for the communities served at the present time, and in other instances to both pick up and relay to another of the antennas the signals.

Signals from the Channel 9 transmitter in south St. Louis County and from transmitters for Channels 11, 39, 2, 4 and 5 would be sent by microwave relay to the tower at Perryville.

From there Channels 9, 11 and 30 transmissions would be sent via microwave relay to Jackson, and from Jackson, Channels 3, 8, 9, 11 and 30 would be sent by microwave to the Chaffee Oran tower.

All the rest of the microwave relays would be for these five channels as well.

From the Chaffee-Oran tower, the signals would be relayed to three other towers-the Charleston-East Prairie tower and Cape Girardeau-Illmo -Scott City tower, both of which would be pickup points only, and to the Sikeston-Miner -Morehouse tower which would further relay the signals to the Marston—Lilbourn- New Madrid tower, also only a pickup point.

Once the microwave relay is received by each of these community antennas, cables would be used to complete the system. The cables would run from these towers to the homes or businesses which subscribed to the installation and service.

Although See-Mor or no other cable television company can run cables inside a city without first receiving a franchise for operation in that city, the company could go ahead and construct the towers in anticipation of receiving such a franchise.

If See-Mor should receive the franchise in these communites, then it would be set to run cable from its existing tower.

If the firm wouldn't receive the franchise, but another would, then See-Mor could lease use of the tower to that company from which to run its cables. See-Mor could then feed programs over its system to whomever received the franchise for a fee.

Michael Pfeifer said the microwave system is expected to be ready for operation by early 1973.

Officials of See-Mor could not be reached to learn when work on the towers would be started, but Pfeifer pointed out that it could be as late as early next year because the towers would not take over a few months to erect.

Pfeifer said the representatives from the Cape Girardeau schools were invited to get a preview of what the educational station has to offer.

He said the station's programs could be used in the schools as another method to hold students' interest or serve as a catalyst to promote discussion in a classroom, but not as a replacement for the teacher.

Daytime instructional programming on Channel 9 is made possible by schools which enroll students in the station's services for a $1.25 per pupil participation fee. The station serves approximately 108 individual school units in Missouri and Illinois.

The weekly schedule of instructional programs deal with a wide range of subject areas including art, music, science and history.

Supportive aids received by KETS's participating schools include an individual telecourse guide for each series to enable the teacher to integrate programs into the regular course of study, in-service training for teachers and tours of the station for students.

Petting Zoo To Be At Plaza

Kingsway Plaza Mall will present a "petting zoo" Sept. 7-9.

Donations taken at the gate and all of the proceeds will go to Sikeston United Fund.

The Zooland Petting Zoo will be displayed in colorful fencing, with gates that allow visitors to come in and meet the animals face - to - face. Children will also be permitted to feed the animals daily until closing time.

There will be an assortment of over 45 animals and birds, both domestic and exotic species, plus interesting displays.

The animals may also be photographed.

Zooland Petting Zoo has traveled to major cities throughout the United States. Attendants will be on hand to answer questions.

Prescribes Caution

By CROCKETT SCOTT

"Let every man look before he leaps."

... Cervantes

For those impatient with the failure of the Dow Jones Industrials to move smartly upward to the 1,000 area, it would seem well to consider the reminder of a Kansas City investment banker that the stock market has been riding in all-time high ground, or thereabouts, since last April - May.

And the message, he reminded further, is that much of the good news about the rebounding economy already has been discounted; that what goes up someday will come down, in ail likelihood; and that the watchword should be to proceed at your own risk.

Last April - May, he recalled, Standard & Poor's index of 500 common stocks reached all-time high ground, as did the New York Stock Exchange's composite index and the New York Times combined average; with only the Dow Jones Industrial Average being the laggard. But the DJI is made up only of 30 stocks and thus is not a true measure of the market -- as everyone knows, but which everyone watches very closely nonetheless.

Since then, he emphasized, many equities have topped out -- at least for the time being; though some of the galmours, among the IBM, went on to higher ground (though currently receding again).

In such a market this investment banker repeated the same words of caution heard over and over again from other brokerage houses in the Mid-South and Midwest: take profits in the high flying galmours and concentrate buying in depressed issues, or stocks which have the potential to move up, regardless of market direction.

With such admonitions in mind, let's look at some of the recommendations of leading market analysts.

Argus Research Reports recommends Martin Marietta selling in the low twenties, noting a likelihood of higher earnings this year and next; and AR considers this equity with favor for its yield as well as for appreciation potential.

Argus Research likes Reece Corp., too. Reece is an over-the - counter stock in the industrial sewing equipment field with a good balance sheet and roughly half its income generated from its rental business. Argus sees the stock as having considerable appreciation potential over the longer term.

In the machine tool area, Argus likes Monarch Machine and Warner & Swasey.

Indicator Digest favors Ashland Oil (a big board equity trading in the low thirties) as a current buy to cover for the much heralded energy crisis. ID cites Ashland's acquisition of Union Carbide's gas and oil properties late last year as providing additional crude oil production and enhancing exploration potential in coming years.

Indicator Digest also likes the shares of some of the South African gold producers (the Kaiffirs), among them East Driefontein (which it notes being a "young" mine) has many years mining ahead of it, Western Deep Levels and Western Holdings. ID also mentions Anglo American Corp. of South Africa as a possible buy, and notes that some of these stocks pay exceptioanlly good dividends and are selling at reasonable price- earnings ratios in contrast to American gold stocks which have been bid up to high PEs.

ID likes these South African golds because of the great demand for the commodity, gold, in industry; and because of its popularity among foreign governments and individual hoarders aboard.

A speculative stock which some Indianapolis investment people like and which might be worth appraisal by your SEC registered representative is Pic'N' Save Corp. An over- the - counter stock, it went public in the spring at $14 per share and moved up to about $25, and then backed off to around $18-$19.

Standard & Poor's shows earnings at 36 cents per share in 1968, 41 cents in 1969, 64 cents in 1971, and 81 cents during the most recent 12 months.

Associated Moves Wooldridge To B'ville, Neel To Sikeston

LON DALE WALTON of Benton Route Two, has been promoted to trainee assistant at TG&Y Family Center in Kingsway Plaza Mall.

A 1972 graduate of Scott County Central High School, Walton began working with TG&Y in June 1970 as a stock clerk. He was promoted to number one stock clerk in charge of training new stock help in December 1971.

Floyd Wooldridge, Sikeston District Manager for Associated Natural Gas Company, has been promoted to superintendent of gas operations by Associated's parent company, Arkansas - Missouri Power Company, and reassigned to the general office in Blytheville, Ark.

Billy G. Neel of Caruthersville has been promoted to manager of the Sikeston operations.

Wooldridge has 38 years of utility experience, starting with Ark- Mo in 1942. He has been district manager in Sikeston since 1968. In his new capacity, he will supervise all gas operations for both Arkansas - Missouri Power and Associated.

Wooldridge has been active in civic affairs. At Hayti, he was a member of the Chamber of Commerce and Lions Club, and served each of them as president. At Sikeston, he belonged to Kiwanis Club.

He and his wife Opal are members of the Baptist Church. They are the parents of two grown daughters, Judith Ann Wooldridge and Vivian Jo Howes.

Neel is a 17-year veteran with Associated's parent company, Arkansas - Missouri Power Company, at Caruthersville. He joined the firm in 1955 as a gas meter tester at the company's gas meter shop and had progressed up to working foreman there at the time of this promotion.

He has been very active in the Lions Club and is a past president of that organization. He is the holder of a Distinguished Service Award by the Lions Eye Tissue Bank of University of Missouri.

A native of Deering where he graduated from high school, he is also a graduate of the Texas College of Arts and Industries course in natural gas distribution.

Neel and his wife, who are members of the Baptist Church, will be making their home in Sikeston. They have two children, Marily, age 13, and Paul, age 9.

Allen-Henry Joins National Federation

DEXTER-Allen-Henry Company of Missouri, Dexter-based food brokerage, has become a member of Brokers Marketing and Sales Services(BMASS). The company serves chain and independent supermarkets, wholesale grocers and food service customers in Missouri and Illinois.

BMASS is a nationwide federation of leading food brokers engaged in marketing and distributing food and household products. These brokers have banded together in BMASS to expand their operations and improve their services for customers and manufacturers.

Allen-Henry Company of Missouri is part of the Allen-Henry organization of brokerage firms headquarterd in Jackson, Tenn. Totally, the four companies serve the Mississippi Valley area in Tennessee, Kentucky, Mississippi, Arkansas, Missouri and Illinois.

Officers of the firm in Dexter are H.E. Henry Jr., president; Bill Webb, vice president and general manager; Gary D. James, vice president, and Harry H. Miller, secretary and treasurer.

Manufacturers represented by the Dexter operation are Colonial Sugars Company, Aluminum Company of America, Booth Fisheries, Standard Brands, Peter Pan Seafoods, Port Clyde Packing Company, Bunte Candy Company, Kal Kan Foods, Industrial Sugars, Colonial Cake Company.

Ole South Foods, Southern Style Food, Citrus World, Speas Vinegar Company, Osceola Foods, L&M Tea Company, Jackson Edwards Bag Company, New Dad's Root Beer Company, Robert L. Berner Company, Sterling Paper Mills, Jel Sert Company, Carey Salt Company, Royal Oak Charcoal Company, Auginbaugh Canning company, Bama Food Products and Joan of Arc Company.

Malone &Hyde Aquire Topps

MEMPHIS — Malone & Hyde, Inc., one of the nation's largest food distributors, has announced approval to acquire a Memphis firm, a dividend increase and organizational realignment of the wholesale food distribution system's operational structure.

The board of directors has approved the acquisition of Topps Sales, Inc., a closely held company here, said J. R. Hyde III, M & H president. An exchange of stock will be involved, though terms were not revealed.

Topps' holdings include three discount health and beauty aid stores and two discount drug stores. They will be operated by Super D Drugs, Inc., a M & H subsidiary. The deal is subject to certain conditions being met before closing Hyde said.

Hyde said the quarterly dividend will be increased from 7½ cents to 8 cents per share. He said the boost, which is within Cost of Living Council guidelines, will be paid Oct. 16 to shareholders of record Sept. 22.

In the reorganization, Andrew Battaile, who has been division manager in Beaumont, Tex., and John Moll, Nashville division manager, have been promoted to two newly created positions of regional managers. Moll is formerly from Sikeston, Mo.

Battaile will move to Memphis and head the region consisting of divisions in Memphis, Beaumont, Monroe, La., and Jackson, Tenn. Moll will continue to head the Nashville division as well as the region made up of that division and those in Tupelo, Miss., Sikeston, Mo., and Nicholasville, Ky. Moll still will have Nashville headquarters.

Hyde also said that new managers have been appointed for three wholesale food divisions. They are Lee Bryson of Tupelo, William Ellis in Beaumont and Thomas Mulhearn in Monroe. He announced that Saul A. Mintz and James R. Greenbaum have resigned as vice presidents of M&H and as officers of F. Strauss & Son, Inc., wholly owned subsidiary in Monroe.

Brag about dodging work and you soon won't have to exercise that ability.

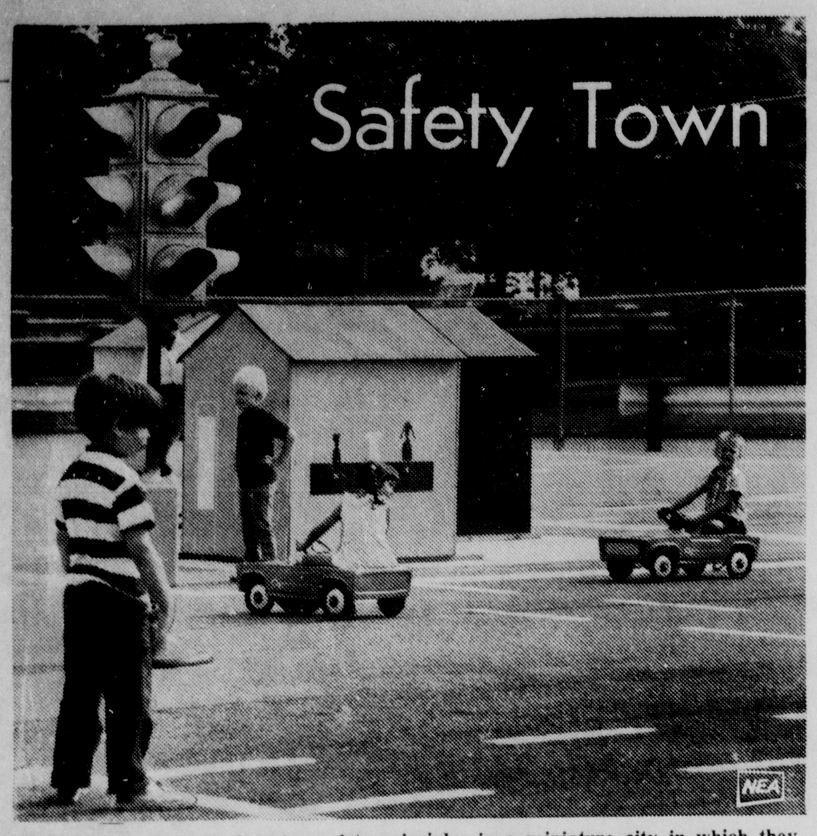
Safety Town

These photos, made at Shaker Heights, Ohio, show preschoolers in a two-week summer program in which they are taught traffic safety. When they take off for kindergarten in the fall, they will be armed with a knowledge of rules for pedestrians and motorists. The city-sponsored Safety Town aims to help the child realize his responsibility in keeping himself from dangers on the street, bring to his attention the problems careless pedestrians present to the motorist, teach him the importance of obeying traffic rules, establish and cultivate good character habits such as courtesy, thoughtfulness, consideration and respect for others.



These preschoolers are learning safety principles in a miniature city in which they play-act parts of pedestrians and motorists. After completing training at the Shaker Heights, Ohio, Safety Town, they are ready to walk or ride to school with confidence.

FIRE SAFETY is taught at child level.

HAND SIGNALS are important. A preschooler indicates a left turn under watchful eye of a volunteer counselor. Teen-agers are recruited from junior high schools to teach children fundamentals of traffic safety.

TRAFFIC SIGNALS and rules are explained.

WALK SIGNAL gets the line moving.

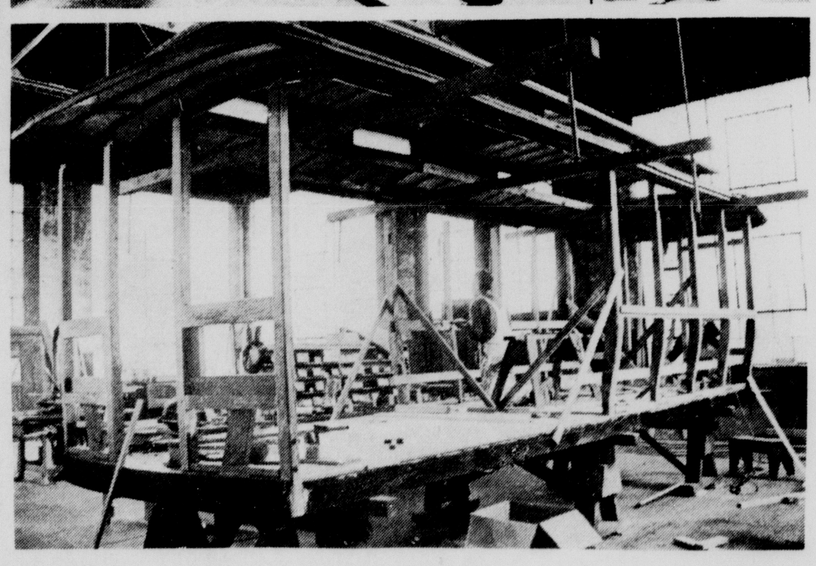
are an outmoded means of transportation, a fact generally recognized except by San Francisco's passionate protectors of the unique trolleys. Cars not only continue to rattle over the city's hills and make the end-of-the-run turns with passenger power, but are still being built, below right, in a corner of the cluttered repair shop . . . exact replicas fashioned with care, ingenuity and love from century-old plans.



LONG HAIR would seem to be the preference of the musician above, but actually when it comes to music he's all pop. It's Ian Anderson of the top British group, Jethro Tull, having a bit of a problem with the wind in his locks at a Frankfurt, West Germany, performance. Meanwhile, far away in St. Louis, Mo., long-haired Elizabeth Gordon does play long hair, with the St. Louis Symphony Youth Orchestra—and in comfort, minus her shoes.

Infant Is Victim In Malden House Fire

MALDEN - Danny Allen Drummond, 1- year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Drummond of 105A Willis Drive, was dead on arrival at Dexter Memorial Hosiptal of burns suffered in a home fire Monday afternoon.

A spokesman for the fire department said the fire, which heavily damaged the interior of the home, originated in a kitchen waste basket. The mother was reportedly able to save another child from the blaze, but could not get to the dead child.

He was born Oct. 8, 1970 in Poplar Bluff.

Services were conducted today at 11 a.m. in Landess Funeral Home with the Rev. Chuck Huber officiating.

Burial was in Memorial Park Cemetery.

Survivors include his parents; three brothers, James Eugene, Michael Dewayne and Joel Scott Drummond, all of Malden; paternal grandfather, Dean Drummond of Clarksville, Ark.; and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Pfleuger of Malden.

Nine Treated Tuesday

Nine were treated Tuesday as accident patients in the emergency room of Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

TO THE PERSON ADDRESSED

Figures are sometimes dull but in other respects they can be interesting whether presented in black and white on paper or dressed in a transparent bikini or hot pants. On a black and white printing basis the following should interest the average American citizen as showing perhaps one cause of the main problems that is bothering him or her.

FACTS IN THE PUBLIC SECTOR

Federal Spending — 42 Billion in 1950; 250 Billion in 1972.

President's Salary — $100,000 in 1950; $200,000 in 1972.

Prime Minister of Japan — $38,570 in 1972

Supreme Court Justices — $25,000 in 1950; $60,000 in 1972.

Japan Court — $27,590 in 1972

Congressman's Salary — $12,500 in 1950; $42,500 in 1972.

Senator's Wages — $12,500 in 1950; $42.500 in 1972

Defense Cost — 25 billion in 1950; 77 billion in 1972.

Salary for 4-Star General — $36,000 in 1972

Gas Tax in one part of Mo. — 2 cents a gallon in 1950; 11 cents a gallon in 1972.

Cost of educating youngster in one St. Louis County Public School District — $207 in 1950; $1100 in 1972.

Cost of Living — 72.1 in 1950; 124 in 1972.

Price of a loaf of Raisin Bread, St. Louis County — 34 cents in 1950; 49 cents in 1972.

Many people getting this may say, so what, the only thing that interests me is that I get mine. However, if the so-called private sector of our country has been able to get along with an increase of 72 percent (72.1 to 124), why have some segments of government had to have an increase of up to 600 percent? Would the solution to today's problem be to simply get the government, especially at the federal level, out of most of the project they are now in rather than getting them more involved with so called revenue sharing and any other programs that promises something for nothing but the final results might be classifid as nothing for a whole lot.

Deaths

ARTHUR T. BOTTS JR.

MALDEN — Arthur Traywic Botts Jr., 55, 400 North Decatur St., died Tuesday in Jefferson Barracks Hospital in St. Louis.

He was born June 20, 1917 in Abbeville, S.C., and the son of the late Arthur Traywic Botts and Jary Howie Botts. On Dec. 16, 1942, he married Lillian Katherine Hendrix, who survives.

He was a member of the United Methodist Church and was also active in Boy Scout work. He was employed by McDonnell Douglas Aircraft of St. Louis as field and service machinist.

Other survivors include one son, Pat Botts of Rolla Mo.; one daughter, Becky Widemer of Steelville; two half brothers, James Louis of Meridian Miss., and William Louis of Rock Hill, S.C.; two half sisters, Mrs. C. L. Loden of Chester, Pa., and Mrs. Mary Lou Reed of Schenectady, N.Y., and one grandson.

Services will be held Thursday at 3 p.m. in Boyd Funeral Home with the Rev. Otto L. Dvorak of Sikeston officiating.

Burial will be in Memorial Park Cemetery in Sikeston.

OPAL DAVIS

MALDEN — Mrs. Opal Davis, 54, Route One, died Tuesday in Lucy Lee hospital in Poplar Bluff.

She was born May 18, 1918 at Bexar, Ala., the daughter of the late Peter Martin and Judy Williams. On May 21, 1939, she married Carl Davis.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Frankie Earnheart of Malden; one grandson, Keith Davis of Malden; one sister, Lura Taylor of Hamilton, Ala.; one brother, Emit Williams of Hamilton, Ala.; and 14 nieces and nephews.

Services will be held Thursday at 1 p.m. in Boyd Funeral Home with the Rev. Gene Craig officiating.

Burial will be in Woodlawn Cemetery in Campbell.

Armed Forces

FT. LEAVENWORTH, KAN

ARMY NATIONAL GUARD Mg. John H. Reed, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Reed, 719 Good Hope, Sikeston, recently completed part II of the command and general staff officer course, nonresident'resident, at the U.S. Army Command and General Staff College (OGSC), Ft. Leavenworth, Kan.

Maj. Reed was on the Commandant's list, which represents the upper 20 per cent in academic standing.

The graduates completed the first half of the course by correspondence or through U.S. Army Reserve School attendance and then attended an eight-week period of resident instruction at the OGSC. The eight-week portion is subdivided into four-week parts so the student may participate during two successive summers.

The nonresident'resident course is designed to prepare selected officers for responsible positions at division and support command levels. It also provides them with an understanding of the duties of corps and field army general staff officers, and of army participation in joint and combined operations.

Maj. Reed received A B.S. degree in 1956 from Southeast Missouri State College in Cape Girardeau. He is employed as a teacher at the college.

His wife, Weymie, lives at 9 Beaird Drive, Sikeston.

Prepare Warrents

Charleston warrants are being prepared for two subjects in connection with shots being fired into the mobile home of Phillip Sullivan in the Pinhook community Saturday.

Sheriff W. J. (Pedro) Simmons said four shots from a rifle were fired into the door of the trailer. The family was not at home at the time. Names are bing withheld pending investigation.

Fewer Fire Deaths In '71

BOSTON (AP) — There were 350 fewer fire-attributed deaths in the United States in 1971 than in the previous year, the National Fire Protection Association reported today.

The association said there were 11,850 deaths due to fire in 1971 and 12,200 in 1970.

The 1971 total was the lowest since 1963 when 11,800 deaths were reported, the association said.

The worst fire tragedy in 1971 occurred at East Haven, Conn., when 28 persons died in the fire following the crash of a Convair 580 airliner, the association reported.

Judge Disqualifies Self In Stoddard Election Suit

BLOOMFIELD — Circuit Judge William H. Billings of Kennett has disqualified himself from presiding over an election irregularities suit filed Sept. 5.

Charging voting irregularities in the Aug. 8 Stoddard County primary election are Katharyn Strobel and Herschel Fisher, defeated candidates for Democratic committeeman and committeewoman. They are from Pike Township.

The state Supreme Court will be asked to appoint a special judge to preside in the case.

Five Accidents Injure Ten

Five accidents occurred Tuesday on Bootheel highways, resulting in injuries to 10 persons, according to the highway patrol. There were no fatalities.

In one mishap, 12-year- old Howard Leslie Lynn of Chaffee Route One suffered a fractured leg and was taken to Chaffee General Hospital after being struck by a car driven by Jackson Stewart, 45, of Benton.

According to the patrol, the Lynn boy ran in front of the car. The accident occurred at 12:30 p.m. on Route A in Chaffee. Stewart is a Scott County deputy sheriff.

At 2:20 p.m. an accident occurredone half mile south of Ironton on Highway 21 when James A. Hughes, 79, of Arcadia was struck in the rear of his station wagon by a car driven by William Frank Staley, 54, of Berkeley.

Hughes was attempting to make a left turn when Staley attempted to pass and struck him. Hughes' nose was cut and Edith Hughes received a neck injury. Staley received cuts on the knees.

Another accident occurred on Highway 25 near Senath at 6:20 p.m. when a car driven by Fred William Wallace, 48, attempted to pass a car driven by Ray B. Williams, 51, of Senath.

Williams failed to yield right of way and pulled into the path of Wallace who then struck Williams roadside.

Injured in the Wallace car wer Reba Wallace, 41, and Sheila Wallace, 20, who were taken to Dunklin County Memorial Hospital in Kennett for treatment of cuts and bruises.

J. C. Rosson, 26, of Doniphan was injured at 7:30 a.m. when the brakes on his car failed as he started down a hill on a gravel road 14 miles north of Doniphan. The car hit an embankment and overturned. Rosson was taken to the Ripley County Hospital.

Bonnie A. Hyde, 37, of Senath was injured at 12:05 a.m. on Highway 25 one mile north of Senath. Mrs. Hyde was traveling at a high rate of speed when she attempted to make a left turn and ran off the road, struck an embankment and overturned. She was taken to Dunklin County Memorial Hospital where she was treated for cuts and bruises.

C. Brice Ratchford, president of the University of Missouri, says the emergency funds are the most vital since he has been with the university.

The $3.5 million includes $1.6 million to enable the university to rescind student fee increases of $20 for in-state students and $40 for students from other states.

Another important funding matter is the public defender system, which calls for public defenders in all counties over 75,000 in population, except Greene.

The state Supreme Court ruled that as of Sept. 1 it would no longer require attorneys to represent indigent defendants in felony cases without a fee. The U.S. Supreme Court has said that anyone facing jail sentences, even from a misdemeanor, must be given a lawyer.

The state has more than 200 courts. For years, young lawyers have represented indigents for nothing in misdemeanor cases.

Bar associationsin the Kansas City and Cape Girardeau areas have threatened to instruct lawyers not to represent indigents unless they re assured of payment.

The new state law authorizes Circuit Judges to set reasonable fees for attorneys assigned to represent indigents in counties without public defendjrs, with the state paying the bill.

Unless the public defender law is funded, say lawyers in the Attorney General's office, defendants in some cases might go free without a trial.

The legislature raised the per-patient state funds for nursing homes but provided no money for the payments.

The increased rates are being paid from federal funds granted the state welfare division, but themoney, about $7 million, must be paid back next year. Intestimony before the legislative fiscal affairs committee, Welfare Director N. Proctor Carter said the appropriation could be made in the next general session starting in December.

Legislators also failed to finance a law authorizing grants up to $900 a year for needy students in either public or private colleges.

The attorney general has been asked by Rep. Vic Downing, D-Bragg City, for an opinion on the law's constitutionality. But meanwhile, it remains a law — unfunded.

Other than the vetoes, legislators can consider only the items the governor puts before them. He could offer some new bills, but is not expected to.

The Senate minority leader, Richard Webster, a Republican fromCarthage, says he thinks the governor will attempt to gain approval for some key posts. Webster said he would oppose "hamstringing" the new governor, wmo should be allowed to make his own appointments.

Webster says he will not support the University of Missouri appropriation unless the state colleges' request is considred.

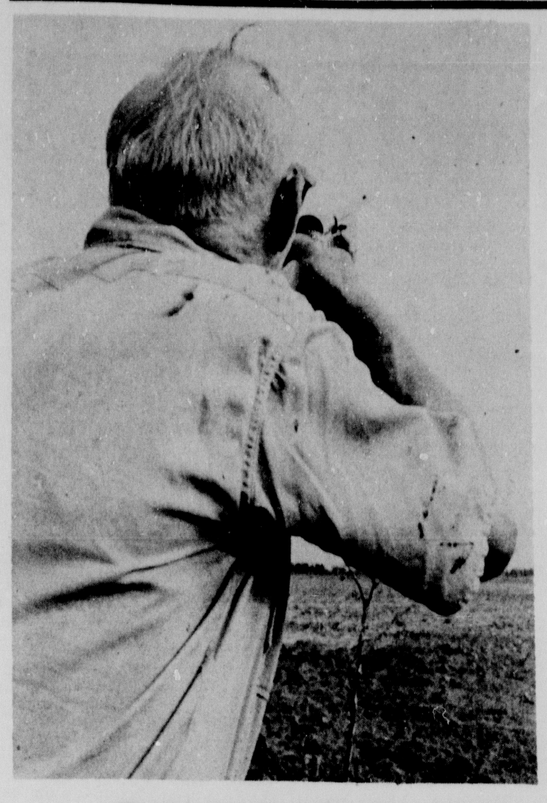
Olympic Shooting Candidate



Wright Sights Birds...

By RON JAYNES

If the Olympic games included the sport of dove shooting, Denver Wright of Ladue would be one of the leading candidates for the United States team.

Wright, the founder of Wright Leather Specialty Company and Vi-Tronics Inc., showed signs of a marksman on opening day of the Missouri dove season when he bagged 10 birds in 16 shots while hunting near Blodgett.

The 83-year- old multi-millionaire amazed this writer with his opening shot when he picked off one of the darting, diving, feathered fellows from a distance of 200 yards, and was well on his way toward the daily limit of 10 birds.

Wright's visit to the Bootheel marked the 29th straight year that he has hunted doves in Southeast Missouri.

A world-renowed big game hunter, Wright cut short a hunting trip to Africa late in August to make his return trip to what he calls ... "The Capital of Dove Shooting sport in the United States."

To watch the remarkable accuracy of this man, who was born Oct. 20, 1889 in Kentucky, one would think he is nearer the 50-year- old mark rather than being 17 years away from 100.

A Native Southeast Missourian, the friendly, good natured hunter is constantly kidded by his many friends for the hunting clothes he wears. It seems like the gentleman has caught his clothing on some fences and has repaired them, instead of .. as he puts it ... "breaking in a new pair."

The St. Louis Globe Democrat wrote ... "He is one of the most experienced hunters in the world," while the Sunday Mirro said ... "Denver M. Wright is the embodiment of that American Dream you hear so much about," and the Hong Kong South China Post - Herald noted ... "Denver M. Wright has traveled around the world at least four times, during which he has collected over 200 trophies."

An avid outdoorsman, Wright noted that he "loved the outdoors and liked to walk," a trait he built in his boyhood days near Morley, where he was raised.

"I began hunting with a sling shot," Wright proudly noted as he relaxed after his opening hunt in preparation for an evening outing.

Wright is proud of his trophies, but seems elated when his family is mentioned. "I've been married for 63 years," he proudly notes, "and I have six sons, three daughters, 28 grandchildren and 18 great-grandchildren."

After spending his boyhood days in Southeast Missouri, Wright became a shoecutter at Cape Girardeau and began his drive toward prominence. After a switch to St. Louis where he served as a news-butch on a train, he headed south to Atlanta where his business interprises started.

Wright served many years on the board of education in Brentwood and was extremely active in civic affairs. He has been retired for over a quarter of a century, but has remained a busy man.

He has traveled to every part of the globe, as a pilot, hunter and photographer. He has been at home with the people of the most remote sections of the world.

It was until only recently that Wright had piloted his own plane and changed only because of insurance problems.

On most all of his hunting expeditions, he takes movies and has shown them worldwide.

With all of his experiences with hunting, Wright marvels at the situation that faces the Southeast Missouri dove hunter ... "Every year there is more hunters and every year there are more birds ... It's just great."

Memorial Service For Slain Israelis

MUNICH (AP) — Athletes from the competing nations clogged the Olympic Stadium today in a memorial service for slain members of the Israeli team as the fate of the 20th Summer Games hung in the balance.

An Olympic source said the Games "will probably go on" but that the International Olympic Committee would not make a definite decision until after the memorial service.

The Games had continued Tuesday even as Arab terrorists held the Israelis hostage at their Olympic Village compound. The grim story had its bloody ending written at a secluded airport 15 hours later in a shootout between the terrorists and West German authorities.

Only a few events were held Tuesday before the Games were officially suspended by the International Olympic Committee. In one of them, American heavyweight boxer Duane Bobick was eliminated by Cuba's Teofilo Stevenson. Stevenson decked Bobick twice before the fight was halted in the third round by an East German referee.

"I had a bad day," Duane Bobick understated after being soundly thrashed by Cuban Teofilo Stevenson. It was, more to the point, a bad day for the spirit of these 20th Summer Olympic Games.

Bobick, the heavyweight from Bowlus, Minn., who had been pegged by former world heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali as "the latest Great White Hope," was no match for the Cuban buzzsaw he had beaten in last year's Pan-American Games.

In one of the few events conducted Tuesday before compeition was suspended because of the Arab guerrilla assault on the Israeli team in the Olympic Village, Stevenson decked Bobick twice and won when the bout was halted in the third round by the East German referee.

By the time Bobick had climbed through the ropes and into the ring, the Arab guerrillas had climbed over a fence and into the Olympic Village and had attacked the Israeli Olympic team, killing two members of the delegation.

It was some 15 hours before that ordeal came to a tragic end. According to West German government officials, all nine Israeli hostages were dead and, in a running gun battle between the Arabs and police, several of the guerrillas were slain along with at least one policeman.

Bobick knew of the guerrilla attack but called it only a slight distraction, and refused to use it as an excuse for his loss, the first time an American heavyweight had been eliminated in Olympic boxing since Percy Price Jr., was beaten in a 1960 Games preliminary.

"Stevenson was in a lot better condition," Bobick said. "He was a better fighter. Last time I faced him, all he had was a jab."

Bobick's left eye had been completely closed and his face reddened and puffed by the tattooing. "I felt a little tense and a little slow," Bobick said after failing to follow in the steps of Joe Frazier and George Foreman, who had won the gold medals in the 1964 and 1968 Games.

It was shortly after Bobick's bout that Avery Brundage, retiring president of the Olympic International Committee, called a temporary suspension to all competition as a result of the guerrilla attack.

It wreaked havoc with the schedule, forcing a one-day postponement in many events, one of them the basketball semifinals. The unbeaten U.S. team's game against Italy and undefeated Russia's contest against Cuba were rescheduled for Thursday night.

In Tuesday's only game, Australia edged West Germany 7069. The Philippines was given credit for a 2-0 victory when Egypt, returning home in the wake of the Arab attack, forfeited its game.

Early Greco-Roman wrestling matches, conducted before the suspension, were a disaster for the United States, which lost five bouts.

September 5th

MUNICH (AP) — The flame kept burning.

Perched silently above cold, empty Olympic Stadium, it blazed in the name of international sport. Of peace. And brotherhood.

Suddenly, there was added meaning.

Olympians who had marched proudly, faces asmile into the magnificent athletic arena 10 days before were now dead, innocent victims of man's political differences.

The boxscore, this particular one, was ghastly:

—11 Israeli teammates murdered.

—1 Munich policeman slain at his work.

—4 Arab terrorists dead amid their chosen cause.

The flame burned somehow in a new color.

It wasn't the same as the glorious torch which lit the paths of Jesse Owens, Paavo Nurmi and—in latter days—Mark Spitz.

In four years, when an honored Canadian runner jogs triumphantly into an as yet unconstructed Montreal Stadium for the Olympics of 1976, the memories of the terror of Munich will live on.

It will live at the 1980 games. And in 1984, and 1988. As long as the Olympians run, jump and play, victims claimed in this Bavarian wonderland will be remembered.

Germany was trying hard to live down the snub of black hero Owens at the Nazi Olympics of 1936. The ghost of Hitler was to fade in a peaceful cloud.

Proud Germans called these the "Gemutlich Games." It means friendly, warm, comfortable.

Then came Tuesday.

Pullout Rumored

MUNICH (AP) — The chief of the Egyptian delegation to the Olympic Games today denied reports that his team was pulling out of the Olympic Games.

"We came here to compete in the Olympic Games and we plan to continue doing so," said Abdel Aziz Shafei.

Shafei said he did not know whether his team would attend memorial services scheduled this morning for 11 Israelis and a West German policeman murdered by Arab guerrillas.

"It depends on the situation," he said.

Reports of an Egyptian pullout circulated after an Egyptian basketball team Tuesday failed to show up for a game with the Philippines.

A team official said the Egyptians feared for their lives, expecting angry reaction by spectators indirectly blaming them for responsibility in the Israeli deaths.

But Egyptian wrestlers did compete Tuesday.

A Lebanese team official said, "Naturally, we are very sorry about the tragedy. It will be remembered for years to come.

"But we came here under the Olympic banner and we can not talk politics."

Meanwhile, five armed guards were posted around Building 31, the Olympic home of the Israeli Olympic team, where the terrorists held the hostages all day Tuesday and into the early hours today.

There was no noticeable difference in the wake-up hours in the Village, where some 10,000 Olympians spent the night. Athletes and officials were going quietly to breakfast.

There was almost no foot traffic in and out of the main gates. German police with pistols were posted every few feet around the perimeter of the Village.

Birds Drop To Fourth

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Baltimore Orioles are the team to beat in the American League East. You can tell because everyone keeps beating them.

Tuesday night it was the New York Yankees' turn with a 7-6 victory that saddled the Orioles with their fourth defeat in five games and dropped them from a first-place tie down to fourth, which is the equivalent of a disaster area for the three-time AL champs.

Detroit took over sole possession of the top spot with a 4-2 triumph over Cleveland. The Tigers are one-half game and three percentage points ahead of the Boston Red Sox, who rallied to beat Milwaukee 5-3. The Yankees, also one-half game out, trail Boston by one point while Baltimore is one full game and seven points behind the Tigers.

Elsewhere, the Chicago White Sox set up a crucial two-game series against front-running Oakland by beating Minnesota 5-2 while the A's were idle. In the only other game, Kansas City whipped Texas 7-2.

National League scores: Los Angeles 9, Cincinnati 4; Atlanta 5, Houston 3; Chicago 3, New York 0; St. Louis 5, Montreal 3; San Francisco 4, San Diego 3 in 11 innings.

The contenders all play one another over the next few days—Detroit at Baltimore and New York at Boston for three games apiece in the East and Oakland at Chicago for a pair in the West.

The Yankees erupted for five runs against old nemesis Dave McNally in the first inning and were never headed, although the Orioles rallied for three runs in the ninth against Sparky Lyle.

The Yankees got two decisive runs in the fifth on doubles by Felipe Alou and Rich McKinney and an RBI single by winning pitcher Lindy McDaniel. Boog Powell accounted for three Oriole runs with a single and two doubles.

Detroit skipper Billy Martin, undergoing some daily postgame fencing with newsmen, said it was "easier to play in a tight race than to answer some of these questions."

It wasn't easy against Cleveland. The Tigers trailed 2-1 until the fifth, when Mickey Stanley walked, Aurelio Rodriguez doubled and Eddie Brinkman laced a two-run single. Frank Duffy homered for one of six Cleveland hits off Joe Coleman, who promptly said, "I think Baltimore is the team to beat."

The Red Sox also came from behind to beat Milwaukee. They trailed 3-1 against Skip Lockwood until the eighth when Tommy Harper beat out a bunt, Carl Yastrzemski singled and Reggie Smith homered. Ben Oglivie then doubled home an insurance run.

The White Sox broke a skid that saw them lose six of seven by downing the Twins despite Harmon Killebrew's 537th career homer for Minnesota, moving him ahead of Mickey Mantle into fourth place on the all-time list.

Chicago snapped a 2-2 tie with three runs in the seventh, including pinch hitter Tony Muser's tie-breaking double and a triple by Pat Kelly.

"We're back on the track," said Manager Chuck Tanner. "We're only three games behind. It should be a very interesting series against Oakland."

Injured External Rotator

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tom Seaver, who has had a sore arm, bad back and muscle pulls in both legs, has come up with a new twist: an injured external rotator.

"I don't think I'll be a cripple for the rest of my life, though," said the New York Mets righthander after departing midway through Tuesday night's 3-0 loss to the Chicago Cubs.

Seaver hurt himself while throwing a curve ball to Don Kessinger in the fifth inning and a doctor later diagnosed the injury as an "injured external rotator," which is a muscle in his buttock.

"I thought I had a muscle spasm in my left buttock," said New York's No. 1 pitcher. "I thought it was a spasm that would go away, but it didn't."

Despite the pain, Seaver stayed in to pitch to Rick Monday and was hurt further when the Chicago center fielder hit a home run.

"If the muscle is just a pull, then he'll probably miss one or two starts," said a team spokesman. "If it's torn, however, he'll no doubt be out the rest of the season."

In other games around the National League, the Los Angeles Dodgers pounded the Cincinnati Reds 9-4; the Atlanta Braves tripped the Houston Astros 5-3; the St. Louis Cardinals turned back the Montreal Expos 5-3 and the San Diego Padres nipped the San Francisco Giants 4-3 in 11 innings.

American League results: Chicago 5, Minnesota 2; New York 7, Baltimore 6; Boston 5, Milwaukee 3; Kansas City 7, Texas 2 and Detroit 4, Cleveland 2.

Monday was pleasantly surprised when Seaver's pitch came in with less velocity than usual. He spanked it over the left center field wall to break a scoreless tie and sent Rick Reuschel on his way to his seventh victory this year.

Reuschel gave the Mets but three hits and never allowed more than one baserunner in any inning.

Don Sutton, backed by a 14-hit attack that included a two-run homer by Billy Grabarkewitz and a solo job by Frank Robinson, pitched Los Angeles over Cincinnati. Sutton scattered nine hits, one of them a homer by Pete Rose, and struck out 10 Reds en route to his 15th victory in 24 decisions.

Atlanta's Pat Jarvis continued his mastery over Houston, beating the Astros for the 18th time in 22 lifetime decisions. The Braves bombed five Houston pitchers for 16 hits, including a two-run homer by Oscar Brown in the second inning.

Jose Cruz got three hits and brought home the go-ahead run with a bases-loaded walk in the seventh inning to lead St. Louis over Montreal. Cruz, batting only .220 at game time, hammered a triple and two singles and scored a run before drawing the game-winning walk off Mike Marshall.

Tito Fuentes knocked in the game-winning run with a single in the 11th inning to pull San Francisco over San Diego.

TORONTO (AP) — After a month of selection trials, Mirage has been chosen over Merrythought to defend the Canada's Cup for the Royal Canadian Yacht Club. The two sloops sailed the final trial races Saturday.

Mirage, skippered by Gordon Fisher, will meet the Detroit challenger, Bayview Yacht Club's Dynamite, in a best-of-5 series starting Sept. 10 on a course off Toronto.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Horace Reid of Atlanta is the champion of the 55th American Tennis Association Tournament.

Reid, 17, won the title by defeating top-seeded Arthur Carrington of Elizabeth, N.J., Saturday 6-7, 6-3, 7-6, 9-8.

Lorraine Bryant of Chicago won the singles championship with a 6-1, 6-0 victory over Brenda Johnson of Philadelphia.

MONTREAL (AP) — Gord Lee and Len Gagnon have been selected to referee tonight's opening game of the Team Canada-Soviet Union hockey series it was announced Friday night.

Both officials are from the United States and Gagnon worked some games last season at the Winter Olympics in Sapporo, Japan.

VANCOUVER (AP) — Spending 15 hours in the cold outside a ticket window to pay for a chance to see Canada play hockey against the Russians Sept. 8 was worth it after 25 years of waiting says Earl Braney Barnwell.

Barnwell was among about 100 hockey fans who waited overnight for about 1,000 unredeemed tickets to go on sale at $7.50 each.

South Outlook

A poll by The Daily Standard sports staff found that three teams are generally considered as the choice of the coaches to win SeMo Conference Southern Division football championship this season.

Caruthersville outpointed Portageville and Dexter for the top spot, but Malden drew one vote and if the coaches' feelings are correct ... 1972 will be a rough season in the South.

Team profiles:

CARUTHERSVILLE

Joe Cagle, an outstanding performer in 1971, will again lead Caruthersville this gridiron season, as the Tigers strive to attain that elusive Southern Conference title.

Cagle, one of the few black quarterbacks in the state, is a thrilling performer for coach Ron Wene. The senior letterman has a fine, accurate arm and possesses the best speed on the team. Despite losing tight end Jereme Maxey, his favorite target, the smallish athlete figures to throw and throw well this year.

Cagle will be protected by the district's largest offensive line. The interior linemen, tackle to tackle, average near the 200-pound mark, very large for prep competition. With this protection, Cagle should have ample time to set up for passes. Coach Wene noted this by saying, "We think we can throw the ball as well as anyone." The line should open large holes as well for Cagle and his setbacks on running plays. In pursuit of their first title in many years, Wene indicated the Tigers would mix the attack as much as possible.

The major problem at Caruthersville is one of depth. "If anyone gets hurt," Wene said, "we are in trouble." "We must avoid injuries."

The biggest contenders for the title? Wene thinks it will be Portageville and Dexter.

"Portageville may be hurt with only 20 - some- odd out," the coach said, "but, Coach Jim McKay does a fine job."

"And, he added, "Dexter has the best established football program in the conference."

Caruthersville figures prominently in the conference race, having its best talent in years. But, with Portageville and Dexter sharing the conference spotlight with the Tigers, they do appear to be a long shot.

CHAFFEE

"We can only go up." After a disastrous 0-9 season in 1971, the Chaffee Red Devils will be trying to bounce all the way back in 1971.

"We have a great bunch of guys," Coach Terry Glenzy said. A good group showed up the first day and 42 players remain as Glenzy tries first to reinstall the winning attitude in his players. Margins in 1971 were as large as 72 points in one game, but last year's team was young and will be out to erase all of last season's bad memories.

The size at Chaffee is adequate, with the offensive line averaging near 175 pounds per man. The defense is slightly larger, which leaves no deficiencies in weight as the Devils attempt the comeback.

The Chaffee offense will feature a running game from the I-formation. Leading the rushing offense will be a 170-pound, 6-footer, John Richbourg, a returning starter. Richbourg's fine speed should be complemented by David Hart, a 5-8, 150-pounder. A third important returnee is believed to be the biggest lineman in the district. He is 6-foot-8, 235 - pound Scott Thomas. Thomas, in addition to being a very fine offensive and defensive tackle, punted for an amazing 45-yard average last year, including one boot of 67 yards.

Chaffee could rate a darkhorse shot at the title. Several coaches mentioned the Red Devils as a side thought, but they are actually given little chance to finish in the top three. It is not as much the lack of Chaffee talent as it is the abundance of opposition talent.

DEXTER

"We lack experience," Coach Clyde Vaughn said.

"We never have had speed," he added.

But the Bearcats once again must be reckoned with in the conference title fight. They have as many returning starters as any team in the district and can boost quality performers at most positions.

A 170- pound average on the offensive line means Dexter will be giving up pounds to most teams they will play this year, but the defensive team has good size, averaging 185 to 190 pounds.

The offense, running from the slot I, will be mixed. John Backfish is the new quarterback, replacing two-year starter David Mathis. "Backfish actually has a much better arm than Mathis," the coach said. "But, he may not know the offense as well."

Some standouts back from last year include 5-10, 190-pound Mark England, a third-year starter who plays both ways. Others are running backs Vic Trammel, Allen Gibson and Allen Brown, as well as Allen McCroy and Tom Millington, a pair of defensive linemen. McCroy is largest man on the squad, checking in at 6-2 and 220 pounds.

"We get our biggest challenge in the second game," Vaughn said, "when we play Portageville."

Others the coach mentioned as contenders are Caruthersville and Hayti.

EAST PRAIRIE

Only four starters return for new Head Coach Tommy Crenshaw at East Prairie, but the first - year man is conceding nothing, feeling he has the horses to field a respectable team.

The ingredients are there for a good unit at East Prairie this year. There is a large offensive line, averaging 190 pounds, to open holes for two fine running backs. Six-foot- one, 190 pound Annise Davis is one of the swiftest runners in the district, having been timed in 4.6 seconds for the 40-yard dash. Davis, before suffering a crippling injury last year, was one of SeMo's finest running backs. Steve Secoy is the second running back for the Eagles this year. Secoy, at 5-10 and 150, can run the 40 in 4.9 seconds, a very respectable time.

A couple of outstanding defensive linemen returning for Crenshaw are Terry Morton and Mark Hurt. The two must anchor the inexperienced line with their savvy.

The biggest problem at East Prairie is depth. Only 24 prospects remain, creating a serious problem if anyone is injured.

The Eagles don't really figure in the title race, but they could have a definite say-so in which team does win it.

MALDEN

Size is the big word at Malden ... size of the squad in numbers and size of the squad in weight. In both categories the Greenwave are hurting.

Twenty-five players remain for Coach Jack Phillips to work with, and the players he has are not very big. The offensive and defensive lines average 155 pounds per man. This means, for example, when Malden plays Caruthersville, the Wave will give up almost 50 pounds per man.

Another ingredient needed for a winning team is experience, and that, too, is missing. "We are hurting so bad for players," Phillips said, "that we are starting nine sophomores against the Kennett team this Friday."

The team does have good speed and will run the ball on offense. Bobby Arnold will lead the running corps. The 160-pound back can run 100 yards in 10.5 seconds and is a shifty back. He will be accompanied in the backfield by 180-pound Keith Hedley. Hedley, too, is a returnee. Nicky Arnold and Terry Norrid will share the quarterbacking duties.

Who will win the conference title? "I think Portageville will blow everyone off the field, "Phillips said.

PORTAGEVILLE

When coach Jim McKay surveys his football team practices, what does he see? Good ballplayers are there, and that is good. There are only 21, and that is not good.

The entire backfield is returning at Portageville, except for quarterback Chris Foster. Randy Williams, Jim Bradfield and Mark Cross will be the backs this season. Another back sure to play a lot is 195-pound reserve Jim Holt. All are good runners with good speed.

The offensive line is slightly on the small side. The starters will average 170 pounds per man on offense, but the defense will be more than big enough at 190 pounds per man, and all are tried veterans.

Returning linemen include Gerald Eftink, Johnny Haynes, and Steve Harmon who will provide the nucleus of a team that could have a shot at the 2-A state playoffs by the end of the year. Also returning is end Mark Gervin, the leading pointmaker in the Southern conference last year. Robbie Inman, last year's backup quarterback will head the offense this year. With the many wide margins in Bulldog wins last year. Inman got a lot of playing experience and is not entirely untried.

With the veteran backs returning, Portageville will try to run as much as pass this year, something they didn't do as well last year.

Looking at the conference, McKay noted, "Dexter and Caruthersville are very strong and Hayti must rate as a darkhorse."

However, the consensus of most coaches in the area is, barring injury, Portageville is the team to beat. The title may very well be decided on Sept. 15, when Portageville travels to Dexter and takes on the Bearcats. It should be quite a contest.

Arkansas To Lose

NEW YORK (AP) — Will Nebraska get off on the right foot in its quest for an unprecedented third consecutive national championship?

Is second-ranked Colorado strong enough to overtake the Cornhuskers?

Will Southern California or Arkansas bite the dust in the first match-up of Top Ten teams?

Can Toledo extend its 35-game winning streak, second longest in modern times?

Who'll win out in the American League East?

Oops, wrong sport. The sport we're concerned with is college football, which will start answering some of the first four questions when the 1972 season gets under way this weekend.

We'll try to answer some in advance with the first selections of the year. Last year's regular-season record had enough right answers for a .720 percentage.

Nebraska at UCLA—The Cornhuskers have a 23-game winning streak and an unbeaten string of 32 games and they know that if they want that third national crown UCLA better stand for U-Can't-Lose-Any. Nebraska has dropped both previous meetings with the Bruins, but those games were in 1946 and 1948. This is 1972. Nebraska.

California at Colorado—Hmmm. Did you know that Colorado has never beaten California, losing the only clash in 1968? That should change, too. Colorado.

Southern California at Arkansas—Southern Cal has never beaten Arkansas, if you must know. Of course, Arkansas has never beaten Southern Cal. In fact, this is their first meeting and it should be quite a start. Arkansas hopes to ride Joe Ferguson's strong right arm to the national championship but the suspicion exists in this corner that John McKay may be building a powerhouse out in ... Southern California.

Toledo at Tampa—Wouldn't it be a scintillating debut for Tampa if the Spartans debuted as a major football school by ending Toledo's three-year winning streak? It would, and it says there they will. Tampa.

Duke at Alabama—Alabama came within one game—that 38-6 loss to Nebraska in the Orange Bowl—of the 1971 national title, but it pretty much of a surprise. Bear Bryant was pointing toward 1972 as the year the Crimson Tide rolled in ... Alabama.

Tennessee at Georgia Tech— The Rambling Wreck put up quite a struggle last season before bowing 10-6 and they'd like to make Bill Fulcher a winner in his first game as Tech's fifth coach in history. This is the first TV game of the season. Keep your eye on ... Tennessee.

Florida State at Pitt—Florida State's pass-happy Gary Huff against Pitt's new Wishbone ground game. Pitt is suspect on defense, which means Huff could have a field day. Florida State.

Houston at Rice—Rice almost caught Houston looking ahead to Arizona State a year ago but the Cougars prevailed 23-21. The same situation exists this time ... with the same result. Houston.

Temple at Syracuse—In its second year as a major football school, Temple could be the surprise team in the East. So, for that matter, could ... Syracuse.

Auburn at Mississippi State— What will Auburn do without Pat Sullivan and Terry Beasley? Lose, most likely. Mississippi State.

Pinch Hitters Set Home Run Table

BEST DRESSED TABLES competition in New York was won this year by the Pinch Hitters of the St. Louis Cardinals. The two who set the table are Mrs. Rosanne Delsing, president of the charitable organization, and Mrs. Jean Wilks. They used blue and white checkered cloth, red plates, red loaf pan and red casserole. The table's title: "After the ballgame."

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

A funny thing happened at the Best Dressed Tables competition in New York. It was won by pinch hitters for the St. Louis Cardinals. As a matter of fact it was almost a shut-out.

The Cardinals had been invited by Mermod Jaccard King, a jewelry store in St. Louis, to dress a table in the regional contest. The St. Louis Pinch Hitters, a group formed 10 years ago by the Cardinals and other people connected with baseball, to raise money through the sport for charity, took over the table-setting task. They won the event. After that it was a walk.

Two lively, pretty Pinch Hitters, Rosanne Delsing, its president, and Jean Wilks, were assisted in the table project, they explained, by Mrs. Stan London, wife of the Cardinals' team physician.

One of 16 entries, as each announcement brought them further honors, they chorused "Oh, my . . . no, I can't believe it," and at the end, "It is almost embarrassing." They meant it. It was a rout. In addition to the $1,000 first prize given to them for charitable use by Gorham, sponsors of the event, they won six of the 11 individual prizes, silver pitcher, bowls, platters, given by magazines — American Home, House Beautiful, House and Garden, Modern Bride, McCalls, Town and Country. More than 150 editors judged the main event.

Their winning, friendly looking table wore a light-blue and white checkered cloth over a white undercloth, red plates with clear edges, clear crystal, blue napkins, chunky red candlesticks and English Tipt silverware. A red enameled loaf pan held bread and a great big enameled red casserole held red, white and blue flowers with three little Cardinals perched atop baby's breath. The bird motif and the "after the ballgame . . ." title of the table were the only clues to the baseball tie-in. The ladies resisted the obvious — baseballs, pennant flags, replicas of baseball diamonds. They might have used Stan Musial's trophies which were offered by his wife. "But we were afraid to risk borrowing them," explained Rosanne, whose husband Jim had been a Cardinal. After Chicago and Kansas City, he gave up playing the game to spend more time with his wife and five children.

Pinch Hitters has raised $90,000 for retarded children in 10 years, most of it by holding Ball-B-Ques, Jean and Rosanne explained. The fund-raising event includes ballgame, cocktails, buffet and a fashion show with the Cardinals' wives modeling.

Their winning table was typical of a new look in table decor, a kind of elegance that combines naturalness with good taste. In commenting on this 12th annual event, Raymond Artabasy, a Gorham vice president, and originator of the Best Dressed Tables competition, summed up the look when he mentioned that this year's tables seemed "to talk" in creative expressions that seemed to say "Welcome," "come again." Friendliness. It is what entertaining is all about. Or should be.

It was evident in many simple settings:

. . . The large cylindrical-shape glass bowl filled with layers of colorful beans, dried corn, sunflower seeds, surrounded by dried mushrooms, onions, shafts of wheat, the centerpiece on a hand tie-dyed beige and brown cloth in the entry of second place winner, Mrs. Robert Baker of McMurray, Pa.

In the china, placemats, napkin rings, salts, peppers and even the table and floor-length tailored cloth all in square shapes in the third place winning entry, "Square Meal" of Mrs. James Palazzola and Mrs. Douglas Bitson of Grand Rapids.

. . . The wooden look of a Honolulu table by Mrs. Edward Fugle: plates, napkin rings and breadboard of wood with brownish stoneware coffee service and a basket of beautifully polished vegetables set on an off-white burlap cloth.

. . . A paper table by Mrs. Carl Rubin and Mrs. Eugene Greenwald of Cincinnati. A black and white peace motif runner was stretched across red floor-length paper. Paper plates and cups were black with white bamboo motif. Red and black casseroles . . . a centerpiece of poppies and leaves . . . silver goblets really set this table off.

. . . A tablecloth with a vote-vote design in red, white and blue, with straw hats and vote hatbands, stuffed elephant and donkey, provided an election day theme by three Milwaukee women.

. . . Rosemary for remembrance, a porcelain figure of Hamlet, a theater program, sparkling goblets with La Scala flatware was a romantic supper table by Mrs. James Sousoulas of Memphis.

. . . A handmade Tiffany-style shade set the pattern for Mrs. Michael Miller and Mrs. James Moses of Denver. The white felt tablecloth had cutouts backed with colored plastic to resemble those colors in the shade.

KNOB NOSTER--Major Darrell G. Musgraves, son of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Musgraves of Advance, has been recognized for helping his Strategic Air Command (SAC) wing earn the U.S. Air Force Outstanding Unit Award.

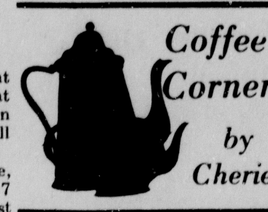
Major Musgraves is a missile operations officer with the 351st Strategic Missile Wing at Whiteman AFB, Mo. The wing received the award for exceptionally meritorious service from July 1969 through June 1971.

The 351st was cited for overall mission performance and effectiveness during the two-year award period. The wing was recognized for 10 years of accident-free operations, for winning top honors as the best missile wing in SAC for 1971, for capturing the coveted Blanchard Trophy in the 1971 Missile Combat Competition and for scoring high on operational readiness inspections.

He will wear a distinctive service ribbon as a permanent decoration to mark his affiliation with the unit.

Major Musgraves, a 1955 graduate of Advance Consolidated High School, attended the University of Missouri at Rolla and received his B.G.S. degree in 1971 from the University of Nebraska at Omaha.

The major, a 15 year Air Force veteran, was commissioned in 1960 upon completion of Officer Candidate School. His wife, Barbara, is the daughter of Guy D. Clark of Advance.



Coffee Corner by Cherie

It really doesn't take a lot to make me happy or give me pleasure; really, if I could only have a few of the simple things in life going for me how contented I could become and how joyous life would be for example:

the boys getting to school in the mornings with their lunches and their last night's homework in their hot little fists instead of left on the kitchen table at home —

the dog learning what grass is for — plastic thread that doesn't come out of the hems of all your new clothes as soon as they've been laundered once —

a corkscrew that works —

beds that are made in the morning by hands other than your own —

an occasional good movie — a movie you could send the kids to see on Saturday afternoon —

a bank balance that balanced —

Appliances that could be counted on to continue working even after the warranty had expired on them —

a phone bill that I wouldn't have to hide from Charles —

groceries that would meet the budget —

a garden with no weeds and, or grass that never needed mowing —

A VERY SEASONAL WHAT-IS-IT photo—not pineapples or sea urchins but grains of ragweed pollen, 7,500 times larger than actual size as magnified by a scanning electron microscope at the Atomic Energy Commission's Brookhaven National Laboratory. Trillions of the tiny grains, in actual size averaging .0008 of an inch in diameter, released into the air in late summer mean respiratory misery for millions.

Malden Increases Fees

MALDEN — An ordinance revising the annual privilege license tax for business and professional firms was approved Monday night by the City Council. The ordinance increases the amount of tax charged to do business in Malden and includes several new categories.

Almost all retail firms will be taxed on their annual gross sales. Other businesses and professions will be charged a flat fee.

Here is the breakdown on the gross sales license tax.

On less than $20,000 gross sales $25 per year. (unchanged)

$20,000 to $50,000 gross sales $50 per year. ($20 increase).

$50,000 to $75,000 gross sales $75 per year. ($33 increase).

$75,000 to $100,000 gross sales $100 per year. ($46 increase).

$100,000 to $150,000 gross sales $150 per year. ($75 increase).

Over $150,000 gross sales $200 per year ($110 increase).

$25 PER YEAR

Barber shops, beauty parlors, beauty schools, dray license, electricians, miniature golf links, painting contractors, plastering contractors, plumbers, shoe shops, skating rinks and undertakers.

$50 PER YEAR

Architects, artists, auctioneers, billiard and pool halls (plus $5 per table over four tables), brokers, cleaners and pressers, collection agencies, express companies, exterminators of termites and rodents, Insurance agents, loan agents, insurance and loan agents (per business, plus $5 for each agent, representative or solicitor over one), laundries and agencies, loan agents, loan companies, manufacturers having less than five employees, nursery stock agents, photographers, real estate agents, loan agents and real estate and loan agents (per business, plus $10 for each agent, representative or salesman over one who is associated or connected with such business), sewing machine agents, taxicabs, tenpin alleys, bowling alleys and similar enterprises (plus $5 for each alley over four).

$100 PER YEAR

Building contractors, freight agencies; horse and cattle dealers, stockyards, sales or sales barns, barns used for purpose of selling horses, cattle or other livestock; insurance companies; manufacturers having from 5 to 25 employees; pawnbrokers, street contractors and paving contractors.

$200 PER YEAR

Banks; manufacturers having 50 to 150 employees.

$150 PER YEAR

Manufacturers having 25 to 50 employees.

$300 PER YEAR

Manufacturers having more than 150 employees.

OTHERS

Canvassers, house-to-house, including magazine salesmen, $10 per day; carnivals and street fairs, $300 per week; circuses $100 per day; fortune tellers $100 per day; Fortune tellers $100 per day; hawkers and peddlers $5 per day or $30 per year; hotels, tourist courts and motels, $5 per room per year; telephone companies $10,000 per year.

All license fees are due October 1 and become delinquent and subject to a $10 penalty October 15.

Mail Box

In the 1950's I made a check to see what was bothering both me and my business and from results decided one of the main reasons for my problems was the philosophy and actions of our government. To remedy this I came up with 24 suggestions.

In 1964 these 24 ideas were expanded to 36. As I believe they are of interest to many people the ideas have been reprinted and you will find a copy attached. After checking and reading them, if you also have problems do you believe they might make a good New Year's resolution to get members of government to adopt and perhaps both of us will have less problems in 1972, phases or no phases. If you agree, perhaps you will see that these not only get some publicity but help to get them adopted.

John Frier

To the President, Vice President, U. S. Senators and Members of the House of Representatives

Perhaps this is the opportune time to review, not only our philosophy of what is the proper role of government, but also to check previously enacted legislation as well as that which will presently be proposed. It may appear, in the past, most legislation has been enacted for the special benefit of small groups and at the expense of the people as a whole.

With that in mind, the following suggestions are made to remedy the situation.

I. Government spending and waste to be reduced, so we be spared present excessive taxation.

II. Foreign "ADE" be limited to friendly countries where it does US good, then not squandered.

III. Defense contractors give us full value on items they make for our defense.

IV. Postoffice give better service than it does and which now costs more than ever.

V. All government employees give an honest days work for pay they receive.

VI. Fewer dollars and more sense be put in Farm Program.

VII. Federal government not enter educational or medical field under any guise whatsever.

VIII. Washington should not enter Urban Renewal, Transit and other purely local problems.

IX. Persuasive positive, rather than apologetic negative attitude, be used in foreign dealings.

X. Subversives, inepts, incompetents and unnecessary employees to be removed.

XI. Conflict of interest law be enacted applying same penalties to government officials or employees who offer to grant or withhold favors to influence congressional voting that would be applied to ordinary civilians under similar circumstances.

XII. The Constitution be amended to have Supreme Court and other officials now appointed for life be reconfirmed by Senate, four and ten years after first appointment. Secret ballot and 60% negative vote required to retire.

XIII. Money spent for defense be used for that purpose and not to further ideological sociological or regional programs.

XIV. To reduce costs by awarding all government contracts on competitive basis. That an incentive rather than a penalty be offered by repealing Walsh- Healey, Davis- Bacon Acts and prevailing wage laws, and taking default clause out of General Supply contract.

XV. All able bodied persons drawing unemployment, "ADE", welfare and other money for work not done, be required to put in equivalent time on projects benefitting the community.

XVI. That persuasion replace coercion, in labor problems, by outlawing the picket line.

XVII. All Governors make a determined effort to have returned to the States, rights originally granted by the Constitution; that they try to eliminate so- called matching funds, relying on State's own resources to solve its problems; that Federal taxes be reduced so states willhave more revenue; and that States tax money is spent both wisely and frugally.

XVIII. Before any law is passed spending money, determination be made where those paying for it, will in turn get the money.

XIX. Inheritance taxes be reduced so it is possible for owners to pass on a business intact and not be forced to sell, liquidate, merge or turn over assets to foundation or fund in order to preserve the business.

XX. Upon enactment of above, life of Foundation or Trust for charitable, educational and similar purposes be limited to 15 years and those for an individual to 5 years after death of beneficiary.

XXI. Clarification as to extent rulings of boards, commissions and executive orders make the "law of the land".

XXII. Government urge increased productivity be translated into lower prices, rather than higher wages.

XXIII. Cities reduce their problems by making it less attractive for the shiftless to live there.

XXIV. The government act solely as an umpire and not as a participant.

XXV. To provide jobs for the dropouts and all poorly educated youths, the minimum wage law be not applied to those under 21 years of age.

XXVI. The 16th Amendment be repealed, and unless section XII above is also acted upon favorably, the 14th Amendment also be repealed.

XXVII. Citizens be given the right of initiative and referendum in national affairs.

XXVIII. A citizen to be eligible to run for the US Senate, must, in addition to the previous requirements, be, for at least four years, a voting resident of the state he wishes to represent.

XXVIV. The election for office of President and Vice President of the U.S. be held at a time separate from any other election, either state or national.

XXX. That terms of Congressmen be changed to four years and election held in even years not divisible by four.

XXXI. We might get a better class of officeholders if voting a straight ticket were prohibited and each candidate voted on individually.

XXXII. That as long as income and withholding tax continue, information be taken from the quarterly report filed by each employer (Form 941) but the amount due be both billed and collected by IRS.

XXXIII. Until income tax is repealed, agents of IRS be prohibited from violating both IV, V, & IX rights of the taxpayer in wantonly checking bank records without a court order; and then having to state specifically what is the information they are looking for, and not be given a blanket search warrant. In the meantime, banks at least have the common decency to notify their depositor of fact his records are being checked.

XXXIV. Right to a trial by jury be reaffirmed, even in so-called cases of administrative laws.

XXXV. It be made possible to reconvene congress by signature of 25% of members of both Senate and House.

XXXVI. That means be devised to place an eternal flame over the last resting place of Patrick Henry, each signer of the Declaration of Independence, Hamilton, Jefferson, Lincoln and our other illustrious forebearers without whose fortitude and effort there would today be no U.S.A.

14 Pass Driver Tests

PORTAGEVILLE — Operator licenses were authorized for 14 more New Madrid Countians following driver tests given in Portageville, according to Examiners for the highway patrol, who said they also qualified one for a motorcycle operator license and issued seven instruction permits.

Examiners said 33 persons appeared for the state tests and that 11 of them failed; four on the written part and seven on the road portion.

Passing and authorized for Missouri Motor Vehicle Operator licenses were Theresa Hulshof, Frederick A. Phillips, Dennis W. Bland, Rondal K. Mathenia, Pamela A. Bivins, Karla J. Jones, Stephen W. Dawson, James E. O'Connor, Laurel K. Tyler, Jimmy F. Kimball, Michael T. Davidson, Lynn R. Lewis, Betty J. Smith and Elvine C. Blankenship.

Ricky W. Thompson was qualified for a motorcycle operator license.

Instruction permits were issued by the Examiners to Ella L. Stewart, Cynthia E. Gammons Paula D. Noblitt, Charles E. Reed, Bernice Thomas, James E. Nellem and Johnny E. Nimmo, Jr.

Dear Mr. Blanton,

On behalf of the Sikeston Public Schools I wish to thank you for the newspaper article informing the students of our school about the textbook check- out schedule in August.

Your splended cooperation in this matter contributed to the smooth opening of the 1972-73 school year.

Very truly yours,

Sir:

I have resisted for lo these many years the impulse to take pen in hand and impart to the editor — any editor — the pearls of wisdom from my magnificent mind. In recent years, however, while reading your editorial page, I have often been impressed by the high quality of citizenship, and even of statesmanship shining out of this page for the thoughtful reader to ponder. On these occasions I was tempted to write and compliment you on the superb quality of your American Citizenship. But I did not and you may understand why.

Now, however, I have a valid reason for this letter — your invitation today to your readers to comment on the Jack Anderson column. I know the kind of journalist he is, and Drew Pearson was, and I don't need them. I'd rather see your editorials and jokes.

Most sincerely

PSALM OF NIXON

Nixon is my shepard, I shall not want
He leadeth me beside the steel factories
He restoreth my doubts in the Republican Party
He guideth me to the path of unemployment, for the party's sake
He annointest my wages with freezes so that my expenses runneth over my income.

Surely poverty and hard living shall follow
the Republican party
And I shall live in a rental house forever.

Five thousand years later, F. D. R. said,
Lay your shovel down, sit on your ass,
light up a camel, this is the Promised Land.

Today Nixon will tax your shovel,
sell your camel, kick your ass,
and tell you there is no promised land.

P.S. I am glad I am an American
I am glad I am free
But, I wish I were a little doggie
And Nixon was a tree.

Sent in by Mrs. Ray Welborn (79 year old Republican) from her son- in-law, Russell boone of Flint, Mich.

Dear Editor:

Did you know that you have helped guarantee $373,000,000.00 in 40- year "loans" for Foreign Aid? Well, you have, and these "loans" are to be repaid in dollars within 40 years, including a 10-year grace period when no repayment of principal is required. The interest rate on these "loans" is only 2 percent during the 10- year grace period and 3 percent for the final 30 years. We will have to borrow this $373,000,000.00 at about 6 or 7 percent when we or our children are forced to pay off these guarantees, since it is a 1000 to 1 bet these loans will never be repaid!

Also, it is probably only a matter of minor importance that we just gave Bangladesh about $218,070,000.00, of which, for some unknown reason, the impotent United Nations received $35,300,000.00 cash.

Oh well, after all, what.s a few million dollars of your hard earned tax money among politicians!

Sincerely,
C. C. Moseley

Dear Sir:

Having the pleasure of working with First Sergeant Clifton E. Johnson, and Master Sergeant E7 Walter D. Deason, for the period of 3 thru 24 August 1972, I would appreciate the following paragraphs to appear in your newspaper.

Every year, in the summer, the National Guard performs annual training for two weeks. Depending on the type of unit their tasks varv from medical services to being prepared for a national emergency ... like Korea, floods, earthquakes, riots or any state emergency that may arise. But after the National Guard performs their services who is left? Does anyone ever support the National Guard? Certainly, The United States Army Reserve.

1SG Clifton E. Johnson, and MSG Walter D. Deason of the United States Army Reserve have been supporting the National Guard in the following manner. Having a combined total of over 52 years of service between the two individuals, they have provided supportive services to the National Guard since 1956. Each year they process filler personnel (that have a reserve duty obligation) into National Guard units to perform active duty for the summer.

This year while only 200 men processed into Kansas National Guard units, during their tour of duty 1SG Johnson, and MSG Deason, helped process the crux of support for the Kansas units at Camp Guernsey, Wyoming. Enabling the Kansas units to perform their primary mission of artillery training.

1SG Clifton E. Johnson, first entered the service on January 10, 1943, for duty in WW II. Has served in Korea, and is decorated with the Bronze Star for meritorious service in WW II, and numerous other citations.

MSG Walter D. Deason, first entered the service January 24, 1951, for duty in the Korean Conflict. He is decorated with the Presidential Unit Citation for service with the Famous 76th Engineers, part of the Eighth Army, and various other service medals for his outstanding service.

In most instances 1SG Johnson, and MSG Deason have given up their jobs and family for the past 22-30 years to perform this service to the nation. I commend them highly for they are part of the back- bone of this nation. They should be thanked and respected for the services they perform, not only to the National Guard, but to the State of Missouri, and to the United States of America.

Sincerely,

Timothy J. Terriere

Dear Sir:

In regard to Jack Anderson's artical Washington Merry Go Round, I had begun to lose interest before the lie he published on Eagleton. He was finding too much smut from hidden places for it to all be true. Besides it was generally too late to do anybody any good. But some of it was interesting to the enemy.

But when he jumped on to a clean man when he was already down, with that bold face lie that could do no one any good, well that finished him with me and I almost came writing you at the time. I say so far as I am concerned throw the heel out.

SHADOW INSULTED

ISTANBUL (AP) — The moral of this story is to be careful where you walk in Turkey.

An 18-year-old boy in Izmit, western Turkey, took offense when two friends trod on his shadow, considered insulting by Turkish villagers.

Rahmi Sarpay pulled out a pistol and shot one of them four times and the other five. Both are in a serious condition in an Izmit hospital.

Highway Department To Emphasize Primary Road Improvement

JEFFERSON CITY -- Missouri's highway program, concentrated on the development and construction of interstate highways in the 60s, will undergo a shift in emphasis in the 70s, according to Lyle MacLaughlin, assistant chief highway engineer, Missouri State Highway Department.

"Missouri's interstate system is now in relatively good shape," MacLaughlin said. "The emphasis of the 70s will be the primary roads. About 60 per cent of the primary roads were built more than 30 years ago and have long been neglected with the result that many of them are inadequate for today.s volumes."

The highway department engineer said that more than one- third of Missouri's road system is now deficient or will be deficient in 10 years at present operating speeds. Other deficiencies in the system include inadequate passing sight distance, deficient shoulder widths, and general inability to provide for the capacity they carry. It is these things the highway department plans to correct.

To assist with this and other highway department projects, the Missouri Legislature approved an increase in the state gas tax from 5-cents to 7 cents during the past session. That increase, which became effective August 13, leaves the state of Texas alone as the only state in the nation with a 5-cent tax, the lowest in the nation. Missouri's tax is still below the national average and the lowest with the exception of Texas, in the U.S.

Missouri's road system, which now covers about 32,000 miles, is the seventh largest highway system in the U.S.

In the decade prior to the 60s, the highway department's focus was on the farm to market roads. In 1952, the State Highway Commission agreed to take over numerous county roads and improve them without cost to the county, if the county furnished the rights of way. The state thus inherited about 12,000 miles of unimproved roads. It guaranteed that in 10 years a state road would pass within two miles of 90 per cent of all rural units. (A rural unit being a church, store, farmhouse, etc.) Eleven years were required to complete the project, but the roads extended to 95 per cent of all rural units.

In the beginning, most of these roads were constructed with a granular surface. As the roads stabilized and usage increased, the highway department took on an oiling project to provide dust- free surfaces to the roads. Now the entire 24,000 mile supplementary system is dust free.

During the construction period, many existing bridges were used as they were due to a lack of funds. Bridge replacement, as a consequence, has accounted for substantial amounts of the department's funds since the program ended.

Now the emphasis in the supplementary system is on the heavier traveled systems which have become obsolete through the years. A priority system is in effect which calls for improvements on these roads as time and money allows.

A Look Behind the Kissinger Scenes

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) Dr. Henry Kissinger did not make his quickie trip to Saigon because of a breakthrough at the Paris peace talks on Vietnam.

It can be said with authority this meeting with President Thieu of South Vietnam had been arranged before Kissinger's secret session with Hanoi's Le Duc Tho in Paris. The Kissinger second-day meeting with Thieu, advertised as "unexpected," had also been arranged in advance.

But recently captured documents reveal North Vietnamese commanders in the South have been ordered to make preparations for an early cease-fire. They are to divide their troops into two categories. One group would stay aboveground and available for movement back to whatever cease-fire lines are decided on.

But selected cadre from each unit are to make preparations for going underground, and to stay behind when "all" North Vietnamese troops officially march to the agreed cease-fire areas.

At the same time, men close to the secret Paris talks say the North Vietnamese meeting with Kissinger in Paris have not modified their stiff surrender demands in the slightest. They still insist on a coalition government dominated by Communists, an American-arranged throw-out of Thieu, complete U.S. withdrawal from Indochina and an end to U.S. aid for Saigon.

Mr. Nixon is still holding out against any give-in or face-saving compromise with Hanoi which would amount to giving the Communists what they demand. But this Nixon determination may not last for long.

Kissinger did discuss new possibilities with Thieu in Saigon. Time is running short before election day. Despite the public opinion polls showing him the heavy favorite, Mr. Nixon is nervous about November, remembering past upsets.

Therefore Mr. Nixon has a choice to make. He may decide soon that any sort of a peace is better than no peace at all. He may decide to hold firm with his present course. He may attempt to straddle.

Some men close to the White House believe that what Mr. Nixon does will be determined by Sen. George McGovern's strength over the next month. If the South Dakotan's popularity rises sharply, and the electoral vote of key states seems in doubt, then Mr. Nixon, these men expect, will come up with new proposals more to Hanoi's liking.

The North Vietnamese seem to hold a similar view. Hanoi's representatives abroad have informed associates and Communist leaders in Western Europe, Asia and elsewhere they are convinced Mr. Nixon believes he must have a settlement by October to be absolutely sure of winning the presidential election in November. They have told these contacts in foreign lands they are going to wait Mr. Nixon out — wait for him to surrender to their demands with some face-saving "compromise" formula.

The attitude of the North Vietnamese in the secret Paris sessions with Kissinger tends to confirm these reports. Le Duc Tho and his associates are tougher, more fixed in their attitudes even than in the past, if that is possible.

Interestingly, it is not the cocky, almost sneering attitude of the sessions which followed Kissinger's trip to the Soviet Union. Then, the North Vietnamese were patronizing and offended Kissinger so deeply he found it most difficult to control his anger in private when he returned to the United States. The North Vietnamese are polite and courteous enough in these latest secret talks.

But they are firm, and appear certain they will get their way in the end, or so it seems to some men close to the picture.

Armed Forces

FT. SAM HOUSTON, TEX. (AHTNC)-Army Pvt. John T. Worley, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Worley,Route Five Searcy, Ark., completed today a 10-week medical corpsman course at the U.S. Army Medical Training Center, Ft. Sam Houston, Tex.

He learned to perform routine patient care and treatment duties in combat areas, hospital units, dispensaries, clinics and other medical facilities. He also received instruction in the transportation of sick and wounded by ground, air and water means.

Pvt. Worley entered the army in March 1972 and completed basic training at Ft. Polk, La.

He attended Searcy High School and received a E.S. degree in business administration in 1971 at Arkansas State University, Jonesboro.

His wife, Phyllis, lives in Sikeston.

WASHINGTON, D.C. (Ahtnc) Army Lt. Col. James R. Miller, son of Lt. Col. (USA, RET.) and Mrs. William G. Miller, 209 William St., Sikeston, enrolled Aug. 7 in the 10-month graduate-level course in National Security at the industrial college of the Armed Forces, Ft. Lesley J. Mcnair, Washington, D.C.

Senior military officers from all the military services and civilian executives of the Federal Government are selected to attend the college.

The Industrial College of the Armed Forces operated under the Joint Chiefs of Staff and stands at the highest level of the military educational system. The resident course, which emphasizes the management of national resources, is designed to further develop selected military officers and civilian executives for positions of high trust in the National Security Structure.

Col. Miller is scheduled to complete the course in June 1973.

Prior to entering the college he was assistant secretary of the General Staff, Headquarters, U.S. Army Materiel Command, Washington D.C.

He holds the Legion of Merit, the Meritorious Service Medal, two awards of the Bronze Star Medal and four awards of the Army Commendation Medal.

He received his doctorate of business administration from the George Washington University in 1970 and his B.S. degree from the U.S. Military Academy, West Point, N.Y.

He and his wife, Diane, live at 2519 Fowlers Lane, Reston, Va.

CHANGING LIFE OF WILLIAM & MARY

LONDON (AP) — Mary, the mallard duck, apparently decided that 600 eggs was enough. She turned into a drake.

Mary, 15-year-old pet of Alfred Gooch, of Woodbridge, Suffolk, started her sex change by growing bright black, blue and white feathers. Then she produced a black curling tail feather and white collar, like her male companion, William, and stopped laying eggs.

Fischer Early For A Change

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — World chess champion Bobby Fischer made an about face in his usual pattern and showed up early at a reception hosted by President Kristjan Eldjarn.

The Brooklyn chess whiz arrived at the old farmhouse which serves as the Iceland president's residence 10 minutes early Tuesday night in the company of Sademundur Palsson of Iceland.

A friend said Fischer had been greatly excited by the invitation from Eldjarn and had dressed quickly to be on time.

"This is not a chess game," Fischer was quoted as saying. "It's the president of Iceland."

During his match with Boris Spassky, Fischer was consistently late for the start of each game.

Boy Purchases Obsolete Library

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — After a $261 outlay and six truck trips, a Salt Lake City chemical engineer has an instant library — 17,000 outdated, battered, dog-eared books.

As Karl W. Joffs views his plunge into the library world, however, it was too good to pass up.

Joffs, 31, was high bidder this week for a collection the Salt Lake County Library declared obsolete.

"I just wanted to have a library," Joffs said, "and it seemed like a pretty good deal if the bid was accepted."

His literary loot includes 16 sets of encyclopedias and thousands of children's books, novels, nonfiction books and technical volumes. Many are a bit dog-eared. A few have missing covers, traces of jam or chewed pages and most are outdated.

"It may not be the greatest business investment," Joffs said, "but I expect it to change the children's lives. It gives them resources I only dreamed of as a child."

The dream-come-true is now more like a playground to Ryan, 1, Leah, 3, and Karla, 5. They spend as much time climbing over the book stacks as trying to read them, Joffs said. The piles take up half of a two-car garage and all of a basement rumpus room.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Sept. 6, the 250th day of 1972. There are 115 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1620, the Pilgrims sailed on the Mayflower from Plymouth, England, to settle in the New World.

On this date:

In 1899, the United States proposed an Open Door policy to give foreign powers equal trade rights in China.

In 1901, President William McKinley was shot by an anarchist in Buffalo, N.Y. He died eight days later.

In 1909, explorer Robert E. Peary sent word that he had reached the North Pole five months earlier.

In 1914, the first Battle of the Marne began in World War I.

In 1940, in World War II, King Carol II of Romania abdicated as the Germans prepared to occupy his country.

In 1966, Prime Minister Hendrik F. Verwoerd of South Africa was stabbed to death during a Parliament session in Capetown.

Ten years ago: The Soviet Union submitted its own plan for ending Katanga's secession from the Congo, calling on U.N. members to halt all aid to the Katanga rebels.

Five years ago: A strike by the United Automobile Workers halted production at Ford plants in the United States.

17 Dead At Munich

MUNICH (AP) — Authorities counted 17 persons dead today as a result of Arab terrorism and police action growing out of the Arabs' raid on Olympic Village. The dead included 11 men from the Israeli team at the Olympics, 5 terriorists and a West German policeman.

The Olympics were ordered to continue, resuming late today. Avery Brundage, the Olympic chief, said: "We cannot allow a handful of terrorists to destroy this nucleus of international cooperation and good will that we have in the Olympic movement. The games must go on."

Two of the Israeli team members, a coach and an athlete, died in the first outburst of terrorism when Arab terrorists invaded the Israeli quarters Tuesday. The other deaths came when a gun battle erupted at an airfield 20 miles from Munich as the terrorists and their Israeli hostages were ostensibly bound for a flight abroad.

Three Arabs were captured. A German helicopter pilot was seriously wounded.

The Olympics competitions are resuming at the point at which they were suspended Tuesday afternoon. That pushes each day's schedule back 24 hours—the closing ceremony will be held Monday instead of Sunday.

The Israeli team's 18 surviving members will leave for home Thursday. They would have left today, "but we couldn't make arrangements in time," an official said.

Brundage spoke at a memorial service in the Olympic Stadium for the 11 dead Israelis. He was to have met after the service with the full membership of the International Olympic Committee, but an informed source said the committee was canvassed before and during the ceremony and agreed the games should continue.

The stadium was packed with more than 80,000 West Germans for the service, while members of the Olympic teams filled the field.

Shortly before Brundage spoke, the chief of the Israeli team, Shmuel Lalkin, told the throng that "the sportsmen of Israel will continue to take part in Olympic competition in the spirit of brotherhood and fairness."

The guerrilla invasion of the Olympic billage early Tuesday ended late that night in a gun battle at a military airfield 20 miles northwest of Munich in which a West German Policeman and five of the terrorists also were killed, a German helicopter polot was seriously wounded and the other three Arabs were captured.

In the confusion of the night, one terrorist was believed to have escaped, but his body was found at the air base this morning.

Deputy Shoots Robber

NEW MADRID--Gary White, 23, of Blytheville, Ark., is hospitalized in Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston with a gunshot wound in his back, and David Elmore, 29, of Orange Tex., is in New Madrid County jail following a robbery at 11 p.m. Tuesday at the Sports Shop at Highway 61 and Scott streets.

Sheriff W.L. (Cowboy) Ramsey said George Bock and New Madrid County Deputy Sheriff Flip Dees, co-owners of the business, were in the shop when White walked in holding his hand under his shirt as though he had a gun. He demanded their money and a total of $12 was give him, including $9 from the Sports Shop, and Bock's wallet, containing $3. As White was leaving, Dees fired a shot, striking White in the back.

White and Elmore managed to escape in a pickup truck and started traveling south on Highway 61.

Howardville Marshall C.B. Carrathers who was passing the shop, was stopped and he and Dees pursued the pair to Howardville School, where White and Elmore were apprehended.

Dees had fired a shot which hit the truck.

The money was recovered and Bock's wallet, in which a $100 bill was hidden, and later discovered, was returned.

Sheriff Ramsey said no weapon was found.

The men told authorities they are employees of the Fred Hillhouse Towing Company of Houston, Tex., which is driving pilings in the Mississippi River, north of New Madrid.

Robbery charges are expected to be filed today against the men.

White's condition is not considered serious.

In Emergency Appropriations

Hearnes Asks For $23.5 Million

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes asked legislators today for $23.5 million in emergency appropriations, including $1 million for the public defender program and $7 million for increases in nursing home payments.

The requests were outlined in Hearnes' message as a special legislative session convened at 2 p.m.

Hearnes' special budget message also called for salary increases for highway patrolmen and judges, a $3.5 million appropriation for the University of Missouri.

But he did not ask for $3.3 million that the presidents of eight state colleges and universities had asked for.

His requests covered all the programs enacted but not funded in the regular legislative session last spring.

These included $1.2 million for junior colleges to raise state aid from $320 to $400 per student, $1.8 million to provide new college scholarships, $1 million for highway funds for highway patrol salary increases and $921,000 to finance pay raises for judges and court clerks.

The governor also asked for $1 million to restore the west side of the capitol, where here is crumbling concrete.

Hearnes, who was at the Southern Governors' Conference at Hilton Head Island, S.C., noted that the state has $26 million more than was expected when the legislature was in session last spring.

He said $18.6 million of the $23.5 million total would come from general revenue (tax money) and $4.8 million from other funds.

General revenue appropriations for the 1972-73 fiscal year total $833 million.

"If you adopt my recommendations," the governor said, "our general revenue balance at the end of this fiscal year on June 30, 1973, will be an estimated $33,475,911."

Most of the state's 197 legislators were reconvened for at least 10 days and not more than 60.

Regardless of the governor's money requests, lawmakers were to consider bills vetoed by the governor since the last session but there seemed to be little sentiment for an attempt to get a two-thirds majority vote to override any of the vetoes.

Appointments that call for Senate confirmation will be forthcoming, the governor's message said.

Several legislators have asked the governor to let the new governor make any key appointments, but Hearnes said many have to be made before he leaves office in January because legislation creating the positions call for appointments when the law becomes effective.

"Had the legislature intended that those positions be filled only at the beginning of a governor's term, rather than throughout his term, of the administration rather than being set to expire at varied times," the governor said.

"Under the new constitutional amendment on state reorganization, appointments not confirmed at this time would result in vacant positions which would jeopardize the work of several critical board and commissions."

Melton Resigns As Fire Chief

Fire Chief Charles Melton has resigned to take a job with Hart's Bakery. The resignation becomes effective Thursday.

Melton said he is taking a job in the company's sanitation department where he will earn more money.

He said he has been considering resigning for sometime and made his decision Tuesday.

Melton was appointed to the post in January. He replaced Dolph Webb, who was fire chief for two and a half years. Webb resigned under pressure from city officials when he tried to raise money for the volunteer fire department without city approval.

Webb had replaced L.D. Ramsey, who resigned in 1969 over a salary dispute.

By Working Overtime

Police Pay Increased

The City Council met with wives of Sikeston policemen Tuesday night as it mulled over City Manager Jim Huff's proposal for increasing police pay.

Huff's proposal was unanimously accepted by the council. It calls for allowing policement to volunteer for five hours overtime per week at time and a half, paying for training and court appearances and a clothing allowance increase from $120 to $240 per year.

Huff's proposal came after complaints from policement that their salaries were too low. A study by Huff showed that the median starting salary for police in the Bootheel is $5,640 compared to Sikeston Police Department's $4,850. The highest average salary for a patrolman is $6,920, compared to Sikeston's $6,350.

The police wives brought along family budgets to show the council just how badly they needed money. Each of the budgets showed the families going into the red. Pay checks are being used to pay, not next week's bills, but the bills of the previous two weeks.

One wife told the council that she and her husband were turned down on a loan for an $11,000 house because her husband was a policeman. She said they were told that policemen in Sikeston don't make enough money to pay their bills and that some loans made to policemen had been defaulted upon.

Huff called the proposal adopted by the council, only a temporary solution. He said he hoped that by the time the new budget was ready on May 1, 1973, a modified pay scale could be agreed upon.

If all the police work the extra hours, Huff said, the city will have 150 extra hours of protection. It will also give policemen an extra $60 to $80 per month in salary. The total package will cost the city $20,300.

If the money were being paid to police in the form of a pay increase, they would receive only $44 extra per month. This is because the city would have to hire two extra policement to receive the protection it would get from the overtime work. The city police force is currently two men under strength.

City officials said there may be a problem when it comes to finding the money for a pay raise next year.

The raise will probably be less than the overtime pay approved Monday night.

Mayor Frank Ferrell said, "Within the next year we will have to find some new sources of revenue."

In other business, the council rejected an ordinance which would have required the registration of all bicycles in the city. Councilmen said it was unenforceable and that registration should be voluntary.

The council accepted a bidy by W.S. McMullin Construction Co., for the paving of 500 feet of North Street. The bid of $5.30 per foot was the only one submitted.

The council approved the paving of Peach Tree Lane from Baker Lane to the dead end.

The council gave its support to the Missouri Municipal League Planning Association recommendations regarding extraterritorial planning and zoning powers for cities and requiring the dedication of land for public use in new subdivisions.

The extraterritorial planning and zoning proposal authorizes the city to control the use of land within a limited area outside of the city. The land dedication proposal would require that a certain amount of land be set aside by land developers as parks, schools, etc.

The Missouri legislature must pass both proposals for them to become law.

Featured event tonight of the 25th annual National Soybean Festival at 7:30 is a kiddie parade down Main Street. Cash awards of $5, $3 and $2 will be given in five different divisions.

DAEOC Gets Grant

PORTAGEVILLE-- The Delta Area Economic Opportunity Corporation in Portageville has received $27,630 of a total manpower grant to the state for $282,332. The announcement was made today by the U.S. Labor Department district office.

The Portageville grant will finance 10 enrollees in the Neighborhood Youth Corps out- of- school program.

Neal B. Hadsell, regional manpower administrator, said the total allocation will provide jobs, training or work experience for 359 Missourians.

Included are funds to extend the operation of seven ongoing projects of NYC. They will provide part-time, or in some cases, nearly full- time job opportunities for 343 disadvantaged youths.

Oakley Faces Arson Charge

Paul Wayne Oakley, 30, an assistant football coach and language arts teacher at Charleston High School, was arrested by Sikeston police Tuesday for alleged arson. He is charged with setting off the explosion and fire which destroyed his home Aug. 28 at 601 Ruth St.

His 22-year - old fiancee, Cheryl Lynn Young, was arrested for making a false statement to a police officer.

They were arrested by Detectives Leonard Campbell and Dan Hinton at 5 p.m. at the home of Oakley's brother, Bill Oakley, at 615 Delmar, where both had been living.

Oakley had just purchased the house and had reportedly spent the day before the explosion cleaning it and preparing to move in. Shortly after the explosion he was treated at Missouri Delta Community Hospital for burns of the hands, face and forearm. He told police he had tried to light a stove at his brother's house, and it blew up. He said the burns had nothing to do with the fire at his home.

Campbell said Oakley's story was full of holes and didn't check out. He and Hinton have taken several items to the crime lab in Cape Girardeau for analysis, Campbell said. He said they would be used for evidence.

Norman G. Crumpecker Jr., 24, of Morehouse Box 198, was arrested for possession of marijuana, public intoxication and resisting arrest.

Crumpecker has been a physical education teacher at the Foundation School in Marston for the past two years. He resigned this year. He now lists his occupation as a farmer.

Crumpecker was arrested in front of the Quick Shop on North Main. A field test of seeds found in his Volkswagen bus showed

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

HOLLYWOOD SAVES
THE U.S.S.R. MONEY

The Soviet Union used to spend loads of rubles on anti-American propaganda films. Attempts to show class strife were only moderately successful. For example, they might have a plutocrat in his chauffeur-driven limousine while a proletarian limps along in his three-year old Rambler. Well, that backfired because the average Russian would trade all of his Hero of the People merit badges for a car, regardless of year or model.

Now the Kremlin masters can save on anti-U. S. films. Hollywood is doing a much better job. The current Party favorite is THE GODFATHER, starring "progressive" Marlon Brando. THE GODFATHER is a good example of American decadence.

But that is not all. Brando is often quoted as saying that "the Mafia is so American." The gangster practice of shooting someone for business reasons, nothing personal, is likened to the policies of McNamara and Rusk. Nixon, Laird and Kissinger also easily fit in. This analogy originates with Brando. The Soviets are quick to pick it up.

He has been a favorite of theirs for years. His movie BURN was quite popular. In it, he is an agent of British monopolies, as 19th century vested interests were known. He incites African rebels to oust their Portuguese masters. When they do, the British take over. Years later, he is killed fighting these same rebels for the Empire.

BURN is an excellent example of the Marxist doctrine that while capitalists may fight among themselves, they unite when threatened. The Soviets claim that the firm was ignored in the West because of its politics. BURN is, however, immensley popular in Africa. The Communists were waiting for his new film on the American Indian.

Brando is hailed as an activist by the Soviets and lauded for his lavish donations to American minorities. It is not known whether Brando gives to the Czechs, Poles, Ukrainians or Russian Jews.

BANKROLLING
THE STRIKERS

Workers at Dow Chemical Co. plants in Bay City, Mich., have been on strike for six months. About eight out of 10 of the strikers are collecting weekly jobless pay from the state unemployment compensation fund. They are taking advantage of a 1968 court ruling which makes workers who take part-time jobs during a strike eligible for compensation when they are laid off. The benefits are charged against their primary employer, not against the "friendly" employer who gave them the temporary job. In the Dow case, as little as one day of interim work was necessary. Earnings were from $1 to $18. On the basis of that, strikers have been collecting an average of $79 a week.

The Bay City strikers are only one example of a trend that threatens to unbalance the whole collective bargaining process in the U.S.: By one device or another, more and more strikers are getting substantial public assistance. According to some estimates, food stamps and welfare aid for strikers could reach $304-million in 1973. Only two states, New York and Rhode Island, allow unemployment compensation to strikers, after substantial waiting periods. But elsewhere, more and more loopholes are being opened up by obliging legislatures or courts.

It will take action at both federal and local levels to deal with the problem. Congress should limit the food stamp program, which comes up for renewal next year, to low-income families who need help. State welfare administrators should apply the same standards in approving cases for public assistance. And legislatures should start reading the fine print in bills they pass so casually.

The U. S. needs a strong, fair, collective bargaining system. It does not need one in which employers are taxed to subsidize strikes against them.

It can be asserted with justification that advertising did more to free the American press than the Constitution itself.

Before modern retail advertising made newspaper publishing a profitable business, The American Press consisted of a multitude of unreliable political sheets supported by special interests with no concern for objectivity or the welfare of the whole community.

As retailing became a science, advertisers learned to concentrate their selling in newspapers which were most widely accepted by the public. Political and personal sheets began to disappear. The remaining newspapers became stronger and more independent. They became more responsive to public opinion, and the editor began to regard his position as a public trust.

The elimination of nebulous competing sheets resulted in better newspapers produced by much higher qualified personnel dedicated to publication of unbiased news. In most communities, one good, independent newspaper serves the public and differing viewpoints better than a group of squabbling, irresponsible, subsidized publications.

The change has been as helpful to local retailers as it has been to the general public. It has taken the choas out of the planning of advertising.

Emergence of a truly dominant hometown newspaper, has made it possible for the local retailer to concentrate his advertising in one medium which reaches the whole trade area with no duplication of costs.

Economically, it is impossible for the small city to support more than one good local newspaper. The retailer who spreads his advertising dollar to publications of questionable circulation and origin is not likely to serve himself or the public.

Those of us who drive today are survivors. Every day, thousands of other drivers who take to our highways aren't so lucky. They wind up victims of the motor car which, in its brief life, has already claimed more lives than all the wars in our history.

Half the deaths, injuries and property damage occurring on our highways every year stem from accidents in which alcohol is involved. For a long while, the effects of alcohol on accident rates lay buried in the very statistics of accidents. Alcohol was rarely listed as the "cause" of an accident. When, for instance, a drunk driver smashed into a tree at 80 m.ph., only "excessive speed" was likely to be entered as the cause on the official accident report.

But new research techniques and investigation procdures have finally exposed the drunk driver as the greatest menace on our highways. What can be done about this situation is outlined in the 1972 book of highway accident statistics compiled by The Travelers Insurance Companies. First of all, the books says, we have to overcome complacency. We must build public opinion to the point where drunk drivers will not be tolerated on our highways. And we can begin by examining our own opinions and feelings about this problem. The drunk has long been viewed as a comic character, harmless and amusing. But behind the wheel, he's a potential killer! And it is only in curbing this potential for destruction that we can ever hope to reduce the tragic toll of death and injury that each year mars our highways. The toll has been reduced in other countries. It can and must be reduced here.

We have the means at hand. But what seems lacking is a sense of urgency. Right now, a nationwide campaign is underway aimed at heightening public awareness of the dangers of the drunk driver and channeling public action against what has clearly become the greatest scourge in our nation's history.

One important development in this campaign occurred in 1966 when, under the provisions of an act passed by Congress, the Federal Government entered the field of highway safety. One of its first targets was the drinking driver.

The Travelers book, "Death by Ounces", notes that the drunk driver killed 27,000 men, women and children - almost double the number killed as the result of violent criminal acts.

He injured 2,350,000 others, many permanently. This represents an average of more injuries in one month than were sustained through crimes of violence for the entire year.

He was responsible for a daily economic loss amounting to nearly $20 million.

He caused suffering and grief that no one can begin to measure in terms of economic loss.

Research, surveys, new legislation, and action programs are all signs that we are at last moving to meet the problem of the drinking driver head on ... before it meets us on the road.

If you're looking for the secret of good health and long life, here's a classic bit of advice from the fabulous old Negro baseball pitcher, Satchel Paige:

"Avoid fried meats which angry up the blood.

"If your stomach disputes you, lie down and pacify it with cool thoughts.

"Keep the juices flowing by jangling around gently as you move.

"Go light, very light on the vices, such as carrying around in society. The social rumble ain't restful.

"Avoid running at all times.

"Don't look back. Something might be gaining on you."

54,000 men, women and children died in motor vehicle crashes during 1971. 4.7 million others were injured, many permanently.

And, in at least half of those deaths, alcohol was involved.

Until recently alcohol was rarely listed as the cause of an accident. But new research techniques and investigation procedures have finally exposed the drunk driver as the greatest menace on our highways.

So, we have a new statistic! What next?

Nex, according to commentary in The Travelers Insurance Companies latest compilation of highway accident statistics, we must overcome complacency. We must build public opinion to the point where drunk drivers will not be tolerated on our highways. It is apparent that the nation's alcoholics, who number only two per cent of all licensed drivers, are involved in a greatly disproportionate number of accidents. The examination of court records of drunk - driver cases shows that the majority of drinkers involved infatal crashes have long histories of problem drinking.

Laws alone cannot remove a drunk driver from the road, according to The Travelers booklet. Statistics show that a large percentage of drivers whose licenses have been suspended or revoked continue to drive. Effective enforcement must be balanced by rehabilitation programs which will benefit society and the problem drinker.

OPEN SESSIONS
CLEARLY WANTED

Whether or not the "Sunshine" amendment gets on the November ballot, it should now be plain to all Legislators that the citizens of Missouri want an open meetings law.

If they are to do what the people want and expect them to do, they will enact such a law at their next session, even if the amendment does not make it to the ballot.

Members of the Assembly seemed slighty more receptive toward such a law in the last session.

Perhaps with the outpouring of the desires of Missourians who signed the "Sunshine" initiative petitions, they will be able to pass an open sessions law.

Along with hundreds of thousands of other Missourians, we sincerely hope so. There never was any reason for secret votes by the Legislature or any other government bodies. Officials are merely hired by the people. As employees of the people, they are obligated to let their employers know what they are doing — at all times.

FREEDOM---
PERISHABLE COMMODITY

On the eve of the last Presidential election in 1968, a fear grew that a close contest could lead to a deadlock in the Electoral College and a protracted delay in the selection of the next President.

The fear proved groundless. As it had for 200 years, the mechanism of the Electoral College worked smoothly, and Mr. Nixon assumed office on schedule. However, this did not prevent a movement getting underway in Congress to abandon the Electoral College in favor of direct election of the President.

The so-called Bayh amendment to establish the direct election process passed in the House of Representatives while many people were still disturbed over what they considered to be a "near fiasco." Since the, as Time magazine put it, "...there have been some serious second thoughts ..." about the merits of the Bayh amendment. Theoretically, direct election of a President would be a simple process; but, as Time points out, "... opponents are arguing that it might well be even more chaotic ... than the Electoral College system." If there should be a deadlock among candidates in the direct election of a President, the loser would be compelled to ask for a nationwide recount of votes which could hold up the election outcome for weeks.

Time concludes, after a lengthy discussion of the direct election proposal, "Changing the method of electing a President will not merely change how votes are counted ... there is a possibility ... that the entire political makeup of the country might be affected in ways yet unanticipated..." Debate over methods of electing a President has shown representative government and the freedom we enjoy under it is a highly perishable commodity.

VICE-PRESIDENCY

Of the many who were considered for the nomination for Vice - President on the Democratic ticket after our favorite, Sen. Tom Eagleton, resigned as the candidate, Shriver is possibly the most fortunate choice that could have been made.

He has several things in his favor. He has had a successful business experience, he has been head of the Peace Corps and the campaign against poverty, he has been a successful ambassador, he has never held an elective office and therefore has made no enemies in an election, he belongs to the powerful Kennedy family and as such, has its personal and financial backing, he is an Easterner whereas McGovern is a Westener.

He will add strength to the McGovern and the Democratic national ticket.

IN POLLUTION CONTROL

Some $34 million is to be spent on an air quality program by Union Camp Corp., in Savannah, Ga.

This three-year project is aimed at achieving massive reduction of particulates and odor-causing compounds in air emissions at its pulp and paper complex.

Alexander Calder, Jr., president, said, "We believe this represents the largest commitment that has been made to environmental improvement at any existing facility in the industry. This will bring the total committed expenditures for environmental protection at Savannah to $56 million."

The project will involve the revamping of the mill's chemical recovery system and include construction of a new, giant recovery boiler and the refrubishment of two others to effect the major reductions in air emissions that result from pulping operations. The new boiler will permit the closing down of four old, smaller boilers.

A SELF-PORTRAIT

The traveling salesman, away for several weeks on a business trip, was elated over the snapshot his girl friend sent him. It showed her sunbathing at the beach, but looking somewhat forlorn.

The message on the back read, "Darling, this will show you how lonesome I am for you."

The salesman showed the picture to a business associate who, after reading the message, asked innocently, "If she's so lonesome, who do you suppose snapped that picture?"

THE QUOTA SYSTEM

The Democrats have done it and the Republicans are thinking about it. If the trend continues, the quota system will dominate our lives. We saw the quota system used by the Democrats in naming their delegates to the national convention in Miami Beach. Now come the Republicans saying they may follow suit in 1976. The system has been working in our private and governmental affairs for some time. Quality and excellence of performace on the part of the individual do not seem to matter any longer. Sex, race, religion and geographical location are all that count these days.

This may suit the current mood of politicians just fine, but it does not promote efficiency and production. The best man and best woman, regardless of race, color, creed, location or whatever, ought to get the job, for that is the person who will get the job done. Already we are losing our tremendous superiority in technology. Other nations have caught up and we are importing more products that ever before in history. This does not promote a healthy economy. All of this unbalance cannot be attributed to the quota system, but much of it can.

The politicians of both major parties should take a long look at the quota system before carrying it to even greater extremes. We need a revitalization of our political machinery. Representation by quota will not cure the problem any more than it has helped the educational system.

Some columnists have said that a number of delegates to the Democratic national convention went there on "the party dole." It has been predicted that the Republicans may try the same approach. It is the hope here that both major parties will forget the plan. We need fresh approaches to our national problems by the most competent people, regardless of their biological or economic status. NEW YORK (AP) — At 14 the childhood dream of Frank Yablans was to be a champion chicken flicker.

"In the Kosher poultry industry, you flick the feathers off chickens," he explained. "In the other kind you pluck them."

Frank never stayed in the poultry game long enough to win fame as a chicken flicker. But now at 37, as president of Paramount Pictures, he is the youngest head of a major Hollywood studio.

Yablans, a relaxed executive, is a product of the lower East Side here and came up the hard way.

He got up at 5 a.m. at the age of 12 to deliver newspapers from a small wagon.

"I'd always liked working," he said. "I never held a job I didn't come out of with a lot more experience. I got a lot out of everything I ever did. It fed my curiosity."

After a stint at the University of Wisconsin, where he studied business administration, and a two-year hitch in the Army, Yablans walked off the street into the office of Warner Bros. here and talked himself into a job as a management trainee at $32 a week.

Frank proved to be a genius at film distribution and just 15 years later was named head of Paramount at an annual income in six figures. Today he is convinced that a man's attitude toward his job is a key factor in his success.

"The biggest problem I had working as a young man," he said, "was that I always felt there was a way to do things better—and always met with a management reluctance to let me try it.

"Attitude is all-important in business. With the right attitude anything is possible. I'd rather hire a man with the right attitude than one with a spectacular I.Q."

Paramount Pictures reached its No. 1 role in the industry by producing back-to-back two of the most profitable and popular films of all time—"Love Story," and "The Godfather." What is the big problem Yanblans feels he faces now?

"Well, I guess it might be to come up with another picture that successful," he said smiling. "It would be nice to have three in a row."

Yablans doesn't dismiss, but tends to minimize the problems he faces.

"I'm not really worried about anything," he said cheerfully, "because I can always go back to chicken flicking. I understand they're paying three times now what they did when I was a boy."

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON– President Nixon's herculean effort to stop drug smuggling, at last, has slowed the flow of heroin from Turkey and Southeast Asia. But a new tidal wave is rising in Afghanistan, India and Pakistan.

Even our mideastern ally, Iran, has started to grow its own opium under government control, but the government may not be able to stop illegal shipments from being diverted to America.

This is the warning of the Central Intelligence Agency, which has also reported ominously: "Rumors persist that some members of the royal family and parliament are narcotics users. Swiss authorities recently charged an Iranian Prince, who accompanied the Shah to Switzerland, with having transferred pure opium to Geneva."

Secret documents from the CIA and other intelligence agencies describe dangerous opium buildups in South Asia. This could be a shot in the arm for the Mafia, whose supplies in Turkey and the Thailand-Laos-Vietnam area are slowly beginning to dry up.

The new smuggling menace was raised by the CIA's Directorate of intelligence in memos dated June 26 and June 9.

"Whether or not substantial quantities of South Asian opium are diverted to the U.S. and Western Europe will depend, in the final analysis, on the Western traffickers." reports the CIA.

"Tribal producers in Afghanistan and Pakistan undoubtedly would be willing to sell to Western traffickers . . .The potential for substantial diversions of opium westward exist. . . .

"Laxities in South Asia would offer a distinct advantage to international traffickers if they should decide to tap the South Asian opium market."

OPIUM GUM

In Afghanistan, production is up. Starving peasants, "lacking adequate food supplies because of recent droughts, have resorted to chewing opium gum to ease hunger pains."

In Pakistan, too, production "may have risen sharply since 1969." says the CIA. In both countries, "penalties for narcotics violations are minimal."

The intelligence documents also suggest that the Mafia would have no trouble corrupting officials in both countries.

In Afghanistan, the documents report, "official corruption including high-level protection of narcotics dealers is ...a problem" and "smuggling is a way of life"

In Pakistan, "official corruption is reported to be a serious problem" among the Land Customs, Sea Customs, provincial police and para-military forces.

Worse, "the existing hashish network in Afghanistan and Pakistan could be used to send substantial quantities of opium westward," warn the intelligence documents. Afghans already have "professional and sophisticated" means of getting hashish by air to Tehran, Beirut and Frankfurt and by sea to Karachi. Some has reached the United States.

As for India, the documents say it now produces about three quarters of the world's legal opium for medicinal purposes. The widely held view that India is effectively controlling its opium production is a "myth." the documents allege.

Iran still doesn't produce enough legal opium for the country's registered addicts, who receive the drug under a national program. But the opium harvest is increasing.

Meanwhile, allege the documents," the estimated 100-300 tons currently being smuggled into Iran, that could become available, exceeds the total opium equivalent needed to supply the United States Market."

DIPLOMATIC GRIEVANCES

Diplomats at the State Department have been complaining about undiplomatic treatment from their bosses. This week, the squabble among the striped pants set will boil over into a House Foreign Affairs subcommittee.

Chairman Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, is finally yielding to Senate pressure and holding hearings on a bill to give State Department workers an independent grievance board.

Two present and one former foreign service officers are breaking the gentleman's code of silence and spilling their woes.

One witness is John Hemenway, a conservative diplomat who claims he was fired because he argued with his bosses over U.S. policies in Berlin.

A present foreign service officer, John Harter, who fought and won an appeal against shabby treatment from the department, has told his story in a letter to Hays. Even State's grievance board upheld Harter, urging that he be promoted, given a new job and reimbursed for his lawyers' fees.

The State Department, however, has largely ignored the recommendations which are now eight months old. Harter got his promotion, but that's all.

In his letter to Hays, Harter said that, at State, "to survive and prosper is to be cautious, bland and obsequious."

Hays has also received a poignant letter from Cynthia Thomas, a foreign service officer who got her job at State after her foreign service husband, Charles, killed himself.

Thomas was involuntarily retired with 21 years of service, couldn't find another job and finally took his own life. In her letter to Hays, Mrs. Thomas calls the foreign service "a highly politicizes system with self-serving cliques."

While the Hays hearings have made the State Department anxious over what further horror stories may surface, some of their fears are unwarranted. Hays has confided that he does not expect a bill out of his committee until the next session.

This means that the Senate would have to go through the entire process of passing their version of the measure again before any grievance board is set up outside the department's own jurisdiction.

World Feelings Run High Over Murder Of Olympians

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Arab newspapers leaped to the defense of the Palestinian guerrillas today while much of the world reacted with shock and outrage to the slaying of Israeli athletes at the Munich Olympics.

"The world may call these crimes," said the Egyptian Gazette, but it must expect to continue until Palestinian rights are restored...As long as Israel refuses justice, it cannot expect the Arabs to leave it in peace."

The leftist Beirut paper Al Moharrer, which is close to the Palestinian commandos, commented that "public opinion has always been against the Arabs, never taking their side...into consideration. So public opinion needs a sharp blow to become impartial."

Some usually pro-Arab quarters commented that the Palestine liberation cause was being hurt by such violent acts as the Munich attack and the Tel Aviv airport massacre that took 28 lives lat June.

President Nixon branded the Munich terrorists "international outlaws of the worst sort who will stop at nothing to accomplish their goals."

Nixon said he felt a sense of deep outrage. Sen. George McGovern, Nixon's Democratic party rival in the November election, said he was "sickened by the outrage."

Israeli newspapers demanded revenge.

U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim cabled Premier Golda Meir that "words cannot express the revulsion and shock which all people of good will must feel at this appalling event."

The first outright Arab condemnation came from King Hussein of Jordan, who has battled the Palestinian guerrillas himself and defeated them. He said the Munich tragedy was "an abhorrent crime "perpeutated by sick minds who do not belong to humanity."

But one of the strongest voices in the Arab world took a sympathetic view toward the terrorists. Mohammed Hassanein Heikal, confidant of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and editor of the semiofficial Egyptian newspaper Al Ahram, said the attack was the desperate act of "people in a desperate condition." He added that "certain extremist organizations are out of step with the times."

Moscow Radio reported that Soviet representatives had "expressed commiseration to the Olympic committee ... and expressed condolences on the deaths."

Soviet media gave low-key treatment to the Munich tragedy. Brief actual reports on the guerrillas' attack and demands were buried under small headlines or read near the end of radio newscasts.

Some East European Communist media normally sympathetic to the Arabs said the Palestine liberation movement would be hurt.

Budapest Radio said the attack "degraded the Palestinian movement to the level of political banditry."

Politika in Belgrade said the attackers "are conducting ... a wrong battle, at the wrong place, in the wrong time and against a wrong opponent."

Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau of Canada said the attack was an "affront to the decency and wholesomeness which the Olympic Games are meant to respect and cherish."

Youth Group Places Wreath

MUNICH (AP) — A U.S. youth delegation placed a wreath of flowers at the base of the Olympic flame today "to show our deepest sympathy" for the 11 Israelis killed by Arab terrorists.

In a statement, the delegation said, "We are deeply shocked at the atrocities to our brothers from Israel and to show our deepest sympathy, we have placed a wreath at the base of the Olympic flame."

The group of 84 American Eagle scouts is part of the 2,000-member international youth delegation staying near the Olympic Village.

6 Pleas Heard In New Madrid Circuit Court

NEW MADRID — Six criminal pleas were heard and two divorces granted Tuesday in Circuit Court before Judge William L. Ragland.

Jerry Walker was granted probation without supervision following his guilty plea to burglary charge. He was accused of entering the home of Kathy Walker of Gideon on July 31.

Oscar Tony Wright was given a two-year sentence and placed on probation on forgery charge. Wright was charged with signing the name of Mary Louise Wright to an $80 state check on Nov. 11, 1971.

Ernest Strickland, charged with exhibiting a dangerous and deadly weapon on July 15 against J. W. Moore, Jr. of Lilbourn, was given one-year suspended county jail sentence upon payment of $25 fine and costs.

James Montgomery was given 30 days in the county jail, which was suspended upon payment $25 fine and costs, on a charge of selling intoxicating liquor without a license.

Jimmy Hershall Reed of Tallapoosa was fined $100 and costs and given a one-year suspended jail sentence upon payment of fine and costs on charge of exhibiting a shotgun on May 27 in the presence of State Trooper T. M. Almond while investigating Reed for driving while intoxicated.

Benajmin Madison received 30 days in the county jail, which was suspended upon payment of $5 and costs, on a reduced charge of peace disturbance. He had been charged with attempted burglary on Sept. 26, 1971, at the home of Hanna Gray in Lilbourn.

Divorces granted included Sally Ann Ray from David Donaldson Ray. She received custody of two children and a property settlement was filed and approved.

Lola Jean Cannady was diforced and restored to her maiden name of Patterson in her suit against William Merritt Cannady.

Gream Bound Over On Jailbreak Charge

NEW MADRID — Dale Gream, 30, of Portageville was bound over to Circuit Court Tuesday after waiving preliminary hearing on jailbreak charge before Magistrate Leo Hedgepeth.

Bond was set at $1,000 for his appearance in Circuit Court. Gream who escaped July 2 from New Madrid County jail where he was being held on kidnaping and breaking and entering charges, voluntarily surrendered July 24 to Deputy Sheriff Walter Ivy at Ivy's home.

Joe Louis Ayers was levied $125 fine on charge of driving while intoxicated. He was given six months in jail and then placed on probation.

Cecil Hardin, charged with nonsupport, was levied $26 fine and ordered to pay $10 weekly beginning immediately, for each of three children.

Bruce Bryant was granted limited driving privileges upon payment of $15 court costs. His license was revoked July 20.

James Burgess, charged with peace disturbance by loud and profane language on the city streets, was assessed a $50 fine.

Roosevelt Beasley, charged with common assault on Bobby Jean Austin by striking her with his hands and fists, was fined $30.

Speeding charges and fines included Dan M. Winnie and Jared Lee Griffis, $50 each; and Charles D. Fausett, $30.

Paying fines on charges of operating a vehicle with no operator license were Mary Frances Leonard, $20; Joe Smith, $16; Henry Lee Richard, $20; Samuel Huey Hector, expired operator license, $20; and Charles Thomas Russell, using out-of-state operator license while a Missouri resident, $20.

Other cases and dispositions: Allen Leon Hampton, using borrowed license plate, $35; Mary Lou Jimmerson, operating improperly registered vehicle, $20; R and T Dozier Service, operating overwidth vehicle, $20; and Gary Gene Miskell, operating improperly registered vehicle, $20.

Judgments awarded in civil suits were $83.32 to Jim Helms against Harry Ray Starr and $271.20 plus interest to Missouri Farmers Association against Carl Sapp.

DEIBER DIRECTS AND ACTS

NEW YORK (AP) — Paul-Emile Deiber, whose most recent assignment at the Metropolitan Opera was staging a new production of "Pelleas et Melisande," will mount the Met's new production of "Norma" next February.

The last new production of "Norma" at the Met was in 1970.

Deiber spent July in Paris appearing in the title role of "Cyrano de Bergerac" at the Comedie-Franciase

Isreal Reacts To Tragedy At the Olympics

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel warned today it would hold the countries that assist Arab guerrillas responsible for the Munich Olympic murders, and demanded that world governments expel Arab terrorists from their territories.

A government statement said it vowed to fight the guerrillas "and will not excuse those who aid them from responsibility."

Premier Golda Meir thanked the West German government for its efforts to free the Israeli hostages from their Arab captors. She voiced support for the German decision to use force against the terrorists.

In the statement, issued after an emergency Cabinet meeting, Mrs. Meir expressed regret that the rescue operation had failed.

The statement said Israel will demand foreign governments and political organizations take effective measures against Arab guerrilla cells operating abroad.

Such measures should be taken with the aim of paralyzing their activities and uprooting their bases, it added.

Israeli newspapers criticized West German security at the Olympic Games and demanded revenge from the Arab world.

The nation reeled with shock over the killing of 11 of the 29 members of its Olympic team. Only hours earlier, Mrs. Meir had drunk a cognac toast and the Jewish state had rejoiced over premature reports from Germany that nine Israeli hostages had been rescued.

Later came the terse official statement: "The government of Israel announces in profound sorrow that 11 members of the Israeli Olympic delegation have been murdered by Arab terrorists."

Newscasters' voices cracked as they told the country of the massacre. Radio Israel's usual gay breakfast music was replaced by the funeral march from Beethoven's Eroica Symphony.

Even while Israel thought the hostages were safe, newspapers called for reprisals.

"War to the end against these murderous organizations, their members, supporters and dispatchers, wherever they may be," urged the newspaper Davar.

"As far as Israel is concerned this is an act of war, not only by members of the terrorist organizations, but also by those Arab countries whose open support for the murderous terrorists made possible this deed.

"... If they do not now eliminate the terrorist bases within their borders, Israel will undertake the task," Davar said.

Al Hamishmar blamed West Germany.

"Responsibility falls on the German hosts of the Olympic Games who undertook full responsibility for the safety of Israeli sportsmen. They have failed ignominiously, and must account for their failure," it said.

Hatzofeh said: "The surrender of the German government in the past to terrorist extortion has prepared the ground for terrorist activity on German territory."

Yosef Burg, interior minister, said the name of Munich would now compare with that of Dachau, the nearby World War II concentration camp where countless Jews were massacred by Nazi Germans.

New Madrid Voters Approve New Tax Levy

NEW MADRID — Voters approved Tuesday a tax levy of 10 cents per $100 assessed valuation for funds to be used for maintenance of the city's cemeteries and parks by a vote of 111 for to five against.

Approval of the issue does not increase property taxes, as the tax has been in force since 1949 but must be approved every four years. The issue was defeated by six votes in the annual city election in April.

Balloting by wards were 28 for, two against in ward one; 39 for, two against in ward two; and 44 for, one against in ward three.

New Madrid Council Acts On Power Plant

NEW MADRID — The City Council Monday night approved power plant construction payments, authorized fire truck repairs, discussed collection of merchant's licenses and light bills and heard a proposal for a new junk and litter ordinance.

Construction payments were approved totaling $457,594.85 and payrolls of $35,557.10 for week ending Sept. 1 and $34,018.16 for week ending Aug. 27 at the city's 600-megawatt, steam generating center in St. Jude Industrial Park.

At the request of Fire Chief L. H. Recker, the board authorized repairs and updating of city fire trucks at an estimated cost of $1,500.

City Administrator Donald Lloyd told the board there were five unpaid merchant's licenses and the board ordered warrants to be issued for the arrest of the delinquent merchants.

Also ordered was the immediate cut-off of electric service to light and power users whose bills were past due.

A proposed junk and litter ordinance would allow the city to remove junk cars and other litter from private property. City Attorney Hal Hunter was authorized to prepare the ordinance for presentation at the next council meeting.

In other matters, the board authorized payment of $150 additional dues assessment to the Chamber of Commerce and transferred $1,000 from general revenue to the street repair fund.

Following adjournment, the board went into secret session.

Fined On Driving Charge

CHARLESTON — Robert J. Morgan, 18, of Chaleston, arrested Tuesday, was fined $23 in City Court this morning on a charge of careless and imprudent driving.

Schedules CLEP Testing

POPLAR BLUFF,--Another of the monthly tests in the College Level Examination Program (CLEP) will be given at Three Rivers Community College Sept. 13, 14, and 15 under the direction of John Wood, academic counselor.

The tests, which are designed to give people a chance to show that they have the equivalent of some college education even if they have never been to college, are given in both subject and general categories. Those qualified to take the tests may earn up to a maximum of 30 hours of college credit at TRCC by this means.

TRCC will give another in a series of General Education Development (GED) tests the same week, on the afternoon of Sept. 15 and the morning of Sept. 16. The GED tests are intended to allow persons who did not finish high school to earn an equivalency certificate by showing in the tests that they have acquired by other means the knowledge equivalent to that required for a high school diploma.

Three Rivers is one of a growing number of colleges and universities committed to the idea that college-level achievement should be recognized and rewarded no matter how it is attained. There are about 100 test centers in the Midwest where tests are administered to anyone wishing to take them.

CLEP was presented to colleges and universities in 1966 by the College Entrance Examination Board (CEEB). The program is funded largely through grants from the Carnegie Corporation, which has contributed more than $3 million for CLEP since 1966. CEEB is a nonprofit membership organization that provides tests and other educational services to colleges, schools and students.

Since its beginning CLEP has offered returning Vietnam veterans, housewives, company employees, college drop-outs, technicians, secretaries and people from nearly every other walk of life a chance to turn the learning they acquired outside the classroom into credit toward a college degree.

The learning needed to score well in the CLEP tests can be gained through correspondence courses, educational television, extensive reading, company training programs and numerous other avenues of learning outside the traditional college experience.

In many cases, high school graduates from systems with strong academic programs are able to save time and money be earning credits for their first year of college by taking CLEP tests before entering college.

The CLEP scores do not guarantee credit at all universities in the United States, said Mrs. Mabel A. Swindel, dean of student services at TRCC. Only institutions accepting CLEP scores as a basis for awarding credit can turn the scores into actual credit. Most of the colleges in Missouri and neighboring states will accept CLEP scores up to varying limits of credits toward a degree.

Mrs. John Webster Bowman, Jr.

BETHESDA, Md. — Mr. and Mrs. Joseph G. Banducci of Bakersfield, Calif., announce the marriage of his daughter, Anna Banducci Pananides, to Capt. John Webster Bowman, Jr., U. S. Marine Corps, son of Col. John Webster Bowman, USMC (ret.), and Mrs. Bowman of Bethesda, on Aug. 5.

The Rev. Theodore Bowen, superintendent of the Baltimore-Washington conference of the United Methodist Church, officiated at the evening ceremony which took place in the presence of their families in the garden of Mr. and Mrs. Smith Hepstone, Jr., uncle and aunt of the groom.

Capt. Bowman, a native of Cape Girardeau, Mo., is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Reed Bowman and great-grandson of the late Judge and Mrs. William C. Bowman, and the late Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Floyd Cox, all of Sikeston, Mo.

The bride and groom walked down a white-carpeted aisle, marked by small pots of jade fern, to a white wrought-iron kneeler, flanked on either side by a pedestal stand and tall baskets of gladioli, mums and abbey roses in shades of lemon and peach, with greenery. These same flowers were used throughout in decorating.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a long gown of white lace with inserts of re-embroidered flowers in pale shades of lemon, peach and green accented the empire waist, the high neck and the long sleeves. She carried a bouquet of lemon and peach talisman roses and baby's breath..

Mrs. Judy Geiberger of Santa Barbara, Calif., was matron of honor, and bridesmaids were the groom's sister, Miss Ellen Hempstone Bowman of Bethesda, Mrs. Gail Jones and Mrs. Richard C. Monk, both of Santa Barbara.

Best man was Walter Stockman, Jr. of Westfield, N. J., and ushers were Anthony John Thompson and O. Griffith Sexton, IV, both of Washington and both cousins of the groom; Dewin R. DeLeon of Bethesda; Lt. Charles W. Corddry, III, USN, of Fairfax, Va.; Michael K. Tooke of New York City; and Lt. George Robert Hansen, USN, of Honolulu, Hawaii.

Pianist Marietta Clayton played a brief program of classical music before the ceremony, and just after the parents were seated Howard Clayton, tenor, sang Handel's aria, "Where e'er You Walk." During the ceremony, while the couple knelt to receive the benediction, Clayton sand, "The Lord's Prayer", by Malotte.

Mrs. Banducci wore a long, sleeveless gown of French blue organza, deeply ruffled at the circular neckline and also at the hemline. Mrs. Bowman's floor-length voile gown was of a misty pastel, flowered print and featured a floating back panel from the shoulders and short sleeves. Both mothers wore white orchids, as did Mrs. Smith Hempstone, grandmother of the groom, who wore a dress of candlelight brocade.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception for a much larger group of friends was given in the ballroom of the Chevy Chase Club. A long buffet table was centered by two five-branch candelabras and three indentical floral arrangements of lemon and peach gladioli, mums, and abbey roses. An orchestra played for dancing and small round tables circled the dance floor for those who preferred to watch. The wedding cake was a delectable, four-tiered creation, topped by a white, spun-sugar "crown of roses." The decoration of the four tiers featured flowers colored in soft shades of pale green, lemon and peach.

Out-of-town guests, in addition to members of the wedding party and the bride's family, were Mrs. Michael K. Tooke of New York City; Captain and Mrs. Charles Tooke of Annapolis, Maryland; Mrs. Walter Stockman of Westfield, N.J.; Mr. Charles Parl of New York City; Mr. Howard McMorris of Princeton, N.J.; Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Bonner of Westfield, N.J.; Jonathan T. Dawson of New York City; Mrs. J. Maynard Harris and Miss Shelley Harris of Baltimore, Md.; Capt. and Mrs. William Hunnicutt of Willow Hill, Pa.; Capt. and Mrs. John Nolan of Annapolis, Md. ; and Mrs. Donald Thompson of Baltimore, Md.

The previous evening Col. and Mrs. Bowman entertained 80 guests at the rehearsal dinner which was given in the gardens of their Bethesda home. The group included the wedding party, out- of-town guests, the family and special friends.

Since the bride and groom met in Hawaii, a Polynesian atmosphere was created for this party, with music, singing and dancing by Hawaiian musicians, flaming torches circling the perimeter of the garden, table decor of seashells, seanets, fruits and flowers flown in from the Islands, and a menu which featured Polynesian curry.

The new Mrs.Bowman is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Amato Fanucchi of Lucca, Italy, and of the late Mr. and Mrs. Tomaso Banducci of Tassigniano, Italy. She attended Flintridge Sacred Heart Academy in Pasadena, Calif.,, and was graduated from the Marymount School of Santa Barbara, Calif., and from San Jose State College.

Capt. Bowman is also the grandson of Mrs. Smith Hempstone of Washington, D. C., and of the late Capt. Smith Hempstone, USN, and the great-grandson of the late Theodore W. Noyes, editor of the Washington Star for 50 years.

Capt. Bowman attended Punahou Academy in Honolulu, and was graduated from the Choate School, Wallingford, Conn., and from Princeton University. After serving in Vietnam as a Marine helicopter pilot,, Capt. Bowman had a short tour with the Air Force in Denver, Colo., followed by two years in the Pacific.

After a short wedding trip the couple will reside temporarily near Quantico, Va., where Capt. Bowman will attend Marine Corps schools.

Women Break Into Navy Field

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (AP) — Women drivers are not unusual — except when the vehicle happens to be a Navy boat. The Navy recently assigned, on a trial basis, three women to the tour boats going to the USS Arizona Memorial.

"It's just like driving a car," said Seaman Apprentice Terry J. Schorsch, 19. She, Seaman Helen D. Sheppard, 23, and Seaman Apprentice Judy A. East, 19, are line-handlers and coxwains-in-training on the 64-foot passenger barges. They fasten the lines of the boats to the pier and steer the boats around the harbor.

None had prior experience in working with boats, and all three had trouble making a smooth docking at the pier. "I kept running into the pier," Miss Schorsch said. "I didn't bump into it, I crashed into it."

But their supervisor, Boatswain's Mate First Class Edward Smith said the women are "doing a good job and show a great deal of enthusiasm.

"The first day they got here, I told them I expected them to do everything, including running the boat," Smith said.

He admitted he didn't like the idea at first.

Dr. Ratchford To Be Installed As 15th Missouri U. President

COLUMBIA–Dr. C. Brice Ratchford will be formally installed as 15th President of University of Missouri at 2 p.m. Sept. 15 in Jesse Auditorium on the Columbia campus. The presidential investiture ceremony is being arranged by the Board of Curators.

Judge Robert G. Brady of St. Louis, president of the Board of Curators, will preside at the ceremony. The program will include a nationally-known educator who will give the principal address. His name will be announced later.

Representatives from all four university campuses will take part in the program, as well as representatives from state government, the student body, the faculty and the alumni.

Letters of invitation have been sent to educators and to state and national officials. The public is invited to the ceremony at 2 p.m. and the reception at 4 p.m. The reception will be in the Memorial Union.

Dr. Ratchford was named interim president of the university in October, 1970. He was appointed president in June, 1971. A native of Gaston county, N.C., Dr. Ratchford received his undergraduate and graduate degrees in agricultural economics from North Carolina State College at Releigh. He received his doctor of philosophy degree in economics from Duke University at Durham, N.C., in 1951.

Dr. Ratchford has been a member of the university's administrative staff for more than 13 years. He began in 1959 as director of cooperative extension services. In 1960 he was appointed dean of the extension division and in 1965 was named vice president for extension. He is widely recognized for reorganizing and modernizing the university's extension program, which has become a national model, and for his initiation in July, 1971 of institutional reappraisal, the most extensive and intensive self-evaluation in the university's history. The reappraisal project is still in process.

Competition Starts Tonight In Miss America Pageant

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)— Miss America 1973 contestants begin their first round of preliminary competition tonight at Convention Hall. Seventeen of them will appear in evening gown, 17 in swimsuits and 16 will offer their talent selections before an estimated audience of 25,000.

Each contestant will compete in a different category on each of the three nights of preliminary competition, which will be climaxed by Saturday night's finals.

Winners in the swimsuit and talent contests will be announced each night. Names of the winners in the evening gown category will be withheld in a move to heighten suspense in the finals.

Tuesday night, the girls, dressed in parade gowns and making what was their first public appearance as pageant contests, were cheered by thousands as they were driven slowly along the pageant's parade route in convertibles.

Some 120 units, including high school and professional music bands, commercial floats and costumed Arabian horses set the pace for the lively, colorful event.

Miss Vermont, Kathy Herbert, who had earlier described herself as a schizophrenic who had entered the pageant solely for the scholarship money, got the silent treatment from the judges and the older folks who lined the route in front of Convention Hall. However, several youths cheered, rushed to her car and offered their hands in support.

Joe Garagiola, former baseball player turned celebrity, was the parade grand marshall.

Girl Scout Uniforms Needed

With the starting of school Girl Scout troops will be meeting and participating in various activities where Girl Scout uniforms are needed.

Anyone having a uniform that is not needed or has one to trade is asked to call Mrs. Carmen Robertson at 471-5839 or take it to her home at 1029 North Kingshighway.

Ann Landers

Dating Game Approach Changes With The Times

Dear Ann Landers: Occasionally you print something of value sent in by a reader. The enclosed is called, "SO YOU GOT A TICKET ——MISTER, YOU BREAK MY HEART." It was written by W. O. Newman, Commissioner, Kentucky Department of Public Safety.

"Are you one of those people who call me on the telephone or write and complain that my Trooper stopped you and handed you a ticket for no reason at all? You break my heart. You tell me you're a good citizen and a safe driver and a dumb cop gave you a ticket for going a little faster than the law allows. Well, I hope the next time you get caught breaking the speed limit he gives you another ticket and the traffic judge takes your license away. I pray that he nails you before you crash into a concrete abutment and he has to pull your lifeless body out of a demolished speed machine.

"I wish you could spend a few days with me and watch a teenager writhe in agony on the gravel near a highway while he waits for an ambulance that will come too late to take him to a hospital, so instead, he goes straight to the morgue. I wish I could make you help scrape the bits of bone and flesh of a whole family off the asphalt into baskets. You'd vomit -just as we have done. But You'd think a little differently the next time you climbed into that car of yours and opened it up on a stretch of highway to see what it could do. So you got a ticket? Mister, you break my heart."

Dear Ann Landers: Recently you printed a letter from a man who wanted to know how to make the transition from friendship to romance. He said he had known the girl for four years --it had started out as a brother -sister relationship and suddenly he found himself looking at her with different eyes. You said, "Faint heart never won fair mind --or anything else," and advised him to take a deep breath and tell her that the friendship had become deeper and more meaningful and before he fell head over heels he should ask if she could possibly feel the same way about him. Then you added, "Don't be surprised if she says she already does."

Now, Ann Landers, how would you have answered that letter if the writer had been a woman instead of a man? ---There Now

Dear There: The same way.

Dear Ann Landers: I must take exception to the answer you gave to the girl who wanted to know why she spent the better part of every evening fighting for her honor. She said her last date argued with her about the importance of virginity until 2:30 a.m. and she had a terrible time getting out of his apartment. You asked her what she was doing in a guy's apartment until 2:30 a.m. anway?

Ann, It's apparent that It's been a long time since you played the Dating Game. Gone are the gentle seducers of yesteryear. Now the attitude is, "Hey, Babe, hot pants are in, virginity is out. Let's get on with it."

I'd like to pass along my counter -philosophy. It goes like this: "Look, Buster, this is MY body and I'm going to decide who gets his hands on it and when. If you are one of the lucky few, I'll let you know."

This approach saves a lot of time and energy. Sign me ---Surrounded And Happy

Dear S and H: (Green Stamps?) Your counter -philosophy sounds very much like something you read in my column. I can't see that you and I have any differences whatever. Thanks for writing.

Ann Landers discusses teen -age drinking --its myths, its realities. Learn the facts by reading, "Booze and You --For Teenagers Only." Send 35c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to this newspaper with your request.

AFROTC Teaching Staff Completed

CAPE GIRARDEAU--Capt. Robert W. Fish Jr. will complete the teaching staff of the new AFROTC detachment on the campus of Southeast Missouri State University.

Commissioned in 1962 after graduation from the University of California, Santa Barbara, with a major in history, Capt. Fish joins two other officers in the department of aerospace studies at the university.

They are Lt. Col. Robert Mize, commander, and Capt. Hugh Jones. Two non-commissioned officers, Sgt. Joe Huckelberry and Sgt. Johnnie Saunders, are also members of the detachment.

Capt. Fish earned a master of science degree in systems management in 1971 at the University of Southern California. His professional military education includes the Academic Instructors School, which he has just completed at Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala., and the Squadron Officers School, also at Maxwell, which he completed in 1966.

His wife, Jane, is originally from St. Louis. They have two sons, Eric, 8, and Brian, 5.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Abernathy

Abernathy Wimberley

EAST PRAIRIE — First Baptist Church was the setting Aug. 26 for the 8 p.m. wedding ceremony of Miss Rita Gaye Wimberly, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Ted Wimberley, and Robert Steven Abernathy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Abernathy, all of East Prairie.

The candlelight ceremony was performed by the bride's father before an altar grouping of 15- branch arch candelabra. Basket arrangements of white mums and red gladioli and matching seven - branch tree candelabra placed on either side of the altar completed the setting. Stephanotis and red satin bows marked the family pews.

Mrs. Dennis Jeffries of East Prairie rendered a program of organ music, the traditional wedding march and accompanied soloist Miss Carla Howard of Chaffee, who sang, "We've Only Just Begun" and "Theme from Love Story."

The couple lit a single white candle from two lighted tapers, extinguishing the two candles as a symbol of their new unity.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her uncle, Wedlin Wimberley of Rector, Ark., wore a formal gown of white polyester crepe fashioned by her mother. The empire-style gown featured a scooped neckline and long, sheer sleeves of snow white danon accented with lace medallions at the wrist and elbow. The gown was overlaid in snow white danon falling from a jewel neckline and gathered to form a fullness in back. Her chapel - length mantilla of silk illusion was sprayed with repeated patterns of the lace medallions and she carried a crescent arrangement of white miniature carnations and red sweetheart roses.

A red rose was presented by the bride to her mother as she approached the altar and during the recessional the bride presented a red rose to the groom's mother.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Danny Griffin of East Prairie and serving as maid of honor was her sister, Miss Sharon Wimberley of East Prairie. Their identical gowns of red crepe overlaid with flocked polyester were in an empire design accented with wide sashes tied in back and sheer, flared sleeves. The gown were fashioned by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Clinen Cox of Piggott, Ark. Each wore white, wide- brimmed hats and carried white satin baskets of red roses and white miniature carnations.

Miss Melissa Hays, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Hays of East Prairie, served as flower girl. She was dressed identically to the honor attendants. Kyle Hutcheson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Avery Hutcheson, was ringbearer. Candlelighters were Ricky and Tim Abernathy, brothers of the groom.

The groom selected Mike Hogan of East Prairie as best man and Avery Hutcheson of East Prairie was groomsman. Ushers were Rick Cobb and David Scott, both of East Prairie.

Presiding at the guest register was Miss Teresa Abernathy, sister of the groom, and the wedding scrolls were presented to each guest by Miss Lesa Wimberley, sister of the bride.

The reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the dining hall of the church. The table, draped to the floor in whitelinen, overlaid with red net caught up at intervals with red satin bows, was centered with a gold candelabra entwined with red roses and greenery. Miss Sarah Tucker served the cake and Miss Marsha Bain served the punch from crystal services. Guests of the reception received white satin rice bags from Miss Lavonda Abernathy, sister of the groom.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Abernathy are both 1972 graduates of East Prairie High School and are now making their home in Mephis, Tenn.

The islands that comprise Micronesia are the Marshall, the Carolines and the Marianas. These islands lie almost on a line between Hawaii and the Philippines.

Sindle-Efrink

LUTESVILLE-Miss Suzanne Marie Elfrink married James Roy Sindle Aug. 26 at St. Anthony's Catholic Church at Glennon.

The Reve. John Wells performed the double ring ceremony before an altar adorned with multicolored colonial bouquets.

Miss Pam Jansen was the organist and Miss Darlene Bueter sang. Both are from Leopold.

The birde is the daughter of Louis Elfrink of Lutesville, and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Sindle of Oran are parents of the bridegroom.

Wearing a formal gown of Schiffli embroidered angle-skin peau de soie, the bride appeared with her father. The gown featured a high, rolled collar and Camelot sleeves. The front of the dress was accented with blue embroidery.

Her three-tiered veil of English illusion was held in place by a lace Camelot cap trimmed with blue ribbon, and she carried a multicolored colonial bouquet.

Miss Norma Jean Elfrink, the bride's sister, was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were another sister of the bride, Mrs. David Trent, Mrs. Gary Ferrel of Cape Girardeau, and Miss Norma Bueter, Leopold. Miss Rena Sindle, the bridegroom's sister, was junior bridesmaid.

They wore floral-designed, light blue gowns with sheer sleeves, long gathered skirts and blue sashes at the waistlines. Each wore a headpiece of small rosebuds and carried a colonial multicolored bouquet.

Gary Ferrell was best man, and groomsmen were Steve Sindle, brother of the bridegroom, and Vincent Cook, both of Oran, and Leo Nenninger of Leopold. Guests were seated by David Trent of Cantua Creek, Calif., and Joseph French of Patton.

The couple received guests following the ceremony at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Leopold where blue and white decorations were used.

Serving were the Misses Anita and Karen Elfrink, both of Cape Girardeau, and Monica Macke of Leopold. Mrs. Joseph French, another sister of the bride, was guest book attendant.

The new Mrs. Sindle received an Associate of Arts degree in nursing from South East Missouri University in Cape Girardeau.

Sindle, a graduate of Walnut Ridge College in Arkansas with an associate of arts degree, is now employed by Western-Southern Life Insurance at Sikeston.

The couple is making its home at Morley following a wedding trip to Arkansas.

LOSE 20 POUNDS IN TWO WEEKS!
Famous U.S. Women Ski Team Diet

During the non-snow off season the U.S. Women's Alpine Ski Team members go on the "Ski Team" diet to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. That's right – 20 pounds in 14 days! The basis of the diet is chemical food action and was devised by a famous Colorado physician especially for the U.S. Ski Team. Normal energy is maintained (very important!) while reducing. You keep "full" – no starvation – because the diet is designed that way. It's a diet that is easy to follow whether you work, travel or stay at home.

This is honestly a fantastically successful diet. If it weren't, the U.S. Women's Ski Team wouldn't be permitted to use it! Right? So, give yourself the same break the U.S. Ski Team gets. Lose weight the scientific, proven way. Even if you've tried all the other diets, you owe it to yourself to try the U.S. Women's Ski Team Diet. That is, if you really do want to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. Order today. Tear this out as a reminder.

Send only $2.00 ($2.25 for Rush Service) - cash is O.K. - to: R.D.S. Products, P.O. Box 834, Dept. 19, Del Mar, California 92014. Don't order unless you want to lose 20 pounds in two weeks! Because that's what the Ski Team Diet is designed to do!!

$100 Billion U.S. Budget Hike Seen

By BRUCE BIOSSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA) — In the next presidential term, the federal budget is going to rise at least $100 billion above present annual levels. It therefore takes a good deal of sheer nerve for any politician to talk these days about "tax relief." The real likelihood is higher taxes.

Even before Congress added $8.4 billion to yearly federal outlays by enacting a 20 per cent Social Security benefit increase, the Brookings Institution's new budget study had projected U.S. budget hikes totaling $91 billion between now and fiscal 1977.

The future figures could go considerably higher if Congress continues its present course of enlarging major appropriations affecting social programs. Nearly $2 billion has been added by Congress to President Nixon's budget request for HEW funds this fiscal year.

The President's veto, of course, could put a damper on some of this expansion.

The Brookings budget review indicates that inflation will add $9 billion a year to the budget, representing higher federal workers' wages and higher prices for the things the government buys.

There are built-in escalators. More and more beneficiaries are coming under education, health, welfare and other programs. An automatic cost-of-living booster is contained in some, and now will be part of the Social Security system. Brookings figured the escalators as adding perhaps $6 billion a year to the budget, not counting the new Social Security features.

It is estimated that as environmental agencies develop, federal pollution-fighting costs may take $4 billion a year.

The Social Security legislation adopted this summer provides some, but not a lot of, offsetting revenue gains. The payroll tax rate goes up a little next year, and the income base from which those taxes are taken will be widened in 1973 in 1974, and probably often thereafter.

Nevertheless, there is no real treasure trove to tap to cover the full range of enlarging expenditures. These will more than use up the so-called fiscal dividend, the tax revenue gain that accompanies general economic growth. That dividend has largely vanished. The reason, says the Brookings report:

"... in the space of 10 short years, federal civilian expenditures as a percentage of GNP (the nation's total output) almost doubled; even if no new programs are added, the annual growth in existing expenditure programs now absorbs a much larger fraction of the growth in revenues than was the case 10 years ago."

Notwithstanding these difficulties, politicians in both major parties keep suggesting that no new tax increases will have to be voted in the next year or two. The Democrats talk often of "tax reform," knowing full well that the expression is read by many voters as a cut in taxes.

The tax experts do indeed agree that the tax system is loaded with inequities—that the payroll tax falls with extra weight on lower income workers, some privileged people enjoy tax preferences (loopholes), the property tax is a jerry-built monstrosity.

But, realistically, there can be no reforms which amount to general tax cuts. Since 1964, Congress has enacted tax reductions depriving the U.S. treasury today of some $45 billion yearly. The trend now surely is going to be the other way—to get it back, and more.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I would appreciate your view on my situation. I had a stroke in 1965 and four serious heart attacks in 1966. Now I am having trouble with my breathing. I must use three pillows or my shortness of breath will keep me awake more than half of the night. My doctor claims the breathing is caused by nervousness and emotional tension but he doesn't prescribe anything for relief. I am 66 years old. What should I do?

Dear Reader—Of course, I can't say without having information exactly what is causing your shortness of breath, but one of the signs that the heart is not functioning as strongly as it should is shortness of breath. This is caused by the accumulation of fluid in the lungs. The fluid literally backs up in the lungs because the left side of the heart is weak. There are other things which cause shortness of breath but this is the first thing one thinks of in a person who has heart disease. Your doctor has probably already considered this and must not think this is the case.

Your letter suggests that you do not have confidence in your doctor's opinion. If your problem is nervousness and emotional tension, one factor in relieving this would be to satisfy your own mind that your heart is all right. So, I think you should ask your doctor to send you to a heart specialist for a consultation. All reputable doctors welcome consultations from another physician and sometimes such consultations really help the doctor who is faced with a complex problem. If your heart is all right, you will be happier and even be a better patient. In general, if a doctor refuses to arrange for a consultation when a patient asks for one something is wrong. The American Medical Assn. encourages consultations with other doctors.

Dear Dr. Lamb — Could you tell me if a great number of X rays have a bad effect on your blood cells or other organs in your body? My brother has had about 20 X rays and we have been worried about the side effects they might have.

Dear Reader — Excess radiation can have side effects. For this reason limits of exposure to radiation over a given period of time have been set for human beings. Unless the person is in an occupation that causes him to be exposed to radiation, the usual number of X rays done for medical examinations doesn't pose a problem. Certainly they pose less of a threat to the patient than not taking the X rays and failing to diagnose an important medical problem. Most radiologists are well-versed on this problem and are not likely to use an excessive amount of X rays in studying their patients.

'Political Prisoners'

To the Editor:

On her day of triumph, Angela Davis said: "Starting from this day forward, we must work to free every political prisoner and every oppressed person in the country and in the whole world."

This would include untold thousands of political prisoners in the Soviet Union, in the People's Republic of China, in the German Democratic Republic as well as all the political prisoners in Poland, Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia. (Beside the billion people of the countries who are not right now "political prisoners" but just "oppressed.")

Will Angela Davis, who was so wrong when she believed she would never get a fair trial in the U.S. really work for the liberation of the political prisoners in the countries just mentioned and also for the liberation of the millions in these countries who are just "oppressed"?

If Miss Davis' answer is "yes," she should have the support of millions of Americans and others the world over. Her answer to this question will be the acid test of her sincerity.

Dear Cliff:

The idea of asking for suggestions for planks for Republican party platform is a good one and hope other states try out the same idea.

Today's principal problem for the workers, the employers and most citizens is the excessive cost of government and the huge amount of a person's money taken by all the branches of government, with a few exceptions on a local basis. There is probably no employer who has even a few employees that doesn't take more out of their wages to give government than he makes in his business and the sales tax at the supermarket is four times what the store makes for furnishing you groceries. What some branch of government gets in three times what the phone company makes because you have a telephone in your house and gas tax now at station I have bought gasoline for about 40 years is more than the refinery gets for the gasoline. It is natural for all of us to like to spend money, especially if it is other peoples. Cost of federal government today is six times what it was in 1950 yet cost of living has gone up only 70 percent—600 against 70, so it should not be impossible to cut today's costs and reduce taxes at sametime to prevent the recession. We don't need revenue sharing and other gimmicks.

Today's witholding tax is actually an excise tax on wages. As a practical matter you can't repeal the 16th Amendment, but government could allow an employer to pay first three weeks in wages in full and deduct the months' amount out of 4th weeks check and the workers would then know what today's government costs them. Or better still simply send total wages to IRS or Federal Reserve and let them use their computers and bill taxpayer. Actually perhaps withholding tax is not legal as it involves the employers into probing the personal life of his employee. That might be something for civil liberties folks. Another thing is crime. Several people murdered everyday in St. Louis area and hijacking and shooting from an auto, kidnapping etc., an everyday pastime. Why not use the courts show as much concern for the victims and everyday citizens as they do for the Miranda, Escobedas and Mallorys? Either enforce the law or change it.

Some years ago I suggested Supreme Court be subject to reconfirmation 4 and 10 years after first appointed. Senator Byrd has introduced such an amendment and may be a little prodding will get it over. Then something should be done about Executive Orders as they are dangerous as used now and no place are they authorized in the Constitution. Likewise people should have right of initiative and referendum on what is passed in Washington. Hope you will ask all appearing before you whether they voted in last primary and for what party as you could get some far out suggestions from McGovernites. Also hope you give the media a copy of all suggestions made. They may ignor those they don't like but if properly needled this could be changed.

This is a photocopy of original letter but personally signed as I have not the typing time for copies I want to send out and it is cheaper today to photocopy an article than put an extra carbon in a typewriter and then you can't read it and those getting a carbon feel they lose status. Maybe if a good try is made we can someday get the government both out of our pockets as well as our hair. Cut out all the interference, may someday we will even have those little Burmah Shave signs back.

With kindest regards,

John Frier

The Case Of The Persistent Suitor

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Irma went on a vacation to a hotel where she alternated between slapping mosquitoes and Herbie for getting fresh. While the mosquitoes were more numerous, Herbie, who wanted to become Irma's boy friend in the worst way, was far more persistent.

Because he also acted in the worst way, however, he made little progress. And by the time Irma's vacation came to an end, he was desperate. Consequently, after Irma had loaded her baggage aboard a train for the trip home, Herbie unloaded them into his car and insisted that he be allowed to drive her to her destination. What's more, he refused to take no for an answer.

With no other apparent choice, Irma permitted Herbie to chauffeur her home. Once there, however, she sued her persistent suitor for false imprisonment.

"I didn't imprison anyone." was Herbie's defense. "There were no bars on my car. Irma could have gotten out any time she wanted."

"Sure I could have," responded Irma. "But he had my bags. Where they went, I had to go."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make persistent Herbie pay for false imprisonment?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that it is false imprisonment to illegally prevent a person from going where they choose in the manner desired. In this case, concluded the judge, Herbie indirectly prevented Irma from going home on the train by taking her luggage.

New TV Microwave Planned In Area

A new microwave system expected to be constructed by a cable television firm in Southeast Missouri by early 1973 will serve 14 area communities and initially provide at least five more television channels for its cable customers.

Among those stations which will extend their broadcasts into Southeast Missouri with the completion of the newly licensed microwave system in KETC-TV, Channel 9, St. Louis' educational television station.

Channel 9 held an orientation meeting at its studio.

The orientation, held to better allow an exploration of instructional television for the 1972 73 school year, included a tour of the station facilities, watching the taping of a segment of a new science series and a review of instructional programming and supportive material.

Michale Pfeifer, promotion coordinator for KETC, gave some details on the planned microwave system to serve Southeast Missouri.

The microwave system is being set up by See-Mor Cable TV of one of four firms which has applied for the franchise to provide cable television service for Cape Girardeau and which already serves several other Southeast Missouri towns.

See-Mor's plan for a microwave system includes the construction of a microwave relay tower at Perryville and pickup and relay towers to serve 14 other Southeast Missouri communities, some of which are already being served by the company.

The system would carry not only Channel 9, but several other stations, as well, into the following communities: Cape Girardeau, Chaffee, Charleston, East Prairie, Illmo, Jackson, Lilbourn, Marston, Miner, Morehouse, New Madrid, Oran, Scott City and Sikeston.

An individual tower would not have to be built in each community to be served. Instead a total of six would be built, with some located between communities that are near each other.

One tower would serve Jackson; another Chaffee and Oran combined; the third, Charleston and East Prairie; fourth, Cape Girardeau, Illmo and Scott City; fifth, Sikeston, Miner and Morehouse, and the sixth Marston, Lilbourn and New Madrid.

These community antennas would be used in some cases only to pick up the microwave relays for the communities served at the present time, and in other instances to both pick up and relay to another of the antennas the signals.

Signals from the Channel 9 transmitter in south St. Louis County and from transmitters for Channels 11, 39, 2, 4 and 5 would be sent by microwave relay to the tower at Perryville.

From there Channels 9, 11 and 30 transmissions would be sent via microwave relay to Jackson, and from Jackson, Channels 3, 8, 9, 11 and 30 would be sent by microwave to the Chaffee Oran tower.

All the rest of the microwave relays would be for these five channels as well.

From the Chaffee-Oran tower, the signals would be relayed to three other towers-the Charleston-East Prairie tower and Cape Girardeau-Illmo -Scott City tower, both of which would be pickup points only, and to the Sikeston-Miner -Morehouse tower which would further relay the signals to the Marston—Lilbourn- New Madrid tower, also only a pickup point.

Once the microwave relay is received by each of these community antennas, cables would be used to complete the system. The cables would run from these towers to the homes or businesses which subscribed to the installation and service.

Although See-Mor or no other cable television company can run cables inside a city without first receiving a franchise for operation in that city, the company could go ahead and construct the towers in anticipation of receiving such a franchise.

If See-Mor should receive the franchise in these communites, then it would be set to run cable from its existing tower.

If the firm wouldn't receive the franchise, but another would, then See-Mor could lease use of the tower to that company from which to run its cables. See-Mor could then feed programs over its system to whomever received the franchise for a fee.

Michael Pfeifer said the microwave system is expected to be ready for operation by early 1973.

Officials of See-Mor could not be reached to learn when work on the towers would be started, but Pfeifer pointed out that it could be as late as early next year because the towers would not take over a few months to erect.

Pfeifer said the representatives from the Cape Girardeau schools were invited to get a preview of what the educational station has to offer.

He said the station's programs could be used in the schools as another method to hold students' interest or serve as a catalyst to promote discussion in a classroom, but not as a replacement for the teacher.

Daytime instructional programming on Channel 9 is made possible by schools which enroll students in the station's services for a $1.25 per pupil participation fee. The station serves approximately 108 individual school units in Missouri and Illinois.

The weekly schedule of instructional programs deal with a wide range of subject areas including art, music, science and history.

Supportive aids received by KETS's participating schools include an individual telecourse guide for each series to enable the teacher to integrate programs into the regular course of study, in-service training for teachers and tours of the station for students.

Petting Zoo To Be At Plaza

Kingsway Plaza Mall will present a "petting zoo" Sept. 7-9.

Donations taken at the gate and all of the proceeds will go to Sikeston United Fund.

The Zooland Petting Zoo will be displayed in colorful fencing, with gates that allow visitors to come in and meet the animals face - to - face. Children will also be permitted to feed the animals daily until closing time.

There will be an assortment of over 45 animals and birds, both domestic and exotic species, plus interesting displays.

The animals may also be photographed.

Zooland Petting Zoo has traveled to major cities throughout the United States. Attendants will be on hand to answer questions.

Prescribes Caution

By CROCKETT SCOTT

"Let every man look before he leaps."

For those impatient with the failure of the Dow Jones Industrials to move smartly upward to the 1,000 area, it would seem well to consider the reminder of a Kansas City investment banker that the stock market has been riding in all-time high ground, or thereabouts, since last April - May.

And the message, he reminded further, is that much of the good news about the rebounding economy already has been discounted; that what goes up someday will come down, in all likelihood; and that the watchword should be to proceed at your own risk.

Last April - May, he recalled, Standard & Poor's index of 500 common stocks reached all-time high ground, as did the New York Stock Exchange's composite index and the New York Times combined average; with only the Dow Jones Industrial Average being the laggard. But the DJI is made up only of 30 stocks and thus is not a true measure of the market -- as everyone knows, but which everyone watches very closely nonetheless.

Since then, he emphasized, many equities have topped out -- at least for the time being, though some of the galmours, among the IBM, went on to higher ground (though currently receding again).

In such a market this investment banker repeated the same words of caution heard over and over again from other brokerage houses in the Mid-South and Midwest: take profits in the high flying galmours and concentrate buying in depressed issues, or stocks which have the potential to move up, regardless of market direction.

With such admonitions in mind, let's look at some of the recommendations of leading market analysts.

Argus Research Reports recommends Martin Marietta selling in the low twenties, noting a likelihood of higher earnings this year and next; and AR considers this equity with favor for its yield as well as for appreciation potential.

Argus Research likes Reece Corp., too. Reece is an over-the - counter stock in the industrial sewing equipment field with a good balance sheet and roughly half its income generated from its rental business. Argus sees the stock as having considerable appreciation potential over the longer term.

In the machine tool area, Argus likes Monarch Machine and Warner & Swasey.

Indicator Digest favors Ashland Oil (a big board equity trading in the low thirties) as a current buy to cover for the much heralded energy crisis. ID cites Ashland's acquisition of Union Carbide's gas and oil properties late last year as providing additional crude oil production and enhancing exploration potential in coming years.

Indicator Digest also likes the shares of some of the South African gold producers (the Kaiffirs), among them East Driefontein (which it notes being a "young" mine) has many years mining ahead of it, Western Deep Levels and Western Holdings. ID also mentions Anglo American Corp. of South Africa as a possible buy, and notes that some of these stocks pay exceptioanlly good dividends and are selling at reasonable price- earnings ratios in contrast to American gold stocks which have been bid up to high PEs.

ID likes these South African golds because of the great demand for the commodity, gold, in industry; and because of its popularity among foreign governments and individual hoarders aboard.

A speculative stock which some Indianapolis investment people like and which might be worth appraisal by your SEC registered representative is Pic'N' Save Corp. An over- the - counter stock, it went public in the spring at $14 per share and moved up to about $25, and then backed off to around $18-$19.

Standard & Poor's shows earnings at 36 cents per share in 1968, 41 cents in 1969, 64 cents in 1971, and 81 cents during the most recent 12 months.

Loomis F. Mayfield

Mayfield Elected To Bank Board

Pat Lea, president of First National Bank, has announced the election of Loomis F. Mayfield, Jr. to the board of directors of the bank.

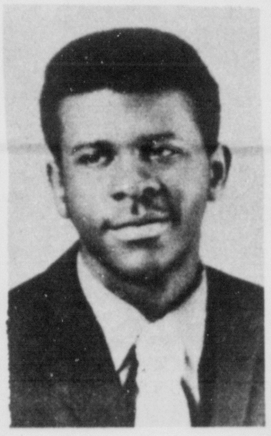
Mayfield attended Sikeston High School and University of Missouri, where he received his bachelor of science degree in agriculture in 1947. He is a veteran of World War II, having served in the 25th Tank Battalion in Germany. Following his graduation from University of Missouri, he was an instructor under the veterans' agriculture program for eight year.

He is a member of the Traffic Committee of Sikeston Special Road District.

He is the son of Mrs. Nina Marshall Mayfield and the late Loomis F. Mayfield, Sr.

He resides at 615 North Kingshighway with his wife Marcella and their family.

Mayfield is a member of the Methodist church, a member of American Legion, and is engaged in farming operations in Scott and Stoddard Counties.



LON DALE WALTON of Benton Route Two, has been promoted to trainee assistant at TG&Y Family Center in Kingsway Plaza Mall.

A 1972 graduate of Scott County Central High School, Walton began working with TG&Y in June 1970 as a stock clerk. He was promoted to number one stock clerk in charge of training new stock help in December 1971.

Associated Moves Wooldridge To B'ville, Neel To Sikeston

Floyd Wooldridge, Sikeston District Manager for Associated Natural Gas Company, has been promoted to superintendent of gas operations by Associated's parent company, Arkansas - Missouri Power Company, and reassigned to the general office in Blytheville, Ark.

Billy Neel

Billy G. Neel of Caruthersville has been promoted to manager of the Sikeston operations.

Wooldridge has 38 years of utility experience, starting with Ark- Mo in 1942. He has been district manager in Sikeston since 1968. In his new capacity, he will supervise all gas operations for both Arkansas - Missouri Power and Associated.

Wooldridge has been active in civic affairs. At Hayti, he was a member of the Chamber of Commerce and Lions Club, and served each of them as president. At Sikeston, he belonged to Kiwanis Club.

He and his wife Opal are members of the Baptist Church. They are the parents of two grown daughters, Judith Ann Wooldridge and Vivian Jo Howes.

Neel is a 17-year veteran with Associated's parent company, Arkansas - Missouri Power Company, at Caruthersville. He joined the firm in 1955 as a gas meter tester at the company's gas meter shop and had progressed up to working foreman there at the time of this promotion.

He has been very active in the Lions Club and is a past president of that organization. He is the holder of a Distinguished Service Award by the Lions Eye Tissue Bank of University of Missouri.

A native of Deering where he graduated from high school, he is also a graduate of the Texas College of Arts and Industries course in natural gas distribution.

Neel and his wife, who are members of the Baptist Church, will be making their home in Sikeston. They have two children, Marily, age 13, and Paul, age 9.

Malone &Hyde Aquire Topps

MEMPHIS — Malone & Hyde, Inc., one of the nation's largest food distributors, has announced approval to acquire a Memphis firm, a dividend increase and organizational realignment of the wholesale food distribution system's operational structure.

The board of directors has approved the acquisition of Topps Sales, Inc., a closely held company here, said J. R. Hyde III, M & H president. An exchange of stock will be involved, though terms were not revealed.

Topps' holdings include three discount health and beauty aid stores and two discount drug stores. They will be operated by Super D Drugs, Inc., a M & H subsidiary. The deal is subject to certain conditions being met before closing Hyde said.

Hyde said the quarterly dividend will be increased from 7½ cents to 8 cents per share. He said the boost, which is within Cost of Living Council guidelines, will be paid Oct. 16 to shareholders of record Sept. 22.

In the reorganization, Andrew Battaile, who has been division manager in Beaumont, Tex., and John Moll, Nashville division manager, have been promoted to two newly created positions of regional managers. Moll is formerly from Sikeston, Mo.

Battaile will move to Memphis and head the region consisting of divisions in Memphis, Beaumont, Monroe, La., and Jackson, Tenn. Moll will continue to head the Nashville division as well as the region made up of that division and those in Tupelo, Miss., Sikeston, Mo., and Nicholasville, Ky. Moll still will have Nashville headquarters.

Hyde also said that new managers have been appointed for three wholesale food divisions. They are Lee Bryson of Tupelo, William Ellis in Beaumont and Thomas Mulhearn in Monroe. He announced that Saul A. Mintz and James R. Greenbaum have resigned as vice presidents of M&H and as officers of F. Strauss & Son, Inc., wholly owned subsidiary in Monroe.

Brag about dodging work and you soon won't have to exercise that ability.

These preschoolers are learning safety principles in a miniature city in which they play-act parts of pedestrians and motorists. After completing training at the Shaker Heights, Ohio, Safety Town, they are ready to walk or ride to school with confidence.

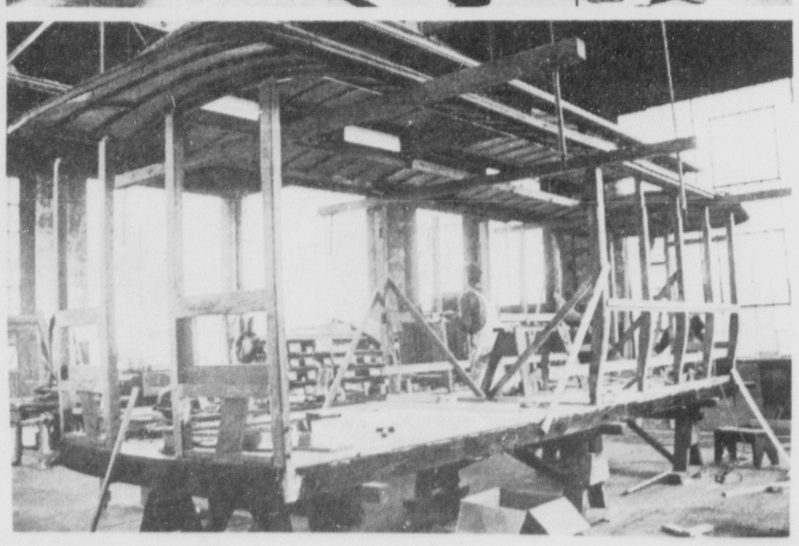
These photos, made at Shaker Heights, Ohio, show preschoolers in a two-week summer program in which they are taught traffic safety. When they take off for kindergarten in the fall, they will be armed with a knowledge of rules for pedestrians and motorists. The city-sponsored Safety Town aims to help the child realize his responsibility in keeping himself from dangers on the street, bring to his attention the problems careless pedestrians present to the motorist, teach him the importance of obeying traffic rules, establish and cultivate good character habits such as courtesy, thoughtfulness, consideration and respect for others.

FIRE SAFETY is taught at child level.

HAND SIGNALS are important. A preschooler indicates a left turn under watchful eye of a volunteer counselor. Teen-agers are recruited from junior high schools to teach children fundamentals of traffic safety.

TRAFFIC SIGNALS and rules are explained.

WALK SIGNAL gets the line moving.



Cable Cars

are an outmoded means of transportation, a fact generally recognized except by San Francisco's passionate protectors of the unique trolleys. Cars not only continue to rattle over the city's hills and make the end-of-the-run turns with passenger power, but are still being built, below right, in a corner of the cluttered repair shop . . . exact replicas fashioned with care, ingenuity and love from century-old plans.

LONG HAIR would seem to be the preference of the musician above, but actually when it comes to music he's all pop. It's Ian Anderson of the top British group, Jethro Tull, having a bit of a problem with the wind in his locks at a Frankfurt, West Germany, performance. Meanwhile, far away in St. Louis, Mo., long-haired Elizabeth Gordon does play long hair, with the St. Louis Symphony Youth Orchestra—and in comfort, minus her shoes.

SALESMAN
$250.00 PER WEEK

If your earnings are not at least this amount I want you reguardless of your past selling experience and regardless of your education, if you want to earn at least this amount of money, answer this ad. You will NOT have to travel - You will have to work.

I know how it is to chase around answering ads. I've run my heels off trying to find a better position that would pay a good income.

If you could use a starting figure of $250.00 per week commission with an opportunity to increase this to an almost unlimited income of salary and commission. Then I want you.

There is a fantastic opportunity for advancement for men with initiative and ambition, because of the tremendous growth of my company that has carried it to one of the largest in the nation.

Infant Is Victim In Malden House Fire

MALDEN - Danny Allen Drummond, 1- year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Drummond of 105A Willis Drive, was dead on arrival at Dexter Memorial Hospital of burns suffered in a home fire Monday afternoon.

A spokesman for the fire department said the fire, which heavily damaged the interior of the home, originated in a kitchen waste basket. The mother was reportedly able to save another child from the blaze, but could not get to the dead child.

He was born Oct. 8, 1970 in Poplar Bluff.

Services were conducted today at 11 a.m. in Landess Funeral Home with the Rev. Chuck Huber officiating.

Burial was in Memorial Park Cemetery.

Survivors include his parents; three brothers, James Eugene, Michael Dewayne and Joel Scott Drummond, all of Malden; paternal grandfather, Dean Drummond of Clarksville, Ark.; and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Pfleuger of Malden.

Nine Treated Tuesday

Nine were treated Tuesday as accident patients in the emergency room of Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

TO THE FERSON ADDRESSED

Figures are sometimes dull but in other respects they can be interesting whether presented in black and white on paper or dressed in a transparent bikini or hot pants. On a black and white printing basis the following should interest the average American citizen as showing perhaps one cause of the main problems that is bothering him or her.

FACTS IN THE PUBLIC SECTOR

Federal Spending — 42 Billion in 1950; 250 Billion in 1972.

President's Salary — $100,000 in 1950; $200,000 in 1972.

Prime Minister of Japan — $38,570 in 1972

Supreme Court Justices — $25,000 in 1950; $60,000 in 1972.

Japan Court — $27,590 in 1972

Congressman's Salary — $12,500 in 1950; $42,500 in 1972.

Senator's Wages — $12,500 in 1950; $42,500 in 1972

Defense Cost — 25 billion in 1950; 77 billion in 1972.

Salary for 4-Star General — $36,000 in 1972

Gas Tax in one part of Mo. — 2 cents a gallon in 1950; 11 cents a gallon in 1972.

Cost of educating youngster in one St. Louis County Public School District — $207 in 1950; $1100 in 1972.

Cost of Living — 72.1 in 1950; 124 in 1972.

Price of a loaf of Raisin Bread, St. Louis County — 34 cents in 1950; 49 cents in 1972.

Many people getting this may say, so what, the only thing that interests me is that I get mine. However, if the so-called private sector of our country has been able to get along with an increase of 72 percent (72.1 to 124), why have some segments of government had to have an increase of up to 600 percent? Would the solution to today's problem be to simply get the government, especially at the federal level, out of most of the project they are now in rather than getting them more involved with so called revenue sharing and any other programs that promises something for nothing but the final results might be classifid as nothing for a whole lot.

Armed Forces

FT. LEAVENWORTH, KAN

ARMY NATIONAL GUARD Mg. John H. Reed, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Reed, 719 Good Hope, Sikeston, recently completed part II of the command and general staff officer course, nonresident'resident, at the U.S. Army Command and General Staff College (OGSC), Ft. Leavenworth, Kan.

Maj. Reed was on the Commandant's list, which represents the upper 20 per cent in academic standing.

The graduates completed the first half of the course by correspondence or through U.S. Army Reserve School attendance and then attended an eight-week period of resident instruction at the OGSC. The eight-week portion is subdivided into four-week parts so the student may participate during two successive summers.

The nonresident'resident course is designed to prepare selected officers for responsible positions at division and support command levels. It also provides them with an understanding of the duties of corps and field army general staff officers, and of army participation in joint and combined operations.

Maj. Reed received A B.S. degree in 1956 from Southeast Missouri State College in Cape Girardeau. He is employed as a teacher at the college.

His wife, Weymie, lives at 9 Beaird Drive, Sikeston.

Fewer Fire Deaths In '71

BOSTON (AP) — There were 350 fewer fire- attributed deaths in the United States in 1971 than in the previous year, the National Fire Protection Association reported today.

The association said there were 11,850 deaths due to fire in 1971 and 12,200 in 1970.

The 1971 total was the lowest since 1963 when 11,800 deaths were reported, the association said.

The worst fire tragedy in 1971 occurred at East Haven, Conn., when 28 persons died in the fire following the crash of a Convair 580 airliner, the association reported.

Five Accidents Injure Ten

Five accidents occurred Tuesday on Bootheel highways, resulting in injuries to 10 persons, according to the highway patrol. There were no fatalities.

In one mishap, 12-year- old Howard Leslie Lynn of Chaffee Route One suffered a fractured leg and was taken to Chaffee General Hospital after being struck by a car driven by Jackson Stewart, 45, of Benton.

According to the patrol, the Lynn boy ran in front of the car. The accident occurred at 12:30 p.m. on Route A in Chaffee. Stewart is a Scott County deputy sheriff.

At 2:20 p.m. an accident occurredone half mile south of Ironton on Highway 21 when James A. Hughes, 79, of Arcadia was struck in the rear of his station wagon by a car driven by William Frank Staley, 54, of Berkeley.

Hughes was attempting to make a left turn when Staley attempted to pass and struck him. Hughes' nose was cut and Edith Hughes received a neck injury. Staley received cuts on the knees.

Another accident occurred on Highway 25 near Senath at 6:20 p.m. when a car driven by Fred William Wallace, 48, attempted to pass a car driven by Ray B. Williams, 51, of Senath.

Williams failed to yield right of way and pulled into the path of Wallace who then struck Williams roadside.

Injured in the Wallace car wer Reba Wallace, 41, and Sheila Wallace, 20, who were taken to Dunklin County Memorial Hospital in Kennett for treatment of cuts and bruises.

J. C. Rosson, 26, of Doniphan was injured at 7:30 a.m. when the brakes on his car failed as he started down a hill on a gravel road 14 miles north of Doniphan. The car hit an embankment and overturned. Rosson was taken to the Ripley County Hospital.

Bonnie A. Hyde, 37, of Senath was injured at 12:05 a.m. on Highway 25 one mile north of Senath. Mrs. Hyde was traveling at a high rate of speed when she attempted to make a left turn and ran off the road, struck an embankment and overturned. She was taken to Dunklin County Memorial Hospital where she was treated for cuts and bruises.

C. Brice Ratchford, president of the University of Missouri, says the emergency funds are the most vital since he has been with the university.

The $3.5 million includes $1.6 million to enable the university to rescind student fee increases of $20 for in-state students and $40 for students from other states.

Another important funding matter is the public defender system, which calls for public defenders in all counties over 75,000 in population, except Greene.

The state Supreme Court ruled that as of Sept. 1 it would no longer require attorneys to represent indigent defendants in felony cases without a fee. The U.S. Supreme Court has said that anyone facing jail sentences, even from a misdemeanor, must be given a lawyer.

The state has more than 200 courts. For years, young lawyers have represented indigents for nothing in misdemeanor cases.

Bar associationsin the Kansas City and Cape Girardeau areas have threatened to instruct lawyers not to represent indigents unless they re assured of payment.

The new state law authorizes Circuit Judges to set reasonable fees for attorneys assigned to represent indigents in counties without public defendjrs, with the state paying the bill.

Unless the public defender law is funded, say lawyers in the Attorney General's office, defendants in some cases might go free without a trial.

The legislature raised the per-patient state funds for nursing homes but provided no money for the payments.

The increased rates are being paid from federal funds granted the state welfare division, but themoney, about $7 million, must be paid back next year. Intestimony before the legislative fiscal affairs committee, Welfare Director N. Proctor Carter said the appropriation could be made in the next general session starting in December.

Legislators also failed to finance a law authorizing grants up to $900 a year for needy students in either public or private colleges.

The attorney general has been asked by Rep. Vic Downing, D-Bragg City, for an opinion on the law's constitutionality. But meanwhile, it remains a law — unfunded.

Other than the vetoes, legislators can consider only the items the governor puts before them. He could offer some new bills, but is not expected to.

The Senate minority leader, Richard Webster, a Republican fromCarthage, says he thinks the governor will attempt to gain approval for some key posts. Webster said he would oppose "hamstringing" the new governor, wmo should be allowed to make his own appointments.

Webster says he will not support the University of Missouri appropriation unless the state colleges' request is considred.

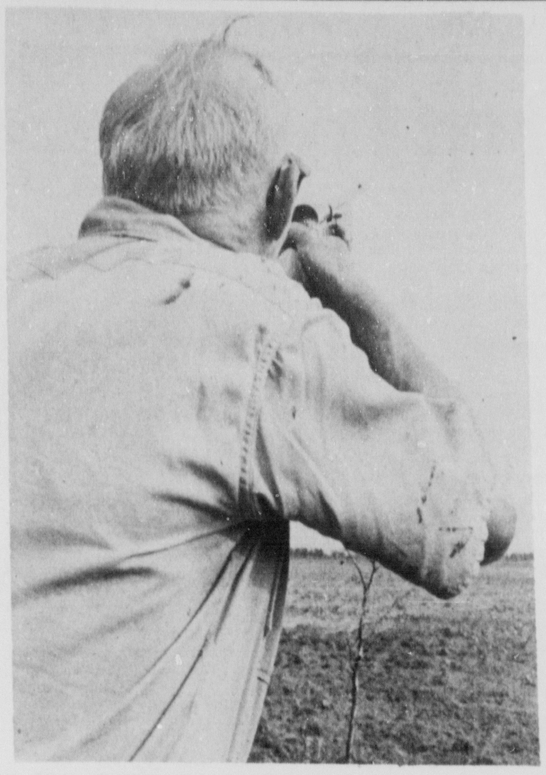
Olympic Shooting Candidate



Wright Sights Birds...

By RON JAYNES

If the Olympic games included the sport of dove shooting, Denver Wright of Ladue would be one of the leading candidates for the United States team.

Wright, the founder of Wright Leather Specialty Company and Vi-Tronics Inc., showed signs of a marksman on opening day of the Missouri dove season when he bagged 10 birds in 16 shots while hunting near Blodgett.

The 83-year- old multi-millionaire amazed this writer with his opening shot when he picked off one of the darting, diving, feathered fellows from a distance of 200 yards, and was well on his way toward the daily limit of 10 birds.

Wright's visit to the Bootheel marked the 29th straight year that he has hunted doves in Southeast Missouri.

A world-renowed big game hunter, Wright cut short a hunting trip to Africa late in August to make his return trip to what he calls ... "The Capital of Dove Shooting sport in the United States."

To watch the remarkable accuracy of this man, who was born Oct. 20, 1889 in Kentucky, one would think he is nearer the 50-year- old mark rather than being 17 years away from 100.

A Native Southeast Missourian, the friendly, good natured hunter is constantly kidded by his many friends for the hunting clothes he wears. It seems like the gentleman has caught his clothing on some fences and has repaired them, instead of .. as he puts it ... "breaking in a new pair."

The St. Louis Globe Democrat wrote ... "He is one of the most experienced hunters in the world," while the Sunday Mirro said ... "Denver M. Wright is the embodiment of that American Dream you hear so much about," and the Hong Kong South China Post - Herald noted ... "Denver M. Wright has traveled around the world at least four times, during which he has collected over 200 trophies."

An avid outdoorsman, Wright noted that he "loved the outdoors and liked to walk," a trait he built in his boyhood days near Morley, where he was raised.

"I began hunting with a sling shot," Wright proudly noted as he relaxed after his opening hunt in preparation for an evening outing.

Wright is proud of his trophies, but seems elated when his family is mentioned. "I've been married for 63 years," he proudly notes, "and I have six sons, three daughters, 28 grandchildren and 18 great-grandchildren."

After spending his boyhood days in Southeast Missouri, Wright became a shoecutter at Cape Girardeau and began his drive toward prominence. After a switch to St. Louis where he served as a news-butch on a train, he headed south to Atlanta where his business interprises started.

Wright served many years on the board of education in Brentwood and was extremely active in civic affairs. He has been retired for over a quarter of a century, but has remained a busy man.

He has traveled to every part of the globe, as a pilot, hunter and photographer. He has been at home with the people of the most remote sections of the world.

It was until only recently that Wright had piloted his own plane and changed only because of insurance problems.

On most all of his hunting expeditions, he takes movies and has shown them worldwide.

With all of his experiences with hunting, Wright marvels at the situation that faces the Southeast Missouri dove hunter ... "Every year there is more hunters and every year there are more birds ... It's just great."

Memorial Service For Slain Israelis

MUNICH (AP) — Athletes from the competing nations clogged the Olympic Stadium today in a memorial service for slain members of the Israeli team as the fate of the 20th Summer Games hung in the balance.

An Olympic source said the Games "will probably go on" but that the International Olympic Committee would not make a definite decision until after the memorial service.

The Games had continued Tuesday even as Arab terrorists held the Israelis hostage at their Olympic Village compound. The grim story had its bloody ending written at a secluded airport 15 hours later in a shootout between the terrorists and West German authorities.

Only a few events were held Tuesday before the Games were officially suspended by the International Olympic Committee. In one of them, American heavyweight boxer Duane Bobick was eliminated by Cuba's Teofilo Stevenson. Stevenson decked Bobick twice before the fight was halted in the third round by an East German referee.

"I had a bad day," Duane Bobick understated after being soundly thrashed by Cuban Teofilo Stevenson. It was, more to the point, a bad day for the spirit of these 20th Summer Olympic Games.

Bobick, the heavyweight from Bowlus, Minn., who had been pegged by former world heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali as "the latest Great White Hope," was no match for the Cuban buzzsaw he had beaten in last year's Pan-American Games.

In one of the few events conducted Tuesday before compeition was suspended because of the Arab guerrilla assault on the Israeli team in the Olympic Village, Stevenson decked Bobick twice and won when the bout was halted in the third round by the East German referee.

By the time Bobick had climbed through the ropes and into the ring, the Arab guerrillas had climbed over a fence and into the Olympic Village and had attacked the Israeli Olympic team, killing two members of the delegation.

It was some 15 hours before that ordeal came to a tragic end. According to West German government officials, all nine Israeli hostages were dead and, in a running gun battle between the Arabs and police, several of the guerrillas were slain along with at least one policeman.

Bobick knew of the guerrilla attack but called it only a slight distraction, and refused to use it as an excuse for his loss, the first time an American heavyweight had been eliminated in Olympic boxing since Percy Price Jr., was beaten in a 1960 Games preliminary.

"Stevenson was in a lot better condition," Bobick said. "He was a better fighter. Last time I faced him, all he had was a jab."

Bobick's left eye had been completely closed and his face reddened and puffed by the tattooing. "I felt a little tense and a little slow," Bobick said after failing to follow in the steps of Joe Frazier and George Foreman, who had won the gold medals in the 1964 and 1968 Games.

It was shortly after Bobick's bout that Avery Brundage, retiring president of the Olympic International Committee, called a temporary suspension to all competition as a result of the guerrilla attack.

It wreaked havoc with the schedule, forcing a one-day postponement in many events, one of them the basketball semifinals. The unbeaten U.S. team's game against Italy and undefeated Russia's contest against Cuba were rescheduled for Thursday night.

In Tuesday's only game, Australia edged West Germany 7069. The Philippines was given credit for a 2-0 victory when Egypt, returning home in the wake of the Arab attack, forfeited its game.

Early Greco-Roman wrestling matches, conducted before the suspension, were a disaster for the United States, which lost five bouts.

MUNICH (AP) — The flame kept burning.

Perched silently above cold, empty Olympic Stadium, it blazed in the name of international sport. Of peace. And brotherhood.

Suddenly, there was added meaning.

Olympians who had marched proudly, faces asmile into the magnificent athletic arena 10 days before were now dead, innocent victims of man's political differences.

The boxscore, this particular one, was ghastly:

—11 Israeli teammates murdered.

—1 Munich policeman slain at his work.

—4 Arab terrorists dead amid their chosen cause.

The flame burned somehow in a new color.

It wasn't the same as the glorious torch which lit the paths of Jesse Owens, Paavo Nurmi and—in latter days—Mark Spitz.

In four years, when an honored Canadian runner jogs triumphantly into an as yet unconstructed Montreal Stadium for the Olympics of 1976, the memories of the terror of Munich will live on.

It will live at the 1980 games. And in 1984, and 1988. As long as the Olympians run, jump and play, victims claimed in this Bavarian wonderland will be remembered.

Germany was trying hard to live down the snub of black hero Owens at the Nazi Olympics of 1936. The ghost of Hitler was to fade in a peaceful cloud.

Proud Germans called these the "Gemutlich Games." It means friendly, warm, comfortable.

Then came Tuesday.

Pullout Rumored

MUNICH (AP) — The chief of the Egyptian delegation to the Olympic Games today denied reports that his team was pulling out of the Olympic Games.

"We came here to compete in the Olympic Games and we plan to continue doing so," said Abdel Aziz Shafei.

Shafei said he did not know whether his team would attend memorial services scheduled this morning for 11 Israelis and a West German policeman murdered by Arab guerrillas.

"It depends on the situation," he said.

Reports of an Egyptian pullout circulated after an Egyptian basketball team Tuesday failed to show up for a game with the Philippines.

A team official said the Egyptians feared for their lives, expecting angry reaction by spectators indirectly blaming them for responsibility in the Israeli deaths.

But Egyptian wrestlers did compete Tuesday.

A Lebanese team official said, "Naturally, we are very sorry about the tragedy. It will be remembered for years to come.

"But we came here under the Olympic banner and we can not talk politics."

Meanwhile, five armed guards were posted around Building 31, the Olympic home of the Israeli Olympic team, where the terrorists held the hostages all day Tuesday and into the early hours today.

There was no noticeable difference in the wake-up hours in the Village, where some 10,000 Olympians spent the night. Athletes and officials were going quietly to breakfast.

There was almost no foot traffic in and out of the main gates. German police with pistols were posted every few feet around the perimeter of the Village.

Birds Drop To Fourth

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Baltimore Orioles are the team to beat in the American League East. You can tell because everyone keeps beating them.

Tuesday night it was the New York Yankees' turn with a 7-6 victory that saddled the Orioles with their fourth defeat in five games and dropped them from a first-place tie down to fourth, which is the equivalent of a disaster area for the three-time AL champs.

Detroit took over sole possession of the top spot with a 4-2 triumph over Cleveland. The Tigers are one-half game and three percentage points ahead of the Boston Red Sox, who rallied to beat Milwaukee 5-3. The Yankees, also one-half game out, trail Boston by one point while Baltimore is one full game and seven points behind the Tigers.

Elsewhere, the Chicago White Sox set up a crucial two-game series against front-running Oakland by beating Minnesota 5-2 while the A's were idle. In the only other game, Kansas City whipped Texas 7-2.

National League scores: Los Angeles 9, Cincinnati 4; Atlanta 5, Houston 3; Chicago 3, New York 0; St. Louis 5, Montreal 3; San Francisco 4, San Diego 3 in 11 innings.

The contenders all play one another over the next few days—Detroit at Baltimore and New York at Boston for three games apiece in the East and Oakland at Chicago for a pair in the West.

The Yankees erupted for five runs against old nemesis Dave McNally in the first inning and were never headed, although the Orioles rallied for three runs in the ninth against Sparky Lyle.

The Yankees got two decisive runs in the fifth on doubles by Felipe Alou and Rich McKinney and an RBI single by winning pitcher Lindy McDaniel. Boog Powell accounted for three Oriole runs with a single and two doubles.

Detroit skipper Billy Martin, undergoing some daily postgame fencing with newsmen, said it was "easier to play in a tight race than to answer some of these questions."

It wasn't easy against Cleveland. The Tigers trailed 2-1 until the fifth, when Mickey Stanley walked, Aurelio Rodriguez doubled and Eddie Brinkman laced a two-run single. Frank Duffy homered for one of six Cleveland hits off Joe Coleman, who promptly said, "I think Baltimore is the team to beat."

The Red Sox also came from behind to beat Milwaukee. They trailed 3-1 against Skip Lockwood until the eighth when Tommy Harper beat out a bunt, Carl Yastrzemski singled and Reggie Smith homered. Ben Oglivie then doubled home an insurance run.

The White Sox broke a skid that saw them lose six of seven by downing the Twins despite Harmon Killebrew's 537th career homer for Minnesota, moving him ahead of Mickey Mantle into fourth place on the all-time list.

Chicago snapped a 2-2 tie with three runs in the seventh, including pinch hitter Tony Muser's tie-breaking double and a triple by Pat Kelly.

"We're back on the track," said Manager Chuck Tanner. "We're only three games behind. It should be a very interesting series against Oakland."

Injured External Rotator

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tom Seaver, who has had a sore arm, bad back and muscle pulls in both legs, has come up with a new twist: an injured external rotator.

"I don't think I'll be a cripple for the rest of my life, though," said the New York Mets righthander after departing midway through Tuesday night's 3-0 loss to the Chicago Cubs.

Seaver hurt himself while throwing a curve ball to Don Kessinger in the fifth inning and a doctor later diagnosed the injury as an "injured external rotator," which is a muscle in his buttock.

"I thought I had a muscle spasm in my left buttock," said New York's No. 1 pitcher. "I thought it was a spasm that would go away, but it didn't."

Despite the pain, Seaver stayed in to pitch to Rick Monday and was hurt further when the Chicago center fielder hit a home run.

"If the muscle is just a pull, then he'll probably miss one or two starts," said a team spokesman. "If it's torn, however, he'll no doubt be out the rest of the season."

In other games around the National League, the Los Angeles Dodgers pounded the Cincinnati Reds 9-4; the Atlanta Braves tripped the Houston Astros 5-3; the St. Louis Cardinals turned back the Montreal Expos 5-3 and the San Diego Padres nipped the San Francisco Giants 4-3 in 11 innings.

American League results: Chicago 5, Minnesota 2; New York 7, Baltimore 6; Boston 5, Milwaukee 3; Kansas City 7, Texas 2 and Detroit 4, Cleveland 2.

Monday was pleasantly surprised when Seaver's pitch came in with less velocity than usual. He spanked it over the left center field wall to break a scoreless tie and sent Rick Reuschel on his way to his seventh victory this year.

Reuschel gave the Mets but three hits and never allowed more than one baserunner in any inning.

Don Sutton, backed by a 14-hit attack that included a two-run homer by Billy Grabarkewitz and a solo job by Frank Robinson, pitched Los Angeles over Cincinnati. Sutton scattered nine hits, one of them a homer by Pete Rose, and struck out 10 Reds en route to his 15th victory in 24 decisions.

Atlanta's Pat Jarvis continued his mastery over Houston, beating the Astros for the 18th time in 22 lifetime decisions. The Braves bombed five Houston pitchers for 16 hits, including a two-run homer by Oscar Brown in the second inning.

Jose Cruz got three hits and brought home the go-ahead run with a bases-loaded walk in the seventh inning to lead St. Louis over Montreal. Cruz, batting only .220 at game time, hammered a triple and two singles and scored a run before drawing the game-winning walk off Mike Marshall.

Tito Fuentes knocked in the game-winning run with a single in the 11th inning to pull San Francisco over San Diego.

South Outlook

A poll by The Daily Standard sports staff found that three teams are generally considered as the choice of the coaches to win SeMo Conference Southern Division football championship this season.

Caruthersville outpointed Portageville and Dexter for the top spot, but Malden drew one vote and if the coaches' feelings are correct ... 1972 will be a rough season in the South.

Team profiles:

CARUTHERSVILLE

Joe Cagle, an outstanding performer in 1971, will again lead Caruthersville this gridiron season, as the Tigers strive to attain that elusive Southern Conference title.

Cagle, one of the few black quarterbacks in the state, is a thrilling performer for coach Ron Wene. The senior letterman has a fine, accurate arm and possesses the best speed on the team. Despite losing tight end Jereme Maxey, his favorite target, the smallish athlete figures to throw and throw well this year.

Cagle will be protected by the district's largest offensive line. The interior linemen, tackle to tackle, average near the 200-pound mark, very large for prep competition. With this protection, Cagle should have ample time to set up for passes. Coach Wene noted this by saying, "We think we can throw the ball as well as anyone." The line should open large holes as well for Cagle and his setbacks on running plays. In pursuit of their first title in many years, Wene indicated the Tigers would mix the attack as much as possible.

The major problem at Caruthersville is one of depth. "If anyone gets hurt," Wene said, "we are in trouble." "We must avoid injuries."

The biggest contenders for the title? Wene thinks it will be Portageville and Dexter.

"Portageville may be hurt with only 20 - some- odd out," the coach said, "but, Coach Jim McKay does a fine job."

"And, he added, "Dexter has the best established football program in the conference."

Caruthersville figures prominently in the conference race, having its best talent in years. But, with Portageville and Dexter sharing the conference spotlight with the Tigers, they do appear to be a long shot.

CHAFFEE

"We can only go up." After a disastrous 0-9 season in 1971, the Chaffee Red Devils will be trying to bounce all the way back in 1971.

"We have a great bunch of guys," Coach Terry Glenzy said. A good group showed up the first day and 42 players remain as Glenzy tries first to reinstall the winning attitude in his players. Margins in 1971 were as large as 72 points in one game, but last year's team was young and will be out to erase all of last season's bad memories.

The size at Chaffee is adequate, with the offensive line averaging near 175 pounds per man. The defense is slightly larger, which leaves no deficiencies in weight as the Devils attempt the comeback.

The Chaffee offense will feature a running game from the I-formation. Leading the rushing offense will be a 170-pound, 6-footer, John Richbourg, a returning starter. Richbourg's fine speed should be complemented by David Hart, a 5-8, 150-pounder. A third important returnee is believed to be the biggest lineman in the district. He is 6-foot-8, 235 - pound Scott Thomas. Thomas, in addition to being a very fine offensive and defensive tackle, punted for an amazing 45-yard average last year, including one boot of 67 yards.

Chaffee could rate a darkhorse shot at the title. Several coaches mentioned the Red Devils as a side thought, but they are actually given little chance to finish in the top three. It is not as much the lack of Chaffee talent as it is the abundance of opposition talent.

DEXTER

"We lack experience," Coach Clyde Vaughn said.

"We never have had speed," he added.

But the Bearcats once again must be reckoned with in the conference title fight. They have as many returning starters as any team in the district and can boost quality performers at most positions.

A 170- pound average on the offensive line means Dexter will be giving up pounds to most teams they will play this year, but the defensive team has good size, averaging 185 to 190 pounds.

The offense, running from the slot I, will be mixed. John Backfish is the new quarterback, replacing two-year starter David Mathis. "Backfish actually has a much better arm than Mathis," the coach said. "But, he may not know the offense as well."

Some standouts back from last year include 5-10, 190-pound Mark England, a third-year starter who plays both ways. Others are running backs Vic Trammel, Allen Gibson and Allen Brown, as well as Allen McCroy and Tom Millington, a pair of defensive linemen. McCroy is largest man on the squad, checking in at 6-2 and 220 pounds.

"We get our biggest challenge in the second game," Vaughn said, "when we play Portageville."

Others the coach mentioned as contenders are Caruthersville and Hayti.

EAST PRAIRIE

Only four starters return for new Head Coach Tommy Crenshaw at East Prairie, but the first - year man is conceding nothing, feeling he has the horses to field a respectable team.

The ingredients are there for a good unit at East Prairie this year. There is a large offensive line, averaging 190 pounds, to open holes for two fine running backs. Six-foot- one, 190 pound Annise Davis is one of the swiftest runners in the district, having been timed in 4.6 seconds for the 40-yard dash. Davis, before suffering a crippling injury last year, was one of SeMo's finest running backs. Steve Secoy is the second running back for the Eagles this year. Secoy, at 5-10 and 150, can run the 40 in 4.9 seconds, a very respectable time.

A couple of outstanding defensive linemen returning for Crenshaw are Terry Morton and Mark Hurt. The two must anchor the inexperienced line with their savvy.

The biggest problem at East Prairie is depth. Only 24 prospects remain, creating a serious problem if anyone is injured.

The Eagles don't really figure in the title race, but they could have a definite say-so in which team does win it.

MALDEN

Size is the big word at Malden ... size of the squad in numbers and size of the squad in weight. In both categories the Greenwave are hurting.

Twenty-five players remain for Coach Jack Phillips to work with, and the players he has are not very big. The offensive and defensive lines average 155 pounds per man. This means, for example, when Malden plays Caruthersville, the Wave will give up almost 50 pounds per man.

Another ingredient needed for a winning team is experience, and that, too, is missing. "We are hurting so bad for players," Phillips said, "that we are starting nine sophomores against the Kennett team this Friday."

The team does have good speed and will run the ball on offense. Bobby Arnold will lead the running corps. The 160-pound back can run 100 yards in 10.5 seconds and is a shifty back. He will be accompanied in the backfield by 180-pound Keith Hedley. Hedley, too, is a returnee. Nicky Arnold and Terry Norrid will share the quarterbacking duties.

Who will win the conference title? "I think Portageville will blow everyone off the field, "Phillips said.

PORTAGEVILLE

When coach Jim McKay surveys his football team practices, what does he see? Good ballplayers are there, and that is good. There are only 21, and that is not good.

The entire backfield is returning at Portageville, except for quarterback Chris Foster. Randy Williams, Jim Bradfield and Mark Cross will be the backs this season. Another back sure to play a lot is 195-pound reserve Jim Holt. All are good runners with good speed.

The offensive line is slightly on the small side. The starters will average 170 pounds per man on offense, but the defense will be more than big enough at 190 pounds per man, and all are tried veterans.

Returning linemen include Gerald Eftink, Johnny Haynes, and Steve Harmon who will provide the nucleus of a team that could have a shot at the 2-A state playoffs by the end of the year. Also returning is end Mark Gervin, the leading pointmaker in the Southern conference last year. Robbie Inman, last year's backup quarterback will head the offense this year. With the many wide margins in Bulldog wins last year. Inman got a lot of playing experience and is not entirely untried.

With the veteran backs returning, Portageville will try to run as much as pass this year, something they didn't do as well last year.

Looking at the conference, McKay noted, "Dexter and Caruthersville are very strong and Hayti must rate as a darkhorse."

However, the consensus of most coaches in the area is, barring injury, Portageville is the team to beat. The title may very well be decided on Sept. 15, when Portageville travels to Dexter and takes on the Bearcats. It should be quite a contest.

Portraits of Frustration

THE LAST COUPLE of years have not exactly been the most successful of Arnold Palmer's golf career and he has noticed it.

Arkansas To Lose

NEW YORK (AP) — Will Nebraska get off on the right foot in its quest for an unprecedented third consecutive national championship?

Is second-ranked Colorado strong enough to overtake the Cornhuskers?

Will Southern California or Arkansas bite the dust in the first match-up of Top Ten teams?

Can Toledo extend its 35-game winning streak, second longest in modern times?

Who'll win out in the American League East?

Oops, wrong sport. The sport we're concerned with is college football, which will start answering some of the first four questions when the 1972 season gets under way this weekend.

We'll try to answer some in advance with the first selections of the year. Last year's regular-season record had enough right answers for a .720 percentage.

Nebraska at UCLA—The Cornhuskers have a 23-game winning streak and an unbeaten string of 32 games and they know that if they want that third national crown UCLA better stand for U-Can't-Lose-Any. Nebraska has dropped both previous meetings with the Bruins, but those games were in 1946 and 1948. This is 1972. Nebraska.

California at Colorado—Hmmm. Did you know that Colorado has never beaten California, losing the only clash in 1968? That should change, too. Colorado.

Southern California at Arkansas—Southern Cal has never beaten Arkansas, if you must know. Of course, Arkansas has never beaten Southern Cal. In fact, this is their first meeting and it should be quite a start. Arkansas hopes to ride Joe Ferguson's strong right arm to the national championship but the suspicion exists in this corner that John McKay may be building a powerhouse out in ... Southern California.

Toledo at Tampa—Wouldn't it be a scintillating debut for Tampa if the Spartans debuted as a major football school by ending Toledo's three-year winning streak? It would, and it says there they will. Tampa.

Duke at Alabama—Alabama came within one game—that 38-6 loss to Nebraska in the Orange Bowl—of the 1971 national title, but it pretty much of a surprise. Bear Bryant was pointing toward 1972 as the year the Crimson Tide rolled in ... Alabama.

Tennessee at Georgia Tech— The Rambling Wreck put up quite a struggle last season before bowing 10-6 and they'd like to make Bill Fulcher a winner in his first game as Tech's fifth coach in history. This is the first TV game of the season. Keep your eye on ... Tennessee.

Florida State at Pitt—Florida State's pass-happy Gary Huff against Pitt's new Wishbone ground game. Pitt is suspect on defense, which means Huff could have a field day. Florida State.

Houston at Rice—Rice almost caught Houston looking ahead to Arizona State a year ago but the Cougars prevailed 23-21. The same situation exists this time ... with the same result. Houston.

Temple at Syracuse—In its second year as a major football school, Temple could be the surprise team in the East. So, for that matter, could ... Syracuse.

Auburn at Mississippi State— What will Auburn do without Pat Sullivan and Terry Beasley? Lose, most likely. Mississippi State.

Pinch Hitters Set Home Run Table

BEST DRESSED TABLES competition in New York was won this year by the Pinch Hitters of the St. Louis Cardinals. The two who set the table are Mrs. Rosanne Delsing, president of the charitable organization, and Mrs. Jean Wilks. They used blue and white checkered cloth, red plates, red loaf pan and red casserole. The table's title: "After the ballgame."

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

A funny thing happened at the Best Dressed Tables competition in New York. It was won by pinch hitters for the St. Louis Cardinals. As a matter of fact it was almost a shut-out.

The Cardinals had been invited by Mermod Jaccard King, a jewelry store in St. Louis, to dress a table in the regional contest. The St. Louis Pinch Hitters, a group formed 10 years ago by the Cardinals and other people connected with baseball, to raise money through the sport for charity, took over the table-setting task. They won the event. After that it was a walk.

Two lively, pretty Pinch Hitters, Rosanne Delsing, its president, and Jean Wilks, were assisted in the table project, they explained, by Mrs. Stan London, wife of the Cardinals' team physician.

One of 16 entries, as each announcement brought them further honors, they chorused "Oh, my . . . no, I can't believe it," and at the end, "It is almost embarrassing." They meant it. It was a rout. In addition to the $1,000 first prize given to them for charitable use by Gorham, sponsors of the event, they won six of the 11 individual prizes, silver pitcher, bowls, platters, given by magazines — American Home, House Beautiful, House and Garden, Modern Bride, McCalls, Town and Country. More than 150 editors judged the main event.

Their winning, friendly looking table wore a light-blue and white checkered cloth over a white undercloth, red plates with clear edges, clear crystal, blue napkins, chunky red candlesticks and English Tipt silverware. A red enameled loaf pan held bread and a great big enameled red casserole held red, white and blue flowers with three little Cardinals perched atop baby's breath. The bird motif and the "after the ballgame . . ." title of the table were the only clues to the baseball tie-in. The ladies resisted the obvious — baseballs, pennant flags, replicas of baseball diamonds. They might have used Stan Musial's trophies which were offered by his wife. "But we were afraid to risk borrowing them," explained Rosanne, whose husband Jim had been a Cardinal. After Chicago and Kansas City, he gave up playing the game to spend more time with his wife and five children.

Pinch Hitters has raised $90,000 for retarded children in 10 years, most of it by holding Ball-B-Ques. Jean and Rosanne explained. The fund-raising event includes ballgame, cocktails, buffet and a fashion show with the Cardinals' wives modeling.

Their winning table was typical of a new look in table decor, a kind of elegance that combines naturalness with good taste. In commenting on this 12th annual event, Raymond Artabasy, a Gorham vice president, and originator of the Best Dressed Tables competition, summed up the look when he mentioned that this year's tables seemed "to talk" in creative expressions that seemed to say "Welcome," "come again." Friendliness. It is what entertaining is all about. Or should be.

It was evident in many simple settings:

. . . The large cylindrical-shape glass bowl filled with layers of colorful beans, dried corn, sunflower seeds, surrounded by dried mushrooms, onions, shafts of wheat, the centerpiece on a hand tie-dyed beige and brown cloth in the entry of second place winner, Mrs. Robert Baker of McMurray, Pa.

. . . In the china, placemats, napkin rings, salts, peppers and even the table and floor-length tailored cloth all in square shapes in the third place winning entry, "Square Meal" of Mrs. James Palazzola and Mrs. Douglas Bitson of Grand Rapids.

. . . The wooden look of a Honolulu table by Mrs. Edward Fugle: plates, napkin rings and breadboard of wood with brownish stoneware coffee service and a basket of beautifully polished vegetables set on an off-white burlap cloth.

. . . A paper table by Mrs. Carl Rubin and Mrs. Eugene Greenwald of Cincinnati. A black and white peace motif runner was stretched across red floor-length paper. Paper plates and cups were black with white bamboo motif. Red and black casseroles . . . a centerpiece of poppies and leaves . . . silver goblets really set this table off.

. . . A tablecloth with a vote-vote design in red, white and blue, with straw hats and vote hatbands, stuffed elephant and donkey, provided an election day theme by three Milwaukee women.

. . . Rosemary for remembrance, a porcelain figure of Hamlet, a theater program, sparkling goblets with La Scala flatware was a romantic supper table by Mrs. James Sousoulas of Memphis.

. . . A handmade Tiffany-style shade set the pattern for Mrs. Michael Miller and Mrs. James Moses of Denver. The white felt tablecloth had cutouts backed with colored plastic to resemble those colors in the shade.

The parade will feature floats and 10 area high school bands. Tuesday night the free grandstand entertainment will be Stax Records' newest singing star, soul singer Veda Brown, with the nationally famous Bill Black Combo.

On Wednesday night, Sept. 13, the free grandstand attraction will be the Vicky LaVonne and the Mod Countrymen.

Sept. 14 the grandstand will feature TV star and singer Pat Karr and the Four Friends. Pat Karr, one of the top singers on the Memphis music scene, will sing all top 40 hits.

Sept. 15, for the first time, the Delta Fair will present at 7 p.m. a tractor pulling contest featuring $1,000 worth of prize money.

Sept. 16 the Delta Fair will bring back the show that broke all attendance records--George Klein and his Channel 13 Dance Party, featuring Klein, the six WHB Quities, a new nine piece rock group called Helicopter and Decca singing star Sherry Grooms. $100 cash will also be given away each night.

KNOB NOSTER--Major Darrell G. Musgraves, son of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Musgraves of Advance, has been recognized for helping his Strategic Air Command (SAC) wing earn the U.S. Air Force Outstanding Unit Award.

Major Musgraves is a missile operations officer with the 351st Strategic Missile Wing at Whiteman AFB, Mo. The wing received the award for exceptionally meritorious service from July 1969 through June 1971.

The 351st was cited for overall mission performance and effectiveness during the two-year award period. The wing was recognized for 10 years of accident-free operations, for winning top honors as the best missile wing in SAC for 1971, for capturing the coveted Blanchard Trophy in the 1971 Missile Combat Competition and for scoring high on operational readiness inspections.

He will wear a distinctive service ribbon as a permanent decoration to mark his affiliation with the unit.

Major Musgraves, a 1955 graduate of Advance Consolidated High School, attended the University of Missouri at Rolla and received his B.G.S. degree in 1971 from the University of Nebraska at Omaha.

The major, a 15 year Air Force veteran, was commissioned in 1960 upon completion of Officer Candidate School. His wife, Barbara, is the daughter of Guy D. Clark of Advance.

Coffee Corner by Cherie

It really doesn't take a lot to make me happy or give me pleasure; really, if I could only have a few of the simple things in life going for me how contented I could become and how joyous life would be for example:

the boys getting to school in the mornings with their lunches and their last night's homework in their hot little fists instead of left on the kitchen table at home —

the dog learning what grass is for —

plastic thread that doesn't come out of the hems of all your new clothes as soon as they've been laundered once —

a corkscrew that works —

beds that are made in the morning by hands other than your own —

an occasional good movie — a movie you could send the kids to see on Saturday afternoon —

a bank balance that balanced —

Appliances that could be counted on to continue working even after the warranty had expired on them —

a phone bill that I wouldn't have to hide from Charles —

groceries that would meet the budget —

a garden with no weeds and, or grass that never needed mowing —

children playing quietly — (and of just such thoughts are dreams made of.)

Malden Increases Fees

MALDEN — An ordinance revising the annual privilege license tax for business and professional firms was approved Monday night by the City Council. The ordinance increases the amount of tax charged to do business in Malden and includes several new categories.

Almost all retail firms will be taxed on their annual gross sales. Other businesses and professions will be charged a flat fee.

Here is the breakdown on the gross sales license tax.

On less than $20,000 gross sales $25 per year. (unchanged)

$20,000 to $50,000 gross sales $50 per year. ($20 increase).

$50,000 to $75,000 gross sales $75 per year. ($33 increase).

$75,000 to $100,000 gross sales $100 per year. ($46 increase).

$100,000 to $150,000 gross sales $150 per year. ($75 increase).

Over $150,000 gross sales $200 per year ($110 increase).

$25 PER YEAR

Barber shops, beauty parlors, beauty schools, dray license, electricians, miniature golf links, painting contractors, plastering contractors, plumbers, shoe shops, skating rinks and undertakers.

$50 PER YEAR

Architects, artists, auctioneers, billiard and pool halls (plus $5 per table over four tables), brokers, cleaners and pressers, collection agencies, express companies, exterminators of termites and rodents, Insurance agents, loan agents, insurance and loan agents (per business, plus $5 for each agent, representative or solicitor over one), laundries and agencies, loan agents, loan companies, manufacturers having less than five employees, nursery stock agents, photographers, real estate agents, loan agents and real estate and loan agents (per business, plus $10 for each agent, representative or salesman over one who is associated or connected with such business), sewing machine agents, taxicabs, tenpin alleys, bowling alleys and similar enterprises (plus $5 for each alley over four).

$100 PER YEAR

Building contractors, freight agencies; horse and cattle dealers, stockyards, sales or sales barns, barns used for purpose of selling horses, cattle or other livestock; insurance companies; manufacturers having from 5 to 25 employees; pawnbrokers, street contractors and paving contractors.

$200 PER YEAR

Banks; manufacturers having 50 to 150 employees.

OTHERS

Canvassers, house-to-house, including magazine salesmen, $10 per day; carnivals and street fairs, $300 per week; circuses $100 per day; fortune tellers $100 per day; Fortune tellers $100 per day; hawkers and peddlers $5 per day or $30 per year; hotels, tourist courts and motels, $5 per room per year; telephone companies $10,000 per year.

All license fees are due October 1 and become delinquent and subject to a $10 penalty October 15.

Mail Box

In the 1950's I made a check to see what was bothering both me and my business and from results decided one of the main reasons for my problems was the philosophy and actions of our government. To remedy this I came up with 24 suggestions.

In 1964 these 24 ideas were expanded to 36. As I believe they are of interest to many people the ideas have been reprinted and you will find a copy attached. After checking and reading them, if you also have problems do you believe they might make a good New Year's resolution to get members of government to adopt and perhaps both of us will have less problems in 1972, phases or no phases. If you agree, perhaps you will see that these not only get some publicity but help to get them adopted.

John Frier

To the President, Vice President, U. S. Senators and Members of the House of Representatives

Perhaps this is the opportune time to review, not only our philosophy of what is the proper role of government, but also to check previously enacted legislation as well as that which will presently be proposed. It may appear, in the past, most legislation has been enacted for the special benefit of small groups and at the expense of the people as a whole.

With that in mind, the following suggestions are made to remedy the situation.

I. Government spending and waste to be reduced, so we be spared present excessive taxation.

II. Foreign "ADE" be limited to friendly countries where it does US good, then not squandered.

III. Defense contractors give us full value on items they make for our defense.

IV. Postoffice give better service than it does and which now costs more than ever.

V. All government employees give an honest days work for pay they receive.

VI. Fewer dollars and more sense be put in Farm Program.

VII. Federal government not enter educational or medical field under any guise whatsever.

VIII. Washington should not enter Urban Renewal, Transit and other purely local problems.

IX. Persuasive positive, rather than apologetic negative attitude, be used in foreign dealings.

X. Subversives, inepts, incompetents and unnecessary employees to be removed.

XI. Conflict of interest law be enacted applying same penalties to government officials or employees who offer to grant or withhold favors to influence congressional voting that would be applied to ordinary civilians under similar circumstances.

XII. The Constitution be amended to have Supreme Court and other officials now appointed for life be reconfirmed by Senate, four and ten years after first appointment. Secret ballot and 60% negative vote required to retire.

XIII. Money spent for defense be used for that purpose and not to further ideological sociological or regional programs.

XIV. To reduce costs by awarding all government contracts on competitive basis. That an incentive rather than a penalty be offered by repealing Walsh- Healey, Davis- Bacon Acts and prevailing wage laws, and taking default clause out of General Supply contract.

XV. All able bodied persons drawing unemployment, "ADE", welfare and other money for work not done, be required to put in equivalent time on projects benefitting the community.

XVI. That persuasion replace coercion, in labor problems, by outlawing the picket line.

XVII. All Governors make a determined effort to have returned to the States, rights originally granted by the Constitution; that they try to eliminate so- called matching funds, relying on State's own resources to solve its problems; that Federal taxes be reduced so states willhave more revenue; and that States tax money is spent both wisely and frugally.

XVIII. Before any law is passed spending money, determination be made where those paying for it, will in turn get the money.

XIX. Inheritance taxes be reduced so it is possible for owners to pass on a business intact and not be forced to sell, liquidate, merge or turn over assets to foundation or fund in order to preserve the business.

XX. Upon enactment of above, life of Foundation or Trust for charitable, educational and similar purposes be limited to 15 years and those for an individual to 5 years after death of beneficiary.

XXI. Clarification as to extent rulings of boards, commissions and executive orders make the "law of the land".

XXII. Government urge increased productivity be translated into lower prices, rather than higher wages.

XXIII. Cities reduce their problems by making it less attractive for the shiftless to live there.

XXIV. The government act solely as an umpire and not as a participant.

XXV. To provide jobs for the dropouts and all poorly educated youths, the minimum wage law be not applied to those under 21 years of age.

XXVI. The 16th Amendment be repealed, and unless section XII above is also acted upon favorably, the 14th Amendment also be repealed.

XXVII. Citizens be given the right of initiative and referendum in national affairs.

XXVIII. A citizen to be eligible to run for the US Senate, must, in addition to the previous requirements, be, for at least four years, a voting resident of the state he wishes to represent.

XXVIV. The election for office of President and Vice President of the U.S. be held at a time separate from any other election, either state or national.

XXX. That terms of Congressmen be changed to four years and election held in even years not divisible by four.

XXXI. We might get a better class of officeholders if voting a straight ticket were prohibited and each candidate voted on individually.

XXXII. That as long as income and withholding tax continue, information be taken from the quarterly report filed by each employer (Form 941) but the amount due be both billed and collected by IRS.

XXXIII. Until income tax is repealed, agents of IRS be prohibited from violating both IV, V, & IX rights of the taxpayer in wantonly checking bank records without a court order; and then having to state specifically what is the information they are looking for, and not be given a blanket search warrant. In the meantime, banks at least have the common decency to notify their depositor of fact his records are being checked.

XXXIV. Right to a trial by jury be reaffirmed, even in so-called cases of administrative laws.

XXXV. It be made possible to reconvene congress by signature of 25% of members of both Senate and House.

XXXVI. That means be devised to place an eternal flame over the last resting place of Patrick Henry, each signer of the Declaration of Independence, Hamilton, Jefferson, Lincoln and our other illustrious forebearers without whose fortitude and effort there would today be no U.S.A.

14 Pass Driver Tests

PORTAGEVILLE — Operator licenses were authorized for 14 more New Madrid Countians following driver tests given in Portageville, according to Examiners for the highway patrol, who said they also qualified one for a motorcycle operator license and issued seven instruction permits.

Examiners said 33 persons appeared for the state tests and that 11 of them failed; four on the written part and seven on the road portion.

Passing and authorized for Missouri Motor Vehicle Operator licenses were Theresa Hulshof, Frederick A. Phillips, Dennis W. Bland, Rondal K. Mathenia, Pamela A. Bivins, Karla J. Jones, Stephen W. Dawson, James E. O'Connor, Laurel K. Tyler, Jimmy F. Kimball, Michael T. Davidson, Lynn R. Lewis, Betty J. Smith and Elvine C. Blankenship.

Ricky W. Thompson was qualified for a motorcycle operator license.

Instruction permits were issued by the Examiners to Ella L. Stewart, Cynthia E. Gammons Paula D. Noblitt, Charles E. Reed, Bernice Thomas, James E. Nellem and Johnny E. Nimmo, Jr.

Dear Mr. Blanton,

On behalf of the Sikeston Public Schools I wish to thank you for the newspaper article informing the students of our school about the textbook check- out schedule in August.

Your splended cooperation in this matter contributed to the smooth opening of the 1972-73 school year.

Very truly yours,

Sir:

I have resisted for lo these many years the impulse to take pen in hand and impart to the editor — any editor — the pearls of wisdom from my magnificent mind. In recent years, however, while reading your editorial page, I have often been impressed by the high quality of citizenship, and even of statesmanship shining out of this page for the thoughtful reader to ponder. On these occasions I was tempted to write and compliment you on the superb quality of your American Citizenship. But I did not and you may understand why.

Now, however, I have a valid reason for this letter — your invitation today to your readers to comment on the Jack Anderson column. I know the kind of journalist he is, and Drew Pearson was, and I don't need them. I'd rather see your editorials and jokes.

Most sincerely
Carl C. Wilkinson

PSALM OF NIXON

Nixon is my shepard, I shall not want
He leadeth me beside the steel factories
He restoreth my doubts in the Republican Party
He guideth me to the path of unemployment, for the party's sake
He annointest my wages with freezes so that my expenses runneth over my income.

Surely poverty and hard living shall follow
the Republican party
And I shall live in a rental house forever.

Five thousand years later, F. D. R. said,
Lay your shovel down, sit on your ass,
light up a camel, this is the Promised Land.

Today Nixon will tax your shovel,
sell your camel, kick your ass,
and tell you there is no promised land.

P.S. I am glad I am an American
I am glad I am free
But, I wish I were a little doggie
And Nixon was a tree.

Sent in by Mrs. Ray Welborn (79 year old Republican) from her son- in-law, Russell boone of Flint, Mich.

Dear Editor:

Did you know that you have helped guarantee $373,000,000.00 in 40- year "loans" for Foreign Aid? Well, you have, and these "loans" are to be repaid in dollars within 40 years, including a 10-year grace period when no repayment of principal is required. The interest rate on these "loans" is only 2 percent during the 10- year grace period and 3 percent for the final 30 years. We will have to borrow this $373,000,000.00 at about 6 or 7 percent when we or our children are forced to pay off these guarantees, since it is a 1000 to 1 bet these loans will never be repaid!

Also, it is probably only a matter of minor importance that we just gave Bangladesh about $218,070,000.00, of which, for some unknown reason, the impotent United Nations received $35,300,000.00 cash.

Oh well, after all, what.s a few million dollars of your hard earned tax money among politicians!

Sincerely,
C. C. Moseley

Dear Sir:

Having the pleasure of working with First Sergeant Clifton E. Johnson, and Master Sergeant E7 Walter D. Deason, for the period of 3 thru 24 August 1972, I would appreciate the following paragraphs to appear in your newspaper.

Every year, in the summer, the National Guard performs annual training for two weeks. Depending on the type of unit their tasks varv from medical services to being prepared for a national emergency ... like Korea, floods, earthquakes, riots or any state emergency that may arise. But after the National Guard performs their services who is left? Does anyone ever support the National Guard? Certainly, The United States Army Reserve.

1SG Clifton E. Johnson, and MSG Walter D. Deason of the United States Army Reserve have been supporting the National Guard in the following manner. Having a combined total of over 52 years of service between the two individuals, they have provided supportive services to the National Guard since 1956. Each year they process filler personnel (that have a reserve duty obligation) into National Guard units to perform active duty for the summer.

This year while only 200 men processed into Kansas National Guard units, during their tour of duty 1SG Johnson, and MSG Deason, helped process the crux of support for the Kansas units at Camp Guernsey, Wyoming. Enabling the Kansas units to perform their primary mission of artillery training.

1SG Clifton E. Johnson, first entered the service on January 10, 1943, for duty in WW II. Has served in Korea, and is decorated with the Bronze Star for meritorious service in WW II, and numerous other citations.

MSG Walter D. Deason, first entered the service January 24, 1951, for duty in the Korean Conflict. He is decorated with the Presidential Unit Citation for service with the Famous 76th Engineers, part of the Eighth Army, and various other service medals for his outstanding service.

In most instances 1SG Johnson, and MSG Deason have given up their jobs and family for the past 22-30 years to perform this service to the nation. I commend them highly for they are part of the back-bone of this nation. They should be thanked and respected for the services they perform, not only to the National Guard, but to the State of Missouri, and to the United States of America.

Sincerely,

Timothy J. Terriere

Dear Sir:

In regard to Jack Anderson's artical Washington Merry Go Round, I had begun to lose interest before the lie he published on Eagleton. He was finding too much smut from hidden places for it to all be true. Besides it was generally too late to do anybody any good. But some of it was interesting to the enemy.

But when he jumped on to a clean man when he was already down, with that bold face lie that could do no one any good, well that finished him with me and I almost came writing you at the time. I say so far as I am concerned throw the heel out.

SHADOW INSULTED

ISTANBUL (AP) — The moral of this story is to be careful where you walk in Turkey.

An 18-year-old boy in Izmit, western Turkey, took offense when two friends trod on his shadow, considered insulting by Turkish villagers.

Rahmi Sarpay pulled out a pistol and shot one of them four times and the other five. Both are in a serious condition in an Izmit hospital.

Highway Department To Emphasize Primary Road Improvement

JEFFERSON CITY — Missouri's highway program, concentrated on the development and construction of interstate highways in the 60s, will undergo a shift in emphasis in the 70s, according to Lyle MacLaughlin, assistant chief highway engineer, Missouri State Highway Department.

"Missouri's interstate system is now in relatively good shape," MacLaughlin said. "The emphasis of the 70s will be the primary roads. About 60 per cent of the primary roads were built more than 30 years ago and have long been neglected with the result that many of them are inadequate for today.s volumes."

The highway department engineer said that more than one- third of Missouri's road system is now deficient or will be deficient in 10 years at present operating speeds. Other deficiencies in the system include inadequate passing sight distance, deficient shoulder widths, and general inability to provide for the capacity they carry. It is these things the highway department plans to correct.

To assist with this and other highway department projects, the Missouri Legislature approved an increase in the state gas tax from 5-cents to 7 cents during the past session. That increase, which became effective August 13, leaves the state of Texas alone as the only state in the nation with a 5-cent tax, the lowest in the nation. Missouri's tax is still below the national average and the lowest with the exception of Texas, in the U.S.

Missouri's road system, which now covers about 32,000 miles, is the seventh largest highway system in the U.S.

In the decade prior to the 60s, the highway department's focus was on the farm to market roads. In 1952, the State Highway Commission agreed to take over numerous county roads and improve them without cost to the county, if the county furnished the rights of way. The state thus inherited about 12,000 miles of unimproved roads. It guaranteed that in 10 years a state road would pass within two miles of 90 per cent of all rural units. (A rural unit being a church, store, farmhouse, etc.) Eleven years were required to complete the project, but the roads extended to 95 per cent of all rural units.

In the beginning, most of these roads were constructed with a granular surface. As the roads stabilized and usage increased, the highway department took on an oiling project to provide dust- free surfaces to the roads. Now the entire 24,000 mile supplementary system is dust free.

During the construction period, many existing bridges were used as they were due to a lack of funds. Bridge replacement, as a consequence, has accounted for substantial amounts of the department's funds since the program ended.

Now the emphasis in the supplementary system is on the heavier traveled systems which have become obsolete through the years. A priority system is in effect which calls for improvements on these roads as time and money allows.

A Look Behind the Kissinger Scenes

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Dr. Henry Kissinger did not make his quickie trip to Saigon because of a breakthrough at the Paris peace talks on Vietnam.

It can be said with authority this meeting with President Thieu of South Vietnam had been arranged before Kissinger's secret session with Hanoi's Le Duc Tho in Paris. The Kissinger second-day meeting with Thieu, advertised as "unexpected," had also been arranged in advance.

But recently captured documents reveal North Vietnamese commanders in the South have been ordered to make preparations for an early cease-fire. They are to divide their troops into two categories. One group would stay aboveground and available for movement back to whatever cease-fire lines are decided on.

But selected cadre from each unit are to make preparations for going underground, and to stay behind when "all" North Vietnamese troops officially march to the agreed cease-fire areas.

At the same time, men close to the secret Paris talks say the North Vietnamese meeting with Kissinger in Paris have not modified their stiff surrender demands in the slightest. They still insist on a coalition government dominated by Communists, an American-arranged throw-out of Thieu, complete U.S. withdrawal from Indochina and an end to U.S. aid for Saigon.

Mr. Nixon is still holding out against any give-in or face-saving compromise with Hanoi which would amount to giving the Communists what they demand. But this Nixon determination may not last for long.

Kissinger did discuss new possibilities with Thieu in Saigon. Time is running short before election day. Despite the public opinion polls showing him the heavy favorite, Mr. Nixon is nervous about November, remembering past upsets.

Therefore Mr. Nixon has a choice to make. He may decide soon that any sort of a peace is better than no peace at all. He may decide to hold firm with his present course. He may attempt to straddle.

Some men close to the White House believe that what Mr. Nixon does will be determined by Sen. George McGovern's strength over the next month. If the South Dakotan's popularity rises sharply, and the electoral vote of key states seems in doubt, then Mr. Nixon, these men expect, will come up with new proposals more to Hanoi's liking.

The North Vietnamese seem to hold a similar view. Hanoi's representatives abroad have informed associates and Communist leaders in Western Europe, Asia and elsewhere they are convinced Mr. Nixon believes he must have a settlement by October to be absolutely sure of winning the presidential election in November. They have told these contacts in foreign lands they are going to wait Mr. Nixon out — wait for him to surrender to their demands with some face-saving "compromise" formula.

The attitude of the North Vietnamese in the secret Paris sessions with Kissinger tends to confirm these reports. Le Duc Tho and his associates are tougher, more fixed in their attitudes even than in the past, if that is possible.

Interestingly, it is not the cocky, almost sneering attitude of the sessions which followed Kissinger's trip to the Soviet Union. Then, the North Vietnamese were patronizing and offended Kissinger so deeply he found it most difficult to control his anger in private when he returned to the United States. The North Vietnamese are polite and courteous enough in these latest secret talks.

But they are firm, and appear certain they will get their way in the end, or so it seems to some men close to the picture.

He attended Searcy High School and received a E.S. degree in business administration in 1971 at Arkansas State University, Jonesboro.

His wife, Phyllis, lives in Sikeston.

WASHINGTON, D.C. (Ahtnc) Army Lt. Col. James R. Miller, son of Lt. Col. (USA, RET.) and Mrs. William G. Miller, 209 William St., Sikeston, enrolled Aug. 7 in the 10-month graduate-level course in National Security at the industrial college of the Armed Forces, Ft. Lesley J. Mcnair, Washington, D.C.

Senior military officers from all the military services and civilian executives of the Federal Government are selected to attend the college.

The Industrial College of the Armed Forces operated under the Joint Chiefs of Staff and stands at the highest level of the military educational system. The resident course, which emphasizes the management of national resources, is designed to further develop selected military officers and civilian executives for positions of high trust in the National Security Structure.

Col. Miller is scheduled to complete the course in June 1973.

Prior to entering the college he was assistant secretary of the General Staff, Headquarters, U.S. Army Materiel Command, Washington D.C.

He holds the Legion of Merit, the Meritorious Service Medal, two awards of the Bronze Star Medal and four awards of the Army Commendation Medal.

He received his doctorate of business administration from the George Washington University in 1970 and his B.S. degree from the U.S. Military Academy, West Point, N.Y.

He and his wife, Diane, live at 2519 Fowlers Lane, Reston, Va.

CHANGING LIFE OF WILLIAM & MARY

LONDON (AP) — Mary, the mallard duck, apparently decided that 600 eggs was enough. She turned into a drake.

Mary, 15-year-old pet of Alfred Gooch, of Woodbridge, Suffolk, started her sex change by growing bright black, blue and white feathers. Then she produced a black curling tail feather and white collar, like her male companion, William, and stopped laying eggs.

Fischer Early For A Change

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — World chess champion Bobby Fischer made an about face in his usual pattern and showed up early at a reception hosted by President Kristjan Eldjarn.

The Brooklyn chess whiz arrived at the old farmhouse which serves as the Iceland president's residence 10 minutes early Tuesday night in the company of Sademundur Palsson of Iceland.

A friend said Fischer had been greatly excited by the invitation from Eldjarn and had dressed quickly to be on time.

"This is not a chess game," Fischer was quoted as saying. "It's the president of Iceland."

During his match with Boris Spassky, Fischer was consistently late for the start of each game.

Boy Purchases Obsolete Library

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — After a $261 outlay and six truck trips, a Salt Lake City chemical engineer has an instant library — 17,000 outdated, battered, dog-eared books.

As Karl W. Joffs views his plunge into the library world, however, it was too good to pass up.

Joffs, 31, was high bidder this week for a collection the Salt Lake County Library declared obsolete.

"I just wanted to have a library," Joffs said, "and it seemed like a pretty good deal if the bid was accepted."

His literary loot includes 16 sets of encyclopedias and thousands of children's books, novels, nonfiction books and technical volumes. Many are a bit dog-eared. A few have missing covers, traces of jam or chewed pages and most are outdated.

"It may not be the greatest business investment," Joffs said, "but I expect it to change the children's lives. It gives them resources I only dreamed of as a child."

The dream-come-true is now more like a playground to Ryan, 1, Leah, 3, and Karla, 5. They spend as much time climbing over the book stacks as trying to read them, Joffs said. The piles take up half of a two-car garage and all of a basement rumpus room.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Sept. 6, the 250th day of 1972. There are 115 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1620, the Pilgrims sailed on the Mayflower from Plymouth, England, to settle in the New World.

On this date:

In 1899, the United States proposed an Open Door policy to give foreign powers equal trade rights in China.

In 1901, President William McKinley was shot by an anarchist in Buffalo, N.Y. He died eight days later.

In 1909, explorer Robert E. Peary sent word that he had reached the North Pole five months earlier.

In 1914, the first Battle of the Marne began in World War I.

In 1940, in World War II, King Carol II of Romania abdicated as the Germans prepared to occupy his country.

In 1966, Prime Minister Hendrik F. Verwoerd of South Africa was stabbed to death during a Parliament session in Capetown.

Ten years ago: The Soviet Union submitted its own plan for ending Katanga's secession from the Congo, calling on U.N. members to halt all aid to the Katanga rebels.

Five years ago: A strike by the United Automobile Workers halted p4oduction at Ford plants in the United States.
